PERIL TO U. N. BATTLE LINE ENDS

Curbs Placed On Credit Buying As Truman Signs Control Bill

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Tighter credit terms on many items ranging from automobiles to home repairs were ordered today immediately after President signed a bill giving him virtually wartime powers over the nation's economy.

The new curbs on time-payment buying will go into effect September 18, the Federal Reserve Board said.

The White House announcement that Mr. Truman had signed the home-front economic mobilization bill came shortly after 3 p. m. (E.S.T.)

Less than an hour later, the reserve board ordered higher down payments and shorter time limitations for paying off than generally prevail now for a wide variety of installment purchases. Charge accounts and single-payment purchases are not affected.

On automobiles, the new order requires down payments of at least one-third and sets a 21-month limit for completing payment.

The board's control order was the first issued under the new legislation passed by Congress on September 1 giving President Truman broad powers to control prices, wages, credit and strategic materials—at his discretion.

Further belt-tightening steps are expected to be outlined by Mrs. Truman in a nationwide broadcast Saturday night at 9:30 p. m., (E.S.T.)

R. M. Evans, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, told newsmen that the initial consumer credit controls are not intended as a "knockout drop" to installment buying.

He said today's order was designed chiefly as a brake on the recent upsurge of installment purchases in which low credit terms tended to stimulate the war "scare" buying and hoarding.

Overall installment credit has soared to more than $20,000,000,000 since the outbreak of the Korean War on June 25.

Evans said the board is ready to issue even stiffer curbs "if the situation worsens—and we hope it won't."

Workers Free 128 Trapped In Cave-In

Miners Entombed In Scotland Pit

NEW COMNOCK, Scotland, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (INS)—Weary, rescue workers drilled through the last of a 30-foot thick coal seam today and opened an escape vent for 128 Scottish coal miners entombed for 24 hours.

Most of the trapped diggers passed through the breach in the barrier of coal into a neighboring shaft and waited to be brought to the surface where their families had maintained a long vigil of prayers.

The men had been kept alive only by a six-inch air hole in the sludge and slime which threatened to engulf and kill them, 720 feet below the surface.

They had sent cheering messages to the pithead every 15 minutes where their families prayed and joined in the singing of "Nearer My God To Thee."

They also took turns, in groups of five, at hacking away at the wall from the inside.

Their relatives joined in a service led by the Salvation Army at the pithead and expressed their firm faith by singing hymns.

The waiting families drew hope from the cheery messages sent by the miners especially one which said:

"We are all right. We are getting air."

(The London Evening News, in a dispatch from Glasgow, said 13 men are believed trapped deeper in the mine field than the entombed 128 and that, for them, there is "less hope.")

The entombed men could hear their rescuers cutting toward the trap in which they have been held for over 24 hours deep below the surface.

Other rescue workers fought to fill a 300-foot chasm extending from the pit to the surface to prevent further sludge from seeping toward the men.

Haystacks, trees, even trucks, were thrown into the hole to halt the shifting and seepage of the sludge.

Hundreds waited in the bitter driving rain including most of the residents of Burnside Village where one of every four families has a miner among the trapped.

An official of the National Coal Board said King George and Queen Elizabeth, now at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, have asked to be kept informed of developments.

Excise Profits Levy May Kill Tax Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee today warned backers of a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits levy that their tactics might kill the $4,508,000,000 tax increase bill.

He made the statement after Rep. Eberharter (D-Pa), leading the renewed battle for a super levy on big profits, blocked a move to speed final action on the general tax measure.

Eberharter let it be known he will continue his efforts to hold up the tax bill until the House is given an opportunity to vote on a proposal for a 95 per cent excess profits tax. The tax would apply to that part of each corporation's profits which—after a $10,000 exemption—exceeded 1946-49 average earnings.

The sponsors want the levy effective as of last July 1, and Eberharter estimated it would yield about $6,000,000,000 annually at the present rate of corporate earnings. They want the profits levy pinned now to the general tax boosting bill. Eberharter objected today when Doughton sought unanimous consent of the House to send the tax bill to a Senate-House Conference Committee to smooth out the different versions passed by the two Houses.

In a statement to newsmen later, Doughton declared:

"There is no chance to get an excess profits tax in this bill until judgment day. It is just delaying the bill. They might fool around here and get no tax bill at all. The way to deal with an excess profits tax is in a separate bill, after we have had a chance to study how it shall be applied."

Truman Tells Unions Red Threat Serious

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (INS)—President Truman told CIO and AFL leaders tonight that in the fight against communism America faces a very serious situation which will require the unified support of all its citizens.

The President made this statement at a private dinner held jointly by the CIO Political Action Committee and the AFL League for Labor Education, which was the first get-together of its kind.

McCarran's Red Bill Attacked By Douglas

Hits Imaginary Enemy, He Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Senator Douglas (D-Ill) today attacked the McCarran anti-communist bill as "a blunderbuss" firing in so many directions that it might hit "only imaginary enemies."

The Illinois lawmaker spoke out on the fourth day of heated Senate debate on the controversial measure sponsored by Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Senate is scheduled to start voting on the legislation next Tuesday.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday he would refuse to sign the McCarran Bill if Congress sends it to the White House. He has criticized it as ineffective and likely to jeopardize the rights of American citizens.

McCarran promptly retorted that Mr. Truman's implied threat of a veto was "the most colossal mistake I have ever heard of being made by the President."

The 74-year-old Navada lawmaker said a Presidential veto might lead to a republican victory in the November elections.

Although McCarran's bill has strong support in the Senate, Douglas and a small group of Democratic colleagues are seeking to put through a substitute bill by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) which would permit the government to clap communists into interment camps in time of war or national emergency.

The basic feature of McCarran's measure would require the registration of communists. It would also bar reds from federal jobs and from getting passports, stiffen laws dealing with spies and saboteurs, and enable the government to deport alien subversives.

"Burma Surgeon's" Trial Is Ordered

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Burma Supreme Court today ordered Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, 53-year-old American physician, to be tried on charges of aiding and abetting the crime of high treason. The maximum penalty upon conviction is death.

Vets Will Get New Dividend

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Veterans can expect a second insurance dividend on the anniversary dates of their policies in 1951, the Veterans Administration (VA) said today.

But present plans for starting payment on Jan. 1, 1951, may be disrupted, the VA said, if the budget bureau slices away much of the $4,800,000 requested by the VA to cover the administrative expenses of the dividend.

Germany Could Field 10 Units

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Western Germany probably can supply 10 divisions of troops for the defense of Western Europe within a year if and when the Allied powers decide they want German manpower in a West European defense system.

This estimate comes from highly authoritative sources and is understood to be a factor in top level policy conferences going on here in preperation for next week's New York meeting of American, British, and French Foreign Ministers.

Use of German manpower, in the American view, depends primarily on three conditions which have yet to be met. They are:

1. Agreement among Britain, France, the United States and other Atlantic Pact allies that such limited German rearmament is desirable.

2. Creation of a unified command for the defense system of Western Europe which would automatically provide a system to which German military units could be assigned.

3. Development of an adequate supply of arms to equip not only German units but also to carry forward at a vastly increased rate the rearmament of the Atlantic Treaty powers.

The conference here in recent days have involved President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Johnson and John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner in Germany. McCloy publicly gave the key to his thinking on Germany which is said to have support among other top authorities when he said earlier this week that he believes the West Germans should be enabled to defend themselves.

Teacher Writes To Stalin Asking Him To Aid Peace

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 8 (AP)—A Warrensburg school teacher—"unknown except in my own community"—sent a letter to Premier Stalin of Russia today asking him to help "restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people."

The writer, Miss I. F. Johnson, described herself as "a sincere worker for ultimate world peace through the United Nations and the UNESCO" (United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization). She said she sent a copy of the letter to President Truman.

"I have battled against the urge to write this letter for more than a year," she wrote, "but the time has come when I cannot keep silence. Your nation and mine are in the death throes of another war, whatever you may choose to call it.

"Let me plead with you, and our own President, to sit down together with a determination and faith that you can and will stop this murder of innocent people, and with the willingness to make reasonable concessions that will restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people.

"Let's find modern means of settling our grievances against each other, not the century old pattern of war.

"Our nations are the leaders of the world today. Let us prove to the world that we are worthy of that leadership by letting all nations of people make their own decisions as to what they believe. Let us sponsor an honest educational effort to help men and women throughout the world to know what real feedom means. Let's work together for the good of all.

Miss Johnson, a teacher in journalism at Central Missouri State College here, was reluctant to say anything about herself.

Marines Ignore Truman Plea, Vote For Ouster Of Johnson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Marine Corps League turned down a plea from President Truman today and demanded the ouster of Secretary of Defense Johnson on the ground that he has slashed America's defenses to "a dangerously low level."

The organization of ex-leathernecks, winding up its annual convention, defeated however a similar proposal that Secretary of State Acheson be fired.

Mr. Truman appealed only yesterday, in a personal appearance before the convention, for an end to attacks on government officials.

Such attacks really are against the President himself, Mr. Truman told the delegates in a face-to-face follow-up of his apology to the Marines for saying they had a propaganda machine "almost equal to Stalin's."

While the delegates cheered the President's talk they rejected his advice today by blasting Johnson's policies as "shortsighted, inefficient and dictatorial."

Urging that Johnson be replaced by "a competent and far-sighted statesman," the ex-Marines adopted with only one dissenting vote a resolution declaring:

"As a result of the blundering of the Defense Department our troops in Korea have suffered heavy casualties and reverses, and the military and political position of the U. S. has been reduced to a dangerously low level."

Brig. Gen. Robert C. Kilmartin of Washington cast the single no vote. "President Truman asked our support and we ought to give it," Kilmartin argued. He likewise opposed the anti-Acheson resolution, which was readily defeated after many "national unity" pleas from the floor.

The resolution naming Acheson charged too-great softness toward communism. Clay Nixon of Seattle, retiring national commandant, supported the resolution, declaring Acheson "has a lot to account and apologize for."

GOP, Demos Gun At Korea Fight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Democrats and Republicans trained their campaign guns on each other on the foreign policy front today.

The Democratic National Committee said some Republicans are engaged in a "cynical attempt to gain partisan advantage out of the ordeal of our heroic troops in Korea."

The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication, "on the political front," declared a top naval officer was court-martialed when the Battleship Missouri went aground, but nobody was court-martialed "for the absence of proper naval and air support when foreign policy boomeranged in Korea."

Democratic Chairman William Boyle, writing in his party organ, "Capital Comment," said some Republicans have tried to distort the administration's record on foreign policy and added:

"These men are not serving the interests of America or the cause of world peace. It is my firm conviction that they are not even serving their own narrow partisan political interests. x x x"

Schoeppel Will Call Witnesses To Back Charge

Promises Facts Against Chapman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Republican Senator Schoeppel of Kansas today demanded and won the right to call his own witnesses in an attempt to bolster his charges of communist influences in the Interior Department.

Under Democratic fire as a GOP "hatchet man," Schoeppel said he will present documentary evidence next week to support his contentions.

Meanwhile, the Republican National Committee disowned any connection with Schoeppel's broadsides against Secretary of the Interior Chapman and others.

GOP headquarters said in a statement:

"No one at the Republican National Committee knew about the Schoeppel speech or what it contained until the address was made and appeared on the press association wires and in the newspapers."

Schoeppel, a freshman senator, made his accusations in a speech on the Senate floor — and yesterday drew a challenge from Chapman to repeat the charges outside the halls of Congress where he would not be protected against a lawsuit.

Congress members are immune from legal action arising from remarks they make in the Senate or House.

In his testimony yesterday, Chapman told the Senate Interior Committee that Schoeppel's charges were "scandal-mongering and slander." The cabinet member heatedly denied Schoeppel's assertion that he was linked to communist-front groups and had failed to sign loyalty pledges.

Luce Takes Leave

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Henry R. Luce, founder and editor-in-chief of Time, Inc., publications, has been granted a leave of absence for six months to a year, it was announced today.

Allotment Bill For Servicemen Becomes Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A bill granting allowances of $45 to $85 a month to help care for the families of enlisted servicemen became law today with President Truman's signature.

To get such an allowance, an enlisted man will have to allot part of his regular pay to his family. The deduction from his own pay will range from $40 to $80 a month, depending on the man's pay grade.

Thus an army private, who gets $80 a month, would allot $40 to his wife and the government would grant — under the new legislation — $45 more, for a total of $85.

Malik Defeated In Move To Ban Korean Report

May Use Veto To Block Message

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 8 (AP) — Russia lost today a move to eliminate the Korean War from the Security Council's annual report to the United Nations General Assembly.

But she may try to make the demand stick by invoking the veto next week to kill the whole report.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik contended at a closed council meeting that adoption of the report is a substantive matter and, thus, subject to the veto. The other council members disagreed.

The majority was reported determined to send the report along to the assembly, veto or no veto. Diplomatic quarters said there were several ways this could be done. The simplest way, it was pointed out, would be for Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, council president, to send it along with a covering letter saying it had been approved by the majority but vetoed by Russia.

The actual proposal which Russia submitted at today's closed-door session was to eliminate all sections of the report covering decisions between Jan. 13, when the Soviet boycott began, and July 15. The annual report normally runs from mid-July to the next mid-July.

Malik said all actions of the council during the period of the Soviet boycott were illegal and hence have no place in the report. The council ordered United Nations intervention in Korea on June 27—during the Russian boycott. Malik returned to the council Aug. 1, ending the Soviet walk-out.

The vote was 10 to 1, with Malik alone supporting the Soviet proposal. The council holds another closed session next Tuesday to seek final approval of the report.

The Soviet delegate did not say definitely that he will use the veto. He could abstain. But this looked unlikely. He had already told an earlier meeting that he could not vote for any report covering the period when Russia was absent.

If Russia vetoes inclusion of Korea in the Security Council's annual report it will be the first time the veto has been used on the report and the first time, too, that the report is put to a formal vote.

GE, IUE Talks Are Recessed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Federal Mediation of the General Electric strike dispute was recessed tonight until Tuesday in a flurry of dispute and with no visible progress toward settlement.

James B. Carey, chairman of the CIO International Electrical Workers Union (IUE), told reporters he had "accepted" the company's offer as published in full-page advertisements in several cities this week.

Crete's Romantic Couple Cursed By Bride's Father

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 8 (AP) — The angry father of Crete's Juliet confronted her at security police headquarters today for the first time since she was abducted by the scion of a hostile clan and, witnesses said, spurned her plea for reconciliation.

The Juliet, blue-eyed, 20-year-old Tassoula Petracogeorgi, sought George Petracogeorgi's paternal blessing on her marriage to Mustachioed Constantine Kephaloyannis, her jailed Romeo. The two were married 11 days after Constantine carried her off to wild Mount Ida.

Police who viewed the encounter related:

Tassoula told her father: "What's happened has happened. Let bygones be bygones. I want your blessing."

The father replied: "Instead, I give you my curse."

He then stalked from the room. Tassoula fell into near hysterics.

The powerful Petracogeorgi and Kephaloyannis families have been at odds for generations, and the abduction Aug. 20 from a main street of Herakleion, Crete, fanned the smouldering feud.

Tassoula's encounter with her father followed a magistrate's hearing for her. Constantine's brother, Manuel Kephaloyannis, a Populist (Royalist) member of Parliament and the chieftain of his clan, attended the secret proceeding.

The magistrate was to consult with other authorities about the final decision on Constantine — whether he'll be able to start a jail-delayed honeymoon or whether action will be taken on abduction charges. He has been in prison five days.

Counterdrive Halts Menace, General Says

Naktong River Line Made Firm

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—The North Korean reds struck anew at Taegu from two directions today but the commander of the U. S. Eighth Army said the danger of the battle perimeter being smashed had ended.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker said the greatest peril was passed Sept. 3—"my own worst day"—when the reds made big gains toward Masan an Yongsan in the southwest sector. Counterattacks which relieved that situation an firmly established the Naktong River line ended the menace, the General added.

Today U. S. First Cavalry Division troops "contained" a communist attack eight miles northwest of Taegu, the midday communique of the Eighth Army reported.

But to the northeast of Taegu, where interest is focused on two vital highway junctions—Yongchon ond Kyongju—the reds were probing and infiltrating while United Nations forces strove to repair gaps in the line.

The communique said that the reds have fought to "within a few miles" of Yongchon, 20 miles northeast of Taegu. Yongchon, whose loss would make Taegu untenable, changed hands twice Thursday night and Friday.

Slipping through gaps made by a breakthrough last Monday, the reds infiltrated across the supply highway leading to Taegu from the east. They crossed between Yongchon and Kyongju, the latter 35 miles east of Taegu.

"Both towns and the connecting road are still in friendly hands," the communique said.

The rains continued today. The unfavorable weather again threatened to cut down the effectiveness of the United Nations air arm and to cover red reinforcements movements known to be taking place at both ends of the battle front.

Recapping events of the last 10 days, General Walker told Associated Press Correspondent Jack MacBeth that the communist offensive launched Sept. 1 was the biggest attack of the war.

He said the peril passed when the reds failed to hold Yongsan and to capture Masan.

Yongsan, 36 miles northwest of the lifeline port of Pusan, was entered by the reds Sept. 1 and lost the next day. The peril there was that the reds might drive 11 miles eastward and cut the main north-south highway from Pusan to Taegu. Since then the U. S. Second Division and the First Marine Brigade have rolled the reds back six miles to within two miles of the Naktong River.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth reported today that the reds have rushed reinforcements across the river.

The reds managed to infiltrate within three miles of Masan, while under orders to capture it by Sept. 3, but were forced back in bitter fighting by the U. S. 25th Division. Seizure of Masan would have opened the gate to Pusan, 27 air miles away.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said the Second Division repelled a large-scale red attack yesterday and another early today.

The U. S. 25th Division last night repulsed two attacks against the center of its lines. One was a "banzai" charge—an attack in which the enemy shows utter disregard for loss of life while rushing forward, screaming.

Food Costs Drop Slightly In Aug.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Grocery store and meat market prices dropped about one per cent in the last two weeks of August. But they still remained about one per cent higher than before the Korean War.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported these findings tonight after a 13-city survey taken to measure the economic impact of the fighting.

Seasonal dips in the price of most fresh fruits and vegetables caused the decline in the food price average, BLS said. The retail food index stood at 206.4, counting the average of 1935-39 as 100.

Some commodities remained far above their pre-Korean prices. Eggs were 23.9 per cent higher, bacon 12.7 per cent, coffee 12.4 per cent and pink salmon 10.5 per cent.

Between Aug. 15 and Aug. 28 tomatoes dropped 35 per cent, potatoes 11 per cent, lettuce five per cent and oranges three per cent.

Round steak dropped two and one-half per cent and veal cutlets declined slightly, but pork chops rose five per cent.

"There is no chance to get an excess profits tax in this bill until judgment day. It is just delaying the bill. They might fool around here and get no tax bill at all. The way to deal with an excess profits tax is in a separate bill, after we have had a chance to study how it shall be applied."

Truman Tells Unions Red Threat Serious

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (INS)—President Truman told CIO and AFL leaders tonight that in the fight against communism America faces a very serious situation which will require the unified support of all its citizens.

The President made this statement at a private dinner held jointly by the CIO Political Action Committee and the AFL League for Labor Education, which was the first get-together of its kind.

Sinatra Suit Delayed

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 8 Because there is a good chance of a settlement, hearing of Mrs. Frank Sinatra's suit for separate maintenance was postponed today for two weeks.

He Fought Hard But Lost

McCarran's Red Bill Attacked By Douglas

Hits Imaginary Enemy, He Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Senator Douglas (D-Ill) today attacked the McCarran anti-communist bill as "a blunderbuss" firing in so many directions that it might hit "only imaginary enemies."

The Illinois lawmaker spoke out on the fourth day of heated Senate debate on the controversial measure sponsored by Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Senate is scheduled to start voting on the legislation next Tuesday.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday he would refuse to sign the McCarran Bill if Congress sends it to the White House. He has criticized it as ineffective and likely to jeopardize the rights of American citizens.

McCarran promptly retorted that Mr. Truman's implied threat of a veto was "the most colossal mistake I have ever heard of being made by the President."

The 74-year-old Navada lawmaker said a Presidential veto might lead to a republican victory in the November elections.

Although McCarran's bill has strong support in the Senate, Douglas and a small group of Democratic colleagues are seeking to put through a substitute bill by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) which would permit the government to clap communists into interment camps in time of war or national emergency.

The basic feature of McCarran's measure would require the registration of communists. It would also bar reds from federal jobs and from getting passports, stiffen laws dealing with spies and saboteurs, and enable the government to deport alien subversives.

"Burma Surgeon's" Trial Is Ordered

Vets Will Get New Dividend

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Veterans can expect a second insurance dividend on the anniversary dates of their policies in 1951, the Veterans Administration (VA) said today.

But present plans for starting payment on Jan. 1, 1951, may be disrupted, the VA said, if the budget bureau slices away much of the $4,800,000 requested by the VA to cover the administrative expenses of the dividend.

Germany Could Field 10 Units

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Western Germany probably can supply 10 divisions of troops for the defense of Western Europe within a year if and when the Allied powers decide they want German manpower in a West European defense system.

This estimate comes from highly authoritative sources and is understood to be a factor in top level policy conferences going on here in preperation for next week's New York meeting of American, British, and French Foreign Ministers.

Use of German manpower, in the American view, depends primarily on three conditions which have yet to be met. They are:

1. Agreement among Britain, France, the United States and other Atlantic Pact allies that such limited German rearmament is desirable.

2. Creation of a unified command for the defense system of Western Europe which would automatically provide a system to which German military units could be assigned.

3. Development of an adequate supply of arms to equip not only German units but also to carry forward at a vastly increased rate the rearmament of the Atlantic Treaty powers.

The conference here in recent days have involved President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Johnson and John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner in Germany. McCloy publicly gave the key to his thinking on Germany which is said to have support among other top authorities when he said earlier this week that he believes the West Germans should be enabled to defend themselves.

Teacher Writes To Stalin Asking Him To Aid Peace

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 8 (AP) —A Warrensburg school teacher—"unknown except in my own community"—sent a letter to Premier Stalin of Russia today asking him to help "restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people."

The writer, Miss I. F. Johnson, described herself as "a sincere worker for ultimate world peace through the United Nations and the UNESCO" (United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization). She said she sent a copy of the letter to President Truman.

"I have battled against the urge to write this letter for more than a year," she wrote, "but the time has come when I cannot keep silence. Your nation and mine are in the death throes of another war, whatever you may choose to call it.

"Let me plead with you, and our own President, to sit down together with a determination and faith that you can and will stop this murder of innocent people, and with the willingness to make reasonable concessions that will restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people.

"Let's find modern means of settling our grievances against each other, not the century old pattern of war.

"Our nations are the leaders of the world today. Let us prove to the world that we are worthy of that leadership by letting all nations of people make their own decisions as to what they believe. Let us sponsor an honest educational effort to help men and women throughout the world to know what real feedom means. Let's work together for the good of all.

Miss Johnson, a teacher in journalism at Central Missouri State College here, was reluctant to say anything about herself.

Marines Ignore Truman Plea, Vote For Ouster Of Johnson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Marine Corps League turned down a plea from President Truman today and demanded the ouster of Secretary of Defense Johnson on the ground that he has slashed America's defenses to "a dangerously low level."

The organization of ex-leathernecks, winding up its annual convention, defeated however a similar proposal that Secretary of State Acheson be fired.

Mr. Truman appealed only yesterday, in a personal appearance before the convention, for an end to attacks on government officials.

Such attacks really are against the President himself, Mr. Truman told the delegates in a face-to-face follow-up of his apology to the Marines for saying they had a propaganda machine "almost equal to Stalin's."

While the delegates cheered the President's talk they rejected his advice today by blasting Johnson's policies as "shortsighted, inefficient and dictatorial."

Urging that Johnson be replaced by "a competent and far-sighted statesman," the ex-Marines adopted with only one dissenting vote a resolution declaring:

"As a result of the blundering of the Defense Department our troops in Korea have suffered heavy casualties and reverses, and the military and political position of the U. S. has been reduced to a dangerously low level."

Brig. Gen. Robert C. Kilmartin of Washington cast the single no vote. "President Truman asked our support and we ought to give it," Kilmartin argued. He likewise opposed the anti-Acheson resolution, which was readily defeated after many "national unity" pleas from the floor.

The resolution naming Acheson charged too-great softness toward communism. Clay Nixon of Seattle, retiring national commandant, supported the resolution, declaring Acheson "has a lot to account and apologize for."

GOP, Demos Gun At Korea Fight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Democrats and Republicans trained their campaign guns on each other on the foreign policy front today.

The Democratic National Committee said some Republicans are engaged in a "cynical attempt to gain partisan advantage out of the ordeal of our heroic troops in Korea."

The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication, "on the political front," declared a top naval officer was court-martialed when the Battleship Missouri went aground, but nobody was court-martialed "for the absence of proper naval and air support when foreign policy boomeranged in Korea."

Democratic Chairman William Boyle, writing in his party organ, "Capital Comment," said some Republicans have tried to distort the administration's record on foreign policy and added:

"These men are not serving the interests of America or the cause of world peace. It is my firm conviction that they are not even serving their own narrow partisan political interests. x x x"

Schoeppel Will Call Witnesses To Back Charge

Promises Facts Against Chapman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Republican Senator Schoeppel of Kansas today demanded and won the right to call his own witnesses in an attempt to bolster his charges of communist influences in the Interior Department.

Under Democratic fire as a GOP "hatchet man," Schoeppel said he will present documentary evidence next week to support his contentions.

Meanwhile, the Republican National Committee disowned any connection with Schoeppel's broadsides against Secretary of the Interior Chapman and others.

GOP headquarters said in a statement:

"No one at the Republican National Committee knew about the Schoeppel speech or what it contained until the address was made and appeared on the press association wires and in the newspapers."

Schoeppel, a freshman senator, made his accusations in a speech on the Senate floor — and yesterday drew a challenge from Chapman to repeat the charges outside the halls of Congress where he would not be protected against a lawsuit.

Congress members are immune from legal action arising from remarks they make in the Senate or House.

In his testimony yesterday, Chapman told the Senate Interior Committee that Schoeppel's charges were "scandal-mongering and slander." The cabinet member heatedly denied Schoeppel's assertion that he was linked to communist-front groups and had failed to sign loyalty pledges.

Luce Takes Leave

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Henry R. Luce, founder and editor-in-chief of Time, Inc., publications, has been granted a leave of absence for six months to a year, it was announced today.

Allotment Bill For Servicemen Becomes Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A bill granting allowances of $45 to $85 a month to help care for the families of enlisted servicemen became law today with President Truman's signature.

To get such an allowance, an enlisted man will have to allot part of his regular pay to his family. The deduction from his own pay will range from $40 to $80 a month, depending on the man's pay grade.

Thus an army private, who gets $80 a month, would allot $40 to his wife and the government would grant — under the new legislation — $45 more, for a total of $85.

Malik Defeated In Move To Ban Korean Report

May Use Veto To Block Message

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 8 (AP) — Russia lost today a move to eliminate the Korean War from the Security Council's annual report to the United Nations General Assembly.

But she may try to make the demand stick by invoking the veto next week to kill the whole report.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik contended at a closed council meeting that adoption of the report is a substantive matter and, thus, subject to the veto. The other council members disagreed.

The majority was reported determined to send the report along to the assembly, veto or no veto. Diplomatic quarters said there were several ways this could be done. The simplest way, it was pointed out, would be for Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, council president, to send it along with a covering letter saying it had been approved by the majority but vetoed by Russia.

The actual proposal which Russia submitted at today's closed-door session was to eliminate all sections of the report covering decisions between Jan. 13, when the Soviet boycott began, and July 15. The annual report normally runs from mid-July to the next mid-July.

Malik said all actions of the council during the period of the Soviet boycott were illegal and hence have no place in the report. The council ordered United Nations intervention in Korea on June 27—during the Russian boycott. Malik returned to the council Aug. 1, ending the Soviet walk-out.

The vote was 10 to 1, with Malik alone supporting the Soviet proposal. The council holds another closed session next Tuesday to seek final approval of the report.

The Soviet delegate did not say definitely that he will use the veto. He could abstain. But this looked unlikely. He had already told an earlier meeting that he could not vote for any report covering the period when Russia was absent.

If Russia vetoes inclusion of Korea in the Security Council's annual report it will be the first time the veto has been used on the report and the first time, too, that the report is put to a formal vote.

GE, IUE Talks Are Recessed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Federal Mediation of the General Electric strike dispute was recessed tonight until Tuesday in a flurry of dispute and with no visible progress toward settlement.

James B. Carey, chairman of the CIO International Electrical Workers Union (IUE), told reporters he had "accepted" the company's offer as published in full-page advertisements in several cities this week.

Crete's Romantic Couple Cursed By Bride's Father

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 8 (AP) — The angry father of Crete's Juliet confronted her at security police headquarters today for the first time since she was abducted by the scion of a hostile clan and, witnesses said, spurned her plea for reconciliation.

The Juliet, blue-eyed, 20-year-old Tassoula Petracogeorgi, sought George Petracogeorgi's paternal blessing on her marriage to Mustachioed Constantine Kephaloyannis, her jailed Romeo. The two were married 11 days after Constantine carried her off to wild Mount Ida.

Police who viewed the encounter related:

Tassoula told her father: "What's happened has happened. Let bygones be bygones. I want your blessing."

The father replied: "Instead, I give you my curse."

He then stalked from the room. Tassoula fell into near hysterics.

The powerful Petracogeorgi and Kephaloyannis families have been at odds for generations, and the abduction Aug. 20 from a main street of Herakleion, Crete, fanned the smouldering feud.

The magistrate was to consult with other authorities about the final decision on Constantine — whether he'll be able to start a jail-delayed honeymoon or whether action will be taken on abduction charges. He has been in prison five days.

Counterdrive Halts Menace, General Says

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—The North Korean reds struck anew at Taegu from two directions today but the commander of the U. S. Eighth Army said the danger of the battle perimeter being smashed had ended.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker said the greatest peril was passed Sept. 3—"my own worst day"—when the reds made big gains toward Masan an Yongsan in the southwest sector. Counterattacks which relieved that situation an firmly established the Naktong River line ended the menace, the General added.

Today U. S. First Cavalry Division troops "contained" a communist attack eight miles northwest of Taegu, the midday communique of the Eighth Army reported.

But to the northeast of Taegu, where interest is focused on two vital highway junctions—Yongchon ond Kyongju—the reds were probing and infiltrating while United Nations forces strove to repair gaps in the line.

The communique said that the reds have fought to "within a few miles" of Yongchon, 20 miles northeast of Taegu. Yongchon, whose loss would make Taegu untenable, changed hands twice Thursday night and Friday.

Slipping through gaps made by a breakthrough last Monday, the reds infiltrated across the supply highway leading to Taegu from the east. They crossed between Yongchon and Kyongju, the latter 35 miles east of Taegu.

"Both towns and the connecting road are still in friendly hands," the communique said.

The rains continued today. The unfavorable weather again threatened to cut down the effectiveness of the United Nations air arm and to cover red reinforcements movements known to be taking place at both ends of the battle front.

Recapping events of the last 10 days, General Walker told Associated Press Correspondent Jack MacBeth that the communist offensive launched Sept. 1 was the biggest attack of the war.

He said the peril passed when the reds failed to hold Yongsan and to capture Masan.

Yongsan, 36 miles northwest of the lifeline port of Pusan, was entered by the reds Sept. 1 and lost the next day. The peril there was that the reds might drive 11 miles eastward and cut the main north-south highway from Pusan to Taegu. Since then the U. S. Second Division and the First Marine Brigade have rolled the reds back six miles to within two miles of the Naktong River.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth reported today that the reds have rushed reinforcements across the river.

The reds managed to infiltrate within three miles of Masan, while under orders to capture it by Sept. 3, but were forced back in bitter fighting by the U. S. 25th Division. Seizure of Masan would have opened the gate to Pusan, 27 air miles away.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said the Second Division repelled a large-scale red attack yesterday and another early today.

The U. S. 25th Division last night repulsed two attacks against the center of its lines. One was a "banzai" charge—an attack in which the enemy shows utter disregard for loss of life while rushing forward, screaming.

Food Costs Drop Slightly In Aug.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Grocery store and meat market prices dropped about one per cent in the last two weeks of August. But they still remained about one per cent higher than before the Korean War.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported these findings tonight after a 13-city survey taken to measure the economic impact of the fighting.

Seasonal dips in the price of most fresh fruits and vegetables caused the decline in the food price average, BLS said. The retail food index stood at 206.4, counting the average of 1935-39 as 100.

Some commodities remained far above their pre-Korean prices. Eggs were 23.9 per cent higher, bacon 12.7 per cent, coffee 12.4 per cent and pink salmon 10.5 per cent.

Between Aug. 15 and Aug. 28 tomatoes dropped 35 per cent, potatoes 11 per cent, lettuce five per cent and oranges three per cent.

Round steak dropped two and one-half per cent and veal cutlets declined slightly, but pork chops rose five per cent.

Getting Out The Vote Is Still A Problem

If the voting booth could be hauled from door to door, enabling citizens to cast their ballots without taking both feet out of their living rooms, it might be possible to get something approaching a full vote by all qualified electors. It sometimes seems there must be no other way.

But surely not many people are kept from the polls by the difficulties of the journey. Almost every conceivable measure has been taken to make it easy and convenient to vote. The precautions against illegal voting are held at a minimum; they need not offer any slightest obstacle to the eligible voter. The distance from home to polling place is rarely greater, usually less, than the distance habitually travelled to buy supplies or seek amusement. The voting hours are substantially longer than those of the average store. Ease of voting is not the key to a bigger turnout.

It has sometimes been suggested that voting should be made compulsory. That probably would get the votes cast. But the person who went to the polls only because it was required would not give much thought to his voting, and government would not be improved by the addition of his vote.

There seems to be only one avenue open, and that is the stimulation of greater interest on the part of the individual citizen. How can it be done? The person who finds the way will do the nation one of its greatest services.

Homework No Help?

It is difficult to say whether E. C. A. Firman, headmaster of the Plymouth College Preparatory School, is right or wrong about homework for boys and girls. It is doubtful whether he has the data to support his conclusion. English children may be different from American youngsters. What he says is interesting, though.

What he says is that homework not only does not help school children but actually retards their progress in class. He also says he was a firm believer in homework and only changed his mind after abolishing it for the students in his school during a trial period. The results showed that no homework was a good idea.

"Work in school during the last month of the term improved by 100 per cent in quality and quantity," he reports. "It more than compensated for the loss of set studies at home."

So now he has ended homework entirely. In its place he is encouraging an interest in hobbies. That is quite a reversal for a man who himself did as much as three hours of homework a day as a boy, who was convinced that it did him good, and apparently expected that the experiment would confirm his prior judgment.

It is enough of a reversal to suggest that further investigation into this matter would be well warranted. Many a parent as well as most youngsters would welcome release from the daily ordeal wrapped up in the word "homework"—if it could be done without damage to the education the schools are there to provide.

Knotty Problem

Standardization has proved to be a great thing—when not overworked—but civilian airmen must be wondering about some of the hows and whyfors of a brand new ukase by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. It says, in brief, that after July 1, 1952, plane speeds will be figured in knots instead of miles. Principal reason is to provide a uniform system for measuring speeds of civilian and military aircraft.

This leaves about two years for airmen unused to figuring speed in units of 6,080.27 feet, or one nautical mile, to get used to it. Presumably all cockpit instruments will have had their dials changed over by that time, too.

Reasons advanced for the ruling are that two years hence a greatly increased number of the nation's airports will have electronic landing systems, and many civilian planes will carry one or more of the newer navigation gimmicks; in using any of these devices, a standard rate of speed of advance is highly essential; without it some of the confusion that exists today will be continued and probably augmented.

There is some precedent for adopting nautical terms all around. Port and starboard, fore and aft, are already common terminology in planes. Although people get airsick and not seasick it amounts to the same thing. But there will be, er, knotty problems to start with. Airmen will probably be wondering what "minutes of arc" have to do with getting from here to there.

They may also be asking why their speed in flight is tied inexorably to the action of letting a knotted line slip over the taffrail of some old sailing lugger that never did better than 10 knots in its whole career afloat. Well, they are entitled to all the worries they want, so long as the 10 knots has been converted from 11.5156 land miles per hour.

Courage For Courtesy

One of the frequent laments of the present day is for the courtesy standards of former days. Why, for example, is it so rare to see a man get up on a crowded bus or trolley and offer his seat to a woman? Man's usual defense is that woman has sought equality with man in politics, business and social life; let her take equality with him on the bus, too. That is bosh, rationalization which could be twisted in the other direction just as well. It makes more sense to find a seat for a woman who has worked all day in office or store than for one who has spent the afternoon at the beauty parlor. The latter, to be sure, may catch the masculine eye more quickly.

If the men sitting beside women standing in the aisle could be whisked away for a lie detector test, it might turn out that the thing which keeps them in their seats is fear. Most of them are terribly uncomfortable; watch them staring out the window to avoid seeing the feminine standees. They want to do what they know ought to be done. But they are afraid of feeling ridiculous if they get up and offer their seats. The dread of being conspicuous, probably more than anything else, curtails the social graces.

The fear is so groundless! The man who does the courteous thing on the crowded bus does not look ridiculous at all; he looks like a man who knows what he is doing, and is envied by every man who still stays in his seat. They know he has a degree of courage which they lack, a most uncomfortable thing to know.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dermatitis From Fabrics

WHEN a new material for clothing is produced, the wise manufacturer may subject it to experimentation before giving it nation-wide distribution. Under this plan, patch tests would be made on several hundred volunteers to determine whether or not sensitivity to the fabric can be expected. If the substance passes this test, it is likely to be made into undergarments (for closer contact with the skin) and sent to communities of 5 to 10 thousand for trial wear. If no untoward reactions occur, the material is then given national distribution.

But if sensitivity to the new fabric is reported, the manufacturer asks for further tests because he has found through experience that many other possibilities must be considered. This is best illustrated by a recent outbreak in which several women developed a rash which was said to be due to nylon. After a thorough investigation, the cause was traced to a resin finish rather than to the nylon itself.

Such problems are becoming common because various types of dyes, mordants, and finshes are being added to improve appearance and durability. Nowadays we have many more chemicals than starch for this purpose. There are finishes, for example, that are placed on fabrics to give them more luster, a better feel, of improved wearing qualities. Another group of compounds is utilized to prevent runs and unraveling or make the material hold creases or resist them. Chemicals also are employed to make fabrics proof against water; moths and other insects, molds, and flame. Some are permanent; others are removed by washing. The same applies to dyes, resins, and a host of other substances incorporated into our modern wearing apparel. Even glass wool has been indicted along this line.

• — • — •

Reactions of this nature are easy to recognize as a rule because they begin over the region that is touched by the offending fabric. Itching invariably is present but the rash varies from ordinary redness to large, angry, inflamed blisters which resemble a severe case of poison ivy. Now and then the affected areas assume the outline of the contact irritant. One man who was sensitive to leather observed a red spot over the hip the axact shape of his wallet every time he placed it in his side pocket. An eruption on the neck suggests furs and a bland of irritation about the abdomen points to a belt as the offender.

In others, dermatitis is more generalized and may be so extensive that the victim becomes toxic and develops fever. As a rule, five or more days elapse between the time the offending agent is first worn and the appearance of the rash. This interval is required for sensitivity to develop except in those who already are allergic. In these individuals, itching is noted almost immediately after contacting the agent.

Because the added dyes and other chemicals usually are at fault, the reaction is most likely to occur when the wearing apparel becomes wet with perspiration. This brings the noxious agents into solution which has a more deleterious effect on the skin. In cases where the offending substance cannot be detected easily, skin tests may be needed to reveal the culprit.

DWARF

Mrs. J. writes: A relative of mine gave birth to a child with chondrodystrophy and the doctor says the baby's arms and legs will not grow with the rest of the body. What causes such a condition?

REPLY

You probably refer to achondroplasia, a congenital defect caused by faulty development of the ends of the long bones. As a result there is marked shortening of the arms and legs, leading to a characteristic type of dwarfism. In addition, the face has a distinctive facial expression, broad forehead, pug nose, and prominent lower jaw. So far the cause has escaped detection.

NIGHT WHEEZING

K. Z. writes: When I go to bed at night my chest starts to wheeze. I do not have this condition during the day. Do you think I have asthma?

REPLY

This is possible but an inward goiter and heart trouble also must be considered. Examination is in order.

HERNIA

M. J. writes: I was informed that I have a congenital hernia. Is medical attention necessary?

REPLY

There are many forms of hernia and the only cure is surgery. Other simple measures such as a truss give temporary relief.

U. S. Prestige In Europe Reaches Low Ebb; As Result Of Korean War It's Doubtful That Western Europe Would Fight Russia

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Unpublished Intelligence reports reaching Washington from various parts of the world tell a depressing story of lowered American military prestige as a result of Korea.

Confidential reports from friendly British sources bear this out. The British embassies in France, Belgium and Holland, for instance, report that in case of war with Russia those countries probably would not fight. Our own embassies substantiate this.

Even the published reports tell a story that is bad enough. From Paris the Associated Press reports: "The crisis in Korea has brought the American position in France to a low point. . . . There has been a wave of dismay at American reverses . . . It is staggering to hear Frenchmen talk about capitulation (to Russia)."

And in Germany, where most Americans have blithely figured we could raise a German army to support us, comes the opposite note from our best friend, Chancellor Adenauer, who says that Germans need American troops to support them, rather than German troops to support the U.S.A.

"Until now," says the Chancellor, "Germany maintained its spirit against the spread of communism by faith in the American armed forces. But events in Korea have had a noticeable effect, and there is a sense of helplessness that the Russians will take over.

"American troops in Germany, therefore, should be increased by three more divisions in three months, with a total of 10 divisions later."

Military Mistakes

Precedent in the War and Navy Departments has been against prying into military mistakes. After previous wars, the files dealing with military blunders have been locked up. A dozen or so high-ranking U. S. generals were "busted" in the European Theatre during World War II, but only fragmentary facts concerning the boners ever leaked out. And in the Pacific, MacArthur exercised even tighter censorship regarding certain errors, including his own still unexplained error in letting all his planes get destroyed at Clark Field shortly after Pearl Harbor.

In the Korean crisis, however, congressional sentiment is growing for a forthright examination of our military errors and woeful lack of preparedness. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, himself a naval commander in the Pacific, has been tentatively picked as the committee chairman to do the probing, and here are some of the things he will be asked to examine.

1. LACK OF TROOP TRAINING—MacArthur had the biggest segment of American troops under him in Japan. They were on a war footing, with plenty of time for maneuvers. Yet all reports from the battle front indicate that his troops were softer, greener, less prepared than troops trained in the U.S.A.

2. BAZOOKAS—It was known at the end of War II that Russian tanks were powerfully armed. It was also known that our 4-inch bazookas were inadequate. Yet we sent men into battle with these same almost useless bazookas. This was sheer murder. The military had five years to prepare a new type of bazooka, but none were on deck in Japan when the Korean war broke. It is reported that heavy orders placed for the smaller bazooka and not countermanded toward the end of the war is part of the answer. These factories just kept on making useless bazookas.

3. TANKS—During the most of War II U. S. tanks were inferior to German tanks, while the Russians publicly chided us regarding the lend-lease tanks we sent them. After the war we junked thousands of our own tanks, apparently without making any serious attempt to develop a tank that could meet the Russians. In brief, the Pentagon planners were woefully asleep.

4. AIR FORCE—MacArthur had the largest chunk of U. S. air power to be found anyplace in the world when the Korean war started. But for many agonizing days at the start, 70 per cent of his planes were keept on the ground. This was not due to bad weather alone, but to the fact that MacArthur feared a Russian air strike at Japan. Many military men disagreed with him on this, pointing out that planes over Korea required only an hour to get back to defend Japan, and that time in the Korean war was priceless.

5. SLOW TROOP MOVEMENTS—In the first weeks of Korean fighting, troops moved from Japan to Korea with tragic slowness. From Japan to Korea is only 120 miles—the distance to Philadelphia from Washington — but at that crucial time when we had more bases in Korea, troops moved in driblets. MacArthur's excuse was that he feared a Russian attack on Japan, though many in Washington argued that Moscow would never risk our atom bomb and a world war by attacking Japan.

6. TOP OFFICERS—The U. S. Air Force commander in Japan is Gen. George Stratemeyer, who occupied a relatively noncombat berth during the war in the China-India Theatre. He is not a skilled tactical commander but, despite this, the Air Force has kept him on in Korea—some explain because he has the knack of getting along with MacArthur.

Gen. Walton Walker, MacArthur's ground force commander, though seeing important European service under Patton, is not considered one of the Army's top men. In Japan he was noted for having the best house in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, having commandeered it from the head of Standard Oil and refused to relinquish it. Americans who lunched with him were awed by the General's luxurious surroundings, including the fact that eight geisha girls stood bowing at the door as the guests entered, not lifting their heads until the guests had passed.

The old jungle commanders who brought MacArthur's troops up from the Southwest Pacific and who are skilled in the current type of Korean fighting are not with him anymore; and at least one of them, Gen. Robert Eichelberger, hero of Buna, has made it quite clear that he would not care to serve under MacArthur again.

Inquiring senators feel that the lives of hundreds of heroic G. I.'s and combat officers could have been saved by more planning, more preparedness, and more forthrightness at the top.

"Far Eastern Munich" Appears In The Making

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — If Soviet Russia instigated the North Korean war in order to bring pressure on the United States to permit communist China to be admitted to the Security Council of the United Nations, then the whole enterprise was superfluous. For it is beginning to appear that the United States, under pressure from Great Britain and other countries which have recognized communist China, will accept a formula anyway that enables the communists to take the China seat on the Council.

This would be an appeasement move. It is being developed on the theory that the American people don't want a war with communist China. It means, in brief, that the Soviet bluff will have worked and that communist China will have her way provided she agrees to let Formosa alone so that the island may some day be disposed of on some trusteeship or international basis.

The idea is that this would not interfere with Chiang Kai-Shek's continued occupation of Formosa and at the same time might avoid a conflict between the Nationalists and the communists over possession of the island.

Want Veto Used

The plan is still in a nebulous state and members of Congress who know about it frankly don't like it. There will be decided opposition to such a step. In fact, Senators Tydings and O'Conor of Maryland, both Democrats, have just introduced a resolution asking that the Senate request the President to use the veto in the Security Council to block the admission of communist China.

The Department of State's position hitherto has been announced as one of opposition to the seating of communist China, but it has also been stated officially that the United States would abide by the view of the majority of the Council and would not use a veto.

The argument now being made here for admission of communist China is similar to the view that has governed Great Britain and other governments in extending diplomatic recognition to the Mao regime. It holds that, because the communist armies have overrun China and are in undisputed control of virtually all of that country, the rule of international law is to extend recognition on a "de facto" basis.

But the Department of State then would be in the awkward position of accepting one legalism while utterly disregarding another. The rule of international law also is to insist that any government which seeks diplomatic recognition must show itself capable of affording protection to foreigners and of honoring international obligations. It is difficult to see how America could withhold diplomatic recognition and yet sit alongside communist China in the Security Council.

Communist China drove the American consular representatives out of the country, held them as prisoners for a long time and extorted money from them before letting them go. Communist China also has been entertaining in secret agreements with Soviet Russia and there is evidence that the government of China is not independent but is a tool of Moscow.

It has been contended that recognition does not as a rule involve questioning the kind of government that is in control. That is true up to a point. It means that no questions are asked on a strictly legal basis as to whether a government is socialistic or communistic or autocratic. But there is always a questioning as to the capacity of the government to discharge international obligations and whether or not such a country has hostile intentions toward the institutions of other countries. The United States withheld recognition of Soviet Russia for 16 years because Moscow was carrying on a propaganda inside the United States designed to overthrow the American government. The Soviets had territorial control of all Russia.

Lack of Understanding

The communist government of China in a message to the U. N. has publicly accused the United States of aggression in North Korea. Clearly this doesn't show that the Chinese communist regime has the faintest understanding of what international obligations really mean.

But if the State Department wants to appease Russia by declining to block the admission of China, the American people will want to debate that issue extensively. Unfortunately, it appears that the plan will be to postpone action until after the Congressional elections so that the American people may not have a chance to express their resentment or their approval, as the case may be.

Meanwhile, the administration's argument evidently is going to be that this will avoid involvement in a war with China and might even cause the North Koreans to let American troops proceed in humilia-

Country's Economy Lies In Hands Of President

By MARK SULLIVAN

IN the radio address President Truman made to the country last week, he covered the military and foreign part of the immense problem that confronts the country, merely alluding to the domestic part. This he described as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices" and about this he said, "I intend to talk to you again."

What Mr. Truman says will be more than merely important. That he is going to have vast power over the country's economy is inevitable under the circumstances and is well understood. The scope of his power was indicated by the economic control bill that Congress passed last week, which included discretionary power to impose controls over wages and prices. Presumably Mr. Truman will have signed this bill and it will have become a law before he makes his promised address to the country. Whatever he says about the use he intends to make of the control vested in him will largely tell the story of what the country can expect.

Many persons well qualified for judgment believe it is possible for the country's economy to be so directed and managed as to get through what is ahead without the economic disaster that is the country's danger and the Kremlin's hope. But whatever the plans others may propose, the power of action, of choice and decision, will now be in the President's hands.

Truman Is Key

As Mr. Truman takes hold, inflationary wage and price rises are under way with strong momentum. During the weeks since Korea, wage raises have taken place in some major industries such as the automotive one, and demand for raises have been made in other industries. Raises in large industries lead to demands for them in small industries. It is a sign of the present condition that one of the natural checks to rising wage rates, resistance by employers, has been abandoned by some large and employing corporations, conspicuously in the automobile industry. As respects prices, the group that is basic and dynamic in the price level of goods generally, food prices, are rising and are likely to go higher. For, under the system of government price support of farm crops, the Department of Agriculture is automatically certain to fix higher support figures. This is made certain by existing law. Only President Truman can avert it, by exercise of the discretionary power he has received from Congress.

In the whole field of the objective President Truman named in his radio address last week, "to prevent inflation and runaway prices," he is himself the key. Prevention means going counter to two large groups, labor and agriculture, to both of which he has given deference. In his campaign for the Presidency, he made direct and emphatic appeals to these groups for "gratitude." His solicitation of the farm vote was conspicuously successful; the votes of five Middle Western farm states, which in recent preceding elections had gone strongly Republican, gave him the margin of victory.

No Longer Deferring

Since the impact of Korea upon President Truman he has shown a disposition to defer no longer to groups. At the time of the Korean outbreak there were under way actions by labor unions, which, if carried on, would have interfered with the country's industrial production and thereby impeded the war effort that the Korean outbreak made desperately imperative. This sort of thing Mr. Truman has recently shown a disposition to resent. On Aug. 23 a large union of railroad workers announced a strike to take place the following week. Mr. Truman, at his press conference Aug. 24, in a spirit of rebuke of the strike call, told newsmen that an hour before the call he had been assured by union spokesmen that the strike would not take place.

Consideration of labor unions as a special interest, if their demands include threat of interruption of industrial production, is made unthinkable by the war condition. It is likewise objectionable as a contribution to inflation. For the same reason that government practice of price support of farm crops, of buying immense quantities of food to take them off the market and thereby keep the prices up, is likewise made peculiarly objectionable now.

About all this, about the country's economy as a whole, President Truman is now to have personal responsibility; the economic control bill Congress passed conceded that the President should have power. He has defined the purpose of the economic powers as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices." What he will do with his power awaits his next address to the country, and, beyond that, the actual steps he takes.

These Days

A Letter To Lee Pressman

My Dear Lee Pressman:

You will recall the Nye Committee and the LaFollette Committee.

You and your colleagues used the Nye Committee to get at the facts of American industry and to lessen this country's ability to defend itself. Most people do not remember the Nye Committee. It was one of the most scandalous performances in the American Congress, and Gerald Nye, a senator from North Dakota, was an innocent dupe. He could not possibly have known how he was being used by counsel and investigators for that committee, among whom was Alger Hiss.

Then there was the LaFollette Committee, which did a hatchet job on American industry. It set out to smear every defender of the American system of free enterprise. It did more than any other agency to destroy confidence, by falsehood, by half-truth, by innuendo, by distortion, in the American productive machine.

Your former friend, John Abt, was the counsel for that committee and Charles Kramer was its investigator. The data that the Nye Committee failed to get, the LaFollette Committee did get. In a word, the power and authority of Congress was employed by you and your colleagues to undermine, to malign, to break down confidence in the American industrial organization.

The National Labor Relations Act was passed by Congress. You know that you were one of its principal authors. You know that Senator Wagner did not write that act. You know who did write it.

Your former friend, Nathan Witt, was appointed counsel to the National Labor Relations Board. He ran that board. He used it to destroy whatever amicable relations existed between employers and employes in American industry.

Do you remember the strike at Republic Steel in Chicago? Is it true that Nathan Witt said to Tom Girdler: "When you take to me, you talk to the government of the United States," in so arrogant a manner that Tom Girdler correctly saw red? You recall that the Detroit strikes in the automobile industry need never have taken place; that Professor Leo Wolman of Columbia University had worked out a procedure for a peaceful correction of all the problems facing that industry. You know that that strike was organized zy the group that came into control of the Nye committee, the LaFollette Committee and the National Labor Relations Board.

You, yourself, became counsel for the CIO. Now, John L. Lewis is no communist and he has kept them out of the United Mine Workers. He did not load the CIO with communists in the administrative and organizational positions. You did.

You and Sidney Hillman used the early years of the CIO as your own private political arm. To what purpose? Sidney Hillman, as you know, was an ambitious, conniving politician with a pleasant, disarming facade.

I am reminding you of these things because when a man announces that he has had a change of heart, he must tell all. Conversion must be accompanied by confession.

I would welcome you into the company of red-baiters, if I trusted you, but I cannot trust you as long as you do not tell the whole truth of the interlocking counsel—Alger Hiss, John Abt, Nathan Witt, and Lee Pressman.

The Korean war has frightened you. Fear is no substitute for conversion. You must do better than that if you want to be believed.

Let me tell you what you ought to do:

1. Tell the entire story of the Harold Ware cell;

2. Tell the whole story of the Nye Committee and how much of the data was given to the communist party and Soviet Russia;

3. Tell the whole story of the LaFollette Committee and how it was used as a propaganda machine to stir up distrust of American industry;

4. Tell the story of how Nathan Witt and Edwin S. Smith came into control of the National Labor Relations Board;

5. Tell the story of the employment of communists in the administrative and organizational positions of the CIO.

You can do a job for your country if you tell what you know and open your files. If you do not do that kind of a job, many of us will always question the bona fides of your conversion.

Yours Sincerely,

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY.

Getting Out The Vote Is Still A Problem

If the voting booth could be hauled from door to door, enabling citizens to cast their ballots without taking both feet out of their living rooms, it might be possible to get something approaching a full vote by all qualified electors. It sometimes seems there must be no other way.

But surely not many people are kept from the polls by the difficulties of the journey. Almost every conceivable measure has been taken to make it easy and convenient to vote. The precautions against illegal voting are held at a minimum; they need not offer any slightest obstacle to the eligible voter. The distance from home to polling place is rarely greater, usually less, than the distance habitually travelled to buy supplies or seek amusement. The voting hours are substantially longer than those of the average store. Ease of voting is not the key to a bigger turnout.

It has sometimes been suggested that voting should be made compulsory. That probably would get the votes cast. But the person who went to the polls only because it was required would not give much thought to his voting, and government would not be improved by the addition of his vote.

There seems to be only one avenue open, and that is the stimulation of greater interest on the part of the individual citizen. How can it be done? The person who finds the way will do the nation one of its greatest services.

Homework No Help?

It is difficult to say whether E. C. A. Firman, headmaster of the Plymouth College Preparatory School, is right or wrong about homework for boys and girls. It is doubtful whether he has the data to support his conclusion. English children may be different from American youngsters. What he says is interesting, though.

What he says is that homework not only does not help school children but actually retards their progress in class. He also says he was a firm believer in homework and only changed his mind after abolishing it for the students in his school during a trial period. The results showed that no homework was a good idea.

"Work in school during the last month of the term improved by 100 per cent in quality and quantity," he reports. "It more than compensated for the loss of set studies at home."

So now he has ended homework entirely. In its place he is encouraging an interest in hobbies. That is quite a reversal for a man who himself did as much as three hours of homework a day as a boy, who was convinced that it did him good, and apparently expected that the experiment would confirm his prior judgment.

It is enough of a reversal to suggest that further investigation into this matter would be well warranted. Many a parent as well as most youngsters would welcome release from the daily ordeal wrapped up in the word "homework"—if it could be done without damage to the education the schools are there to provide.

Knotty Problem

Standardization has proved to be a great thing—when not overworked—but civilian airmen must be wondering about some of the hows and whyfors of a brand new ukase by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. It says, in brief, that after July 1, 1952, plane speeds will be figured in knots instead of miles. Well, they are entitled to all the worries they want, so long as the 10 knots has been converted from 11.5156 land miles per hour.

Courage For Courtesy

One of the frequent laments of the present day is for the courtesy standards of former days. Why, for example, is it so rare to see a man get up on a crowded bus or trolley and offer his seat to a woman? Man's usual defense is that woman has sought equality with man in politics, business and social life; let her take equality with him on the bus, too. Another group of compounds is utilized to prevent runs and unraveling or make the material hold creases or resist them. Chemicals also are employed to make fabrics proof against water; moths and other insects, molds, and flame. Some are permanent; others are removed by washing. The same applies to dyes, resins, and a host of other substances incorporated into our modern wearing apparel. Even glass wool has been indicted along this line.

Reactions of this nature are easy to recognize as a rule because they begin over the region that is touched by the offending fabric. Itching invariably is present but the rash varies from ordinary redness to large, angry, inflamed blisters which resemble a severe case of poison ivy. Now and then the affected areas assume the outline of the contact irritant. One man who was sensitive to leather observed a red spot over the hip the axact shape of his wallet every time he placed it in his side pocket. An eruption on the neck suggests furs and a bland of irritation about the abdomen points to a belt as the offender.

In others, dermatitis is more generalized and may be so extensive that the victim becomes toxic and develops fever. As a rule, five or more days elapse between the time the offending agent is first worn and the appearance of the rash. This interval is required for sensitivity to develop except in those who already are allergic. In these individuals, itching is noted almost immediately after contacting the agent.

Because the added dyes and other chemicals usually are at fault, the reaction is most likely to occur when the wearing apparel becomes wet with perspiration. This brings the noxious agents into solution which has a more deleterious effect on the skin. In cases where the offending substance cannot be detected easily, skin tests may be needed to reveal the culprit.

DWARF

Mrs. J. writes: A relative of mine gave birth to a child with chondrodystrophy and the doctor says the baby's arms and legs will not grow with the rest of the body. What causes such a condition?

REPLY

You probably refer to achondroplasia, a congenital defect caused by faulty development of the ends of the long bones. As a result there is marked shortening of the arms and legs, leading to a characteristic type of dwarfism. In addition, the face has a distinctive facial expression, broad forehead, pug nose, and prominent lower jaw. So far the cause has escaped detection.

NIGHT WHEEZING

K. Z. writes: When I go to bed at night my chest starts to wheeze. I do not have this condition during the day. Do you think I have asthma?

REPLY

This is possible but an inward goiter and heart trouble also must be considered. Examination is in order.

HERNIA

M. J. writes: I was informed that I have a congenital hernia. Is medical attention necessary?

REPLY

There are many forms of hernia and the only cure is surgery. Other simple measures such as a truss give temporary relief.

U. S. Prestige In Europe Reaches Low Ebb; As Result Of Korean War It's Doubtful That Western Europe Would Fight Russia

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Unpublished Intelligence reports reaching Washington from various parts of the world tell a depressing story of lowered American military prestige as a result of Korea.

Confidential reports from friendly British sources bear this out. The British embassies in France, Belgium and Holland, for instance, report that in case of war with Russia those countries probably would not fight. Our own embassies substantiate this.

Even the published reports tell a story that is bad enough. From Paris the Associated Press reports: "The crisis in Korea has brought the American position in France to a low point. . . . There has been a wave of dismay at American reverses . . . It is staggering to hear Frenchmen talk about capitulation (to Russia)."

And in Germany, where most Americans have blithely figured we could raise a German army to support us, comes the opposite note from our best friend, Chancellor Adenauer, who says that Germans need American troops to support them, rather than German troops to support the U.S.A.

"Until now," says the Chancellor, "Germany maintained its spirit against the spread of communism by faith in the American armed forces. But events in Korea have had a noticeable effect, and there is a sense of helplessness that the Russians will take over.

"American troops in Germany, therefore, should be increased by three more divisions in three months, with a total of 10 divisions later."

Military Mistakes

Precedent in the War and Navy Departments has been against prying into military mistakes. After previous wars, the files dealing with military blunders have been locked up. A dozen or so high-ranking U. S. generals were "busted" in the European Theatre during World War II, but only fragmentary facts concerning the boners ever leaked out. And in the Pacific, MacArthur exercised even tighter censorship regarding certain errors, including his own still unexplained error in letting all his planes get destroyed at Clark Field shortly after Pearl Harbor.

In the Korean crisis, however, congressional sentiment is growing for a forthright examination of our military errors and woeful lack of preparedness. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, himself a naval commander in the Pacific, has been tentatively picked as the committee chairman to do the probing, and here are some of the things he will be asked to examine.

1. LACK OF TROOP TRAINING—MacArthur had the biggest segment of American troops under him in Japan. They were on a war footing, with plenty of time for maneuvers. Yet all reports from the battle front indicate that his troops were softer, greener, less prepared than troops trained in the U.S.A.

2. BAZOOKAS—It was known at the end of War II that Russian tanks were powerfully armed. It was also known that our 4-inch bazookas were inadequate. Yet we sent men into battle with these same almost useless bazookas. This was sheer murder. The military had five years to prepare a new type of bazooka, but none were on deck in Japan when the Korean war broke. It is reported that heavy orders placed for the smaller bazooka and not countermanded toward the end of the war is part of the answer. These factories just kept on making useless bazookas.

3. TANKS—During the most of War II U. S. tanks were inferior to German tanks, while the Russians publicly chided us regarding the lend-lease tanks we sent them. After the war we junked thousands of our own tanks, apparently without making any serious attempt to develop a tank that could meet the Russians. In brief, the Pentagon planners were woefully asleep.

4. AIR FORCE—MacArthur had the largest chunk of U. S. air power to be found anyplace in the world when the Korean war started. But for many agonizing days at the start, 70 per cent of his planes were keept on the ground. This was not due to bad weather alone, but to the fact that MacArthur feared a Russian air strike at Japan. Many military men disagreed with him on this, pointing out that planes over Korea required only an hour to get back to defend Japan, and that time in the Korean war was priceless.

5. SLOW TROOP MOVEMENTS—In the first weeks of Korean fighting, troops moved from Japan to Korea with tragic slowness. From Japan to Korea is only 120 miles—the distance to Philadelphia from Washington — but at that crucial time when we had more bases in Korea, troops moved in driblets. MacArthur's excuse was that he feared a Russian attack on Japan, though many in Washington argued that Moscow would never risk our atom bomb and a world war by attacking Japan.

6. TOP OFFICERS—The U. S. Air Force commander in Japan is Gen. George Stratemeyer, who occupied a relatively noncombat berth during the war in the China-India Theatre. He is not a skilled tactical commander but, despite this, the Air Force has kept him on in Korea—some explain because he has the knack of getting along with MacArthur.

Gen. Walton Walker, MacArthur's ground force commander, though seeing important European service under Patton, is not considered one of the Army's top men. In Japan he was noted for having the best house in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, having commandeered it from the head of Standard Oil and refused to relinquish it. Americans who lunched with him were awed by the General's luxurious surroundings, including the fact that eight geisha girls stood bowing at the door as the guests entered, not lifting their heads until the guests had passed.

The old jungle commanders who brought MacArthur's troops up from the Southwest Pacific and who are skilled in the current type of Korean fighting are not with him anymore; and at least one of them, Gen. Robert Eichelberger, hero of Buna, has made it quite clear that he would not care to serve under MacArthur again.

Inquiring senators feel that the lives of hundreds of heroic G. I.'s and combat officers could have been saved by more planning, more preparedness, and more forthrightness at the top.

"Far Eastern Munich" Appears In The Making

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — If Soviet Russia instigated the North Korean war in order to bring pressure on the United States to permit communist China to be admitted to the Security Council of the United Nations, then the whole enterprise was superfluous. For it is beginning to appear that the United States, under pressure from Great Britain and other countries which have recognized communist China, will accept a formula anyway that enables the communists to take the China seat on the Council.

This would be an appeasement move. It is being developed on the theory that the American people don't want a war with communist China. It means, in brief, that the Soviet bluff will have worked and that communist China will have her way provided she agrees to let Formosa alone so that the island may some day be disposed of on some trusteeship or international basis.

The idea is that this would not interfere with Chiang Kai-Shek's continued occupation of Formosa and at the same time might avoid a conflict between the Nationalists and the communists over possession of the island.

Want Veto Used

The plan is still in a nebulous state and members of Congress who know about it frankly don't like it. There will be decided opposition to such a step. In fact, Senators Tydings and O'Conor of Maryland, both Democrats, have just introduced a resolution asking that the Senate request the President to use the veto in the Security Council to block the admission of communist China.

The Department of State's position hitherto has been announced as one of opposition to the seating of communist China, but it has also been stated officially that the United States would abide by the view of the majority of the Council and would not use a veto.

The argument now being made here for admission of communist China is similar to the view that has governed Great Britain and other governments in extending diplomatic recognition to the Mao regime. It holds that, because the communist armies have overrun China and are in undisputed control of virtually all of that country, the rule of international law is to extend recognition on a "de facto" basis.

But the Department of State then would be in the awkward position of accepting one legalism while utterly disregarding another. The rule of international law also is to insist that any government which seeks diplomatic recognition must show itself capable of affording protection to foreigners and of honoring international obligations. It is difficult to see how America could withhold diplomatic recognition and yet sit alongside communist China in the Security Council.

Communist China drove the American consular representatives out of the country, held them as prisoners for a long time and extorted money from them before letting them go. Communist China also has been entertaining in secret agreements with Soviet Russia and there is evidence that the government of China is not independent but is a tool of Moscow.

It has been contended that recognition does not as a rule involve questioning the kind of government that is in control. That is true up to a point. It means that no questions are asked on a strictly legal basis as to whether a government is socialistic or communistic or autocratic. But there is always a questioning as to the capacity of the government to discharge international obligations and whether or not such a country has hostile intentions toward the institutions of other countries. The United States withheld recognition of Soviet Russia for 16 years because Moscow was carrying on a propaganda inside the United States designed to overthrow the American government. The Soviets had territorial control of all Russia.

Lack of Understanding

The communist government of China in a message to the U. N. has publicly accused the United States of aggression in North Korea. Clearly this doesn't show that the Chinese communist regime has the faintest understanding of what international obligations really mean.

But if the State Department wants to appease Russia by declining to block the admission of China, the American people will want to debate that issue extensively. Unfortunately, it appears that the plan will be to postpone action until after the Congressional elections so that the American people may not have a chance to express their resentment or their approval, as the case may be.

Meanwhile, the administration's argument evidently is going to be that this will avoid involvement in a war with China and might even cause the North Koreans to let American troops proceed in humilia-

Country's Economy Lies In Hands Of President

By MARK SULLIVAN

IN the radio address President Truman made to the country last week, he covered the military and foreign part of the immense problem that confronts the country, merely alluding to the domestic part. This he described as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices" and about this he said, "I intend to talk to you again."

What Mr. Truman says will be more than merely important. That he is going to have vast power over the country's economy is inevitable under the circumstances and is well understood. The scope of his power was indicated by the economic control bill that Congress passed last week, which included discretionary power to impose controls over wages and prices. Presumably Mr. Truman will have signed this bill and it will have become a law before he makes his promised address to the country. Whatever he says about the use he intends to make of the control vested in him will largely tell the story of what the country can expect.

Many persons well qualified for judgment believe it is possible for the country's economy to be so directed and managed as to get through what is ahead without the economic disaster that is the country's danger and the Kremlin's hope. But whatever the plans others may propose, the power of action, of choice and decision, will now be in the President's hands.

Truman Is Key

As Mr. Truman takes hold, inflationary wage and price rises are under way with strong momentum. During the weeks since Korea, wage raises have taken place in some major industries such as the automotive one, and demand for raises have been made in other industries. Raises in large industries lead to demands for them in small industries. It is a sign of the present condition that one of the natural checks to rising wage rates, resistance by employers, has been abandoned by some large and employing corporations, conspicuously in the automobile industry. As respects prices, the group that is basic and dynamic in the price level of goods generally, food prices, are rising and are likely to go higher. For, under the system of government price support of farm crops, the Department of Agriculture is automatically certain to fix higher support figures. This is made certain by existing law. Only President Truman can avert it, by exercise of the discretionary power he has received from Congress.

In the whole field of the objective President Truman named in his radio address last week, "to prevent inflation and runaway prices," he is himself the key. Prevention means going counter to two large groups, labor and agriculture, to both of which he has given deference. In his campaign for the Presidency, he made direct and emphatic appeals to these groups for "gratitude." His solicitation of the farm vote was conspicuously successful; the votes of five Middle Western farm states, which in recent preceding elections had gone strongly Republican, gave him the margin of victory.

No Longer Deferring

Since the impact of Korea upon President Truman he has shown a disposition to defer no longer to groups. At the time of the Korean outbreak there were under way actions by labor unions, which, if carried on, would have interfered with the country's industrial production and thereby impeded the war effort that the Korean outbreak made desperately imperative. This sort of thing Mr. Truman has recently shown a disposition to resent. On Aug. 23 a large union of railroad workers announced a strike to take place the following week. Mr. Truman, at his press conference Aug. 24, in a spirit of rebuke of the strike call, told newsmen that an hour before the call he had been assured by union spokesmen that the strike would not take place.

Consideration of labor unions as a special interest, if their demands include threat of interruption of industrial production, is made unthinkable by the war condition. It is likewise objectionable as a contribution to inflation. For the same reason that government practice of price support of farm crops, of buying immense quantities of food to take them off the market and thereby keep the prices up, is likewise made peculiarly objectionable now.

About all this, about the country's economy as a whole, President Truman is now to have personal responsibility; the economic control bill Congress passed conceded that the President should have power. He has defined the purpose of the economic powers as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices." What he will do with his power awaits his next address to the country, and, beyond that, the actual steps he takes.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Letter To Lee Pressman

My Dear Lee Pressman:

You will recall the Nye Committee and the LaFollette Committee.

You and your colleagues used the Nye Committee to get at the facts of American industry and to lessen this country's ability to defend itself. Most people do not remember the Nye Committee. It was one of the most scandalous performances in the American Congress, and Gerald Nye, a senator from North Dakota, was an innocent dupe. He could not possibly have known how he was being used by counsel and investigators for that committee, among whom was Alger Hiss.

Then there was the LaFollette Committee, which did a hatchet job on American industry. It set out to smear every defender of the American system of free enterprise. It did more than any other agency to destroy confidence, by falsehood, by half-truth, by innuendo, by distortion, in the American productive machine.

Your former friend, John Abt, was the counsel for that committee and Charles Kramer was its investigator. The data that the Nye Committee failed to get, the LaFollette Committee did get. In a word, the power and authority of Congress was employed by you and your colleagues to undermine, to malign, to break down confidence in the American industrial organization.

The National Labor Relations Act was passed by Congress. You know that you were one of its principal authors. You know that Senator Wagner did not write that act. You know who did write it.

Your former friend, Nathan Witt, was appointed counsel to the National Labor Relations Board. He ran that board. He used it to destroy whatever amicable relations existed between employers and employes in American industry.

Do you remember the strike at Republic Steel in Chicago? Is it true that Nathan Witt said to Tom Girdler: "When you take to me, you talk to the government of the United States," in so arrogant a manner that Tom Girdler correctly saw red? You recall that the Detroit strikes in the automobile industry need never have taken place; that Professor Leo Wolman of Columbia University had worked out a procedure for a peaceful correction of all the problems facing that industry. You know that that strike was organized zy the group that came into control of the Nye committee, the LaFollette Committee and the National Labor Relations Board.

You, yourself, became counsel for the CIO. Now, John L. Lewis is no communist and he has kept them out of the United Mine Workers. He did not load the CIO with communists in the administrative and organizational positions. You did.

You and Sidney Hillman used the early years of the CIO as your own private political arm. To what purpose? Sidney Hillman, as you know, was an ambitious, conniving politician with a pleasant, disarming facade.

I am reminding you of these things because when a man announces that he has had a change of heart, he must tell all. Conversion must be accompanied by confession.

I would welcome you into the company of red-baiters, if I trusted you, but I cannot trust you as long as you do not tell the whole truth of the interlocking counsel—Alger Hiss, John Abt, Nathan Witt, and Lee Pressman.

The Korean war has frightened you. Fear is no substitute for conversion. You must do better than that if you want to be believed.

Let me tell you what you ought to do:

1. Tell the entire story of the Harold Ware cell;

2. Tell the whole story of the Nye Committee and how much of the data was given to the communist party and Soviet Russia;

3. Tell the whole story of the LaFollette Committee and how it was used as a propaganda machine to stir up distrust of American industry;

4. Tell the story of how Nathan Witt and Edwin S. Smith came into control of the National Labor Relations Board;

5. Tell the story of the employment of communists in the administrative and organizational positions of the CIO.

You can do a job for your country if you tell what you know and open your files. If you do not do that kind of a job, many of us will always question the bona fides of your conversion.

Yours Sincerely,

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY.

Board Delays Rebuildng Of Williams Road

Awarding a contract for the rebuilding of one mile of Williams oad was tabled until the next eeting yesterday by the Board of legany County Commissioners to low for further financial study of e road program.

Morris M. Brodsky, assistant mptroller for the State Roads ommission, informed the board by tter that two Cumberland firms d on the project.

The Cumberland Contracting ompany was low bidder with 66,799.40, while the S. T. Brotearkle Company bid $172,273.85.

Brodsky declared the state estimated the job would cost $148,993.43, which is $17,785.97 under the low bid.

The SRC official stated the increase in the cost is slightly in excess of what might be termed as a satisfactory bid.

However, he added, the prices are received from representative Western Maryland contractors and these prices reflect a general increase in all labor and materials.

"It is our desire," he advised, "at this time for you to give concurrence to the low bidder."

Brodsky also attached a statement of fund requirements for road construction in the county. It shows the county will need $22,896.84, exclusive of rights-of-way costs on the Lower Town Creek Road and Williams Road, which have not as yet been determined, to complete three road projects.

"We would appreciate your comments as to the methods of financing the estimated amount required to complete the construction work indicated," he added.

The statement is:

Estimated costs of programmed projects—Mill Run Road, $87,787.65; Lower Town Creek Road, $47,003.38, and Williams Road, $191,819.31.

Estimated balance available for projects under the 1946-7-8 program, as per statement of July 31, $194,-630.12.

Preliminary costs advanced on three projects listed above, as per July 31—$12,319.44, for a total of $206,939.57.

Estimated funds to complete the 1950-51 program,—$119,670.77.

Additional funds required—$65,-818.93.

Less transfer of gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue funds, 1950 Federal aid program—$42,922.09.

A cascade bouquet of bouvardia and philadendrian with a white orchid center completes her costume.

Her attendants's gowns are all of satin made with portrait neckline, puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt with tiny drapes caught up with pearls. With them they are wearing matching moulded headdress edged with a roll of satin entwined with pearls; and carrying cascade bouquets of rubrum lilies with streamers contrasting with their gowns. The maid of honor's gown is light blue and her bouquet streamers, pink; while the bridesmaids are wearing pink and have blue streamers.

Mrs. Davis has chosen a pale gray pink suit with Navy accessories and a corsage of gladioli blossoms for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Hovatter is wearing a Navy costume and will have a corsage of white gladioli blossoms centered with red roses.

Lane Group Asks Board's Views

An invitation was extended yes- teday to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to confer on September 21 in the City Hall au- ditorium from 4 to 4:15 p. m. with Governor Lane's special commission on state unemployment and relief by Delegate Noel Speir Cook, a member of the 15-man commission.

Cook said others to be heard in- clude representatives from industry, labor, committees named for in- dustrial expansion, civic groups and municipal officials. Each group will be given 15 minutes.

The commission, he said, is study- ing unemployment and relief as re- lated problems in the state. It is examining particularly, though not exclusively, a works project pro- gram, as a condition of getting re- lief, at prevailing wage scales.

He pointed out that in the 1950 session of legislature, a bill was in- troduced to have employable appli- cants for financial assistance work for the aid. This measure proposal was referred to the Banking and Insurance Committee of the Gen- eral Assembly.

This commission, when it com- pletes its work, will report at the 1951 session of legislature, he stated.

On September 20, the commis- sion will visit Garrett County to get similar information from officials there.

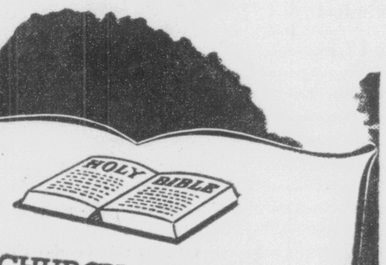
The House that CONVICTION BUILT

When many people have the same conviction about a thing, they usually get together. They become members of a party, or a society, or a congregation.

Every Sunday in the churches of our community many people get together. They have the same conviction about God — they worship together.

When they worship, they offer thanks, they ask help. They sing to express their happiness. They listen to enrich their minds with the truth that comes from God. And before they bow their heads to receive final benediction, they give such gifts as they can to their Lord's work.

All of us have need for worship—it is a part of human nature and the divine will of God. So for your greatest benefit and happiness, choose a Church in this community—attend its services and join in its work. Make it YOUR CHURCH.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The House that CONVICTION BUILT

When many people have the same conviction about a thing, they usually get together. They become members of a party, or a society, or a congregation.

Every Sunday in the churches of our community many people get together. They have the same conviction about God — they worship together.

When they worship, they offer thanks, they ask help. They sing to express their happiness. They listen to enrich their minds with the truth that comes from God. And before they bow their heads to receive final benediction, they give such gifts as they can to their Lord's work.

All of us have need for worship—it is a part of human nature and the divine will of God. So for your greatest benefit and happiness, choose a Church in this community—attend its services and join in its work. Make it YOUR CHURCH.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Scoring four times in the first quarter and adding single touchdowns in the next three, Romney, W. Va. High School's Pioneers opened the 1950 football season in Fort Hill stadium here last night by trouncing LaSalle High School's Explorers 47-13 before approximately 2,000 opening night fans.

Bob Petry, diminutive, hard running right halfback, was practically the entire show for the visitors, exploding for three touchdowns himself, two coming on runs of 64 and 56 yards. A fourth touchdown run of 69 yards by Petry was called back by the officials for a rules infraction by Romney.

Gain 382 Yards

The defending Class B champions from West Virginia showed explosive power in running up 291 yards rushing and 91 via the air lanes, capitalizing on every LaSalle mistake to add to their scoring total.

Three Explorer fumbles were converted into a like number of Pioneer tallies while a blocked LaSalle kick resulted in a fourth Romney score.

Romney scored the first four times it came into possession of the ball in the initial quarters, three times counting on the very first play from scrimmage after getting possession of the pigskin.

LaSalle was unable to show a conserted drive against the Pioneers although the Explorer attack, operating from the single wing, showed power in spots.

In the fourth period, after Romney had built up a 47-0 lead, LaSalle got moving against Blue and White substitutes and tallied twice in the final six minutes of play.

Arnone Goes Over

A 51-yard drive, sparked by the 46 yard romp of Bobby Arnone brought the Phil Carolyn-coached Explorers their first score midway in the final stanza with Arnone plunging over from the one.

On the last play from scrimmage in the game Jimmy Byrnes, substitute halfback for LaSalle, tossed a 16-yard aerial to Paul Ackerman in the end zone for LaSalle's second tally. Lou Fabbri plunged the point after the second score.

In addition to Petry's excellent running, Romney scored on George Baird's 35-yard pass to Bill Long, two short plunges by Jack Heavener and another Baird to Long aerial good for 17 yards.

Petry Gains 164 Yards

Petry picked up 164 yards rushing in 10 tries for Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers, an average of 16.4 yards per try besides having his 69 yard romp called back on an illegal lateral play.

In addition to Petry, Baird, Long, Orville Payne, Ken Parker and Art Deskins were Romney's outstanding players.

Arnone, Ackerman, Jim O'Rourke, Jim Byrnes and Earl McKenzie were LaSalle's best bets.

The game last night was played under the new stadium lighting system and although only half the lights were in operation lighting was very good. The lineups:

Saddler Is Feather Champ, Pep Dislocates Shoulder

Willie Quits In 8th After Assuming Lead, 35,000 Witness Bout

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Willie Pep, a disconsolate little figure, lost the featherweight championship of the world to Sandy Saddler at Yankee Stadium tonight as he sat on his stool between rounds with a dislocated shoulder.

Apparently on his way to a one-sided victory over the skinny-legged negro, the great little battler from Hartford, Conn., took a huge crowd of 35,000 completely by surprise when he failed to come up for the eighth round and Referee Ruby Goldstein raised Saddler's arm in token of victory.

Saddler thus regained the title he lost to Pep 19 months ago at Madison Square Garden after having previously dethroned Pep in October of 1948.

There was no hint that Pep was in difficulty when he returned to his corner after a rough seventh round. But he had no more than reached his stool when his manager, Lou Viscusi, beckoned Dr. Vincent Nardiello, official physician for the State Athletic Commission, into the ring. The doctor still was leaning over examining the stricken fighter when the bell rang for the eighth round. It will go into the record as an eight round knockout.

Up to the time of the unhappy ending, Pep had piled up a commanding margin on points. On this writer's scoreboard he had won 5 of the 7 rounds and dealt steady, stabbing punishment to the challenger.

Saddler's best round had been the third, when he dumped Pep to the floor with a hard left hook on the button. Pep stayed down for a nine count and came up to give better than he received for the remainder of the round. Saddler also earned the seventh round, but by a hair.

All the others had gone to Pep by handy margins, and it appeared to be only a question of whether his 28-year-old legs could carry him the remainder of the route at the stiff pace he was setting. He had left-jabbed Sandy into a partial state of bewilderment and had crossed a score of lusty lefts and rights to the negro's jaw.

Pep's handlers barred his dressing room to the press for some time after the fight ended, explaining that the veteran was in such intense pain he was in no condition to answer questions.

Green Lines Up Five Fights For Thursday Show

Matchmaker "Bobby" Green added three more matches to the amateur boxing card he plans to present on Thursday, September 14, at 8:15 p. m., at Penn Avenue Field.

C., Johnstown; Jake Koelker, Cumberland lightweight, will collide with Frank Spinnati, Johnstown , and Jack Evans, Cumberland, will trade punches with Junior Flanagan, Johnstown.

In the double windup, a pair of five-rounders, Joe Martino, Johnstown, will face Billy Mann, local middleweight, and Phil Christmas, negro bantam of Johnstown, will tangle with Bobby Goss of this city.

Matchmaker Green expects to add two more three-rounders to the program.

Phillies Halt Dodgers, Meyer Is 4-3 Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies halted their five-game losing streak tonight and boosted their National League lead back to 5½ games as Russ Meyer defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3.

Meyer, whose improvement could help make up for the departure of Curt Simmons to the army, allowed the Dodgers only six hits as he recorded his eighth win against 11 defeats.

The Phils gave him an early lead, jumping on Erv Palica for two first-inning runs on singles by Eddie Waitkus, Puddin'head Jones, Jack Mayo and Gran Hamner.

Meyer never lost the advantage, although Duke Snider made it close by clouting his 25th homerun after Peewee Reese had walked.

Tigers Grab 2-0 Lead In Series

Three Homers Sink Little Red Sox, 8-3

Living up to their reputation of sluggers, the Tigers scored seven of their eight runs on circuit drives last night to make it two straight over the Red Sox in the championship series of the Little Baseball League at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 8-3.

Jerry Landis and Bobby Lewis each hit four-baggers with one aboard and "Mac" McGann hammered a round-tripper with two on to feature the Tigers' nine-hit assault.

While Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's sluggers were teeing off, Bobby Lewis was turning back the Red Sox with four singles while fanning an even dozen. He issued three bases on balls. Billmeyer went the route for the Sox and fanned five and walked one.

The Tigers can wrap up the championship on Monday when they tackle the Red Sox at Penn Avenue Field at 7:45 o'clock in the third game of the best-of-five series. The Tigers took the opener on Monday, 25-7. Last night's score:

RED SOX	001 020—3	4	1
TIGERS	232 01x—8	9	0

Moorefield Is Opponent Of Fort Hill At Stadium

1949 City Champs Seek 9th Straight Victory In Opener

Coach William P. Hahn's Fort Hill High School Sentinels will open their football campaign tonight when they do battle with Coach Jonathan Paugh's Yellow Jackets of Moorefield High School at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

It will mark the fourth meeting of the Sentinels and the Jackets on the gridiron and the score stands 3-0 in favor of the Hilltoppers. Starting with the 1947 season the schools have met annually and the scores were 27-14, 34-0 and 48-6 in favor of the Hahnmen.

Coach Hahn starts his 6th season as head man at Fort Hill. His past five teams of 1942, 1946, 1947, 1948 and 1949 have won 39, lost four and tied four.

Fort Hill won the city championship on last Thanksgiving Day, bagging its last eight games of the 1949 season from Keyser, Calvin Coolidge (Washington), Martinsburg, LaSalle, Ridgeley, Bedford, Hagerstown and Allegany and amassing 299 points in those contests.

Parsons High School's Panthers lost a hard-fought 13 to 6 decision to Victory High School in the opening game of the grid season on Thursday night.

Victory took a 13-0 lead in the first half and Parsons staged a sensational aerial attack in the final stanza to drive 72 yards for its touchdown.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Scoring four times in the first quarter and adding single touchdowns in the next three, Romney, W. Va. High School's Pioneers opened the 1950 football season in Fort Hill stadium here last night by trouncing LaSalle High School's Explorers 47-13 before approximately 2,000 opening night fans.

Bob Petry, diminutive, hard running right halfback, was practically the entire show for the visitors, exploding for three touchdowns himself, two coming on runs of 64 and 56 yards. A fourth touchdown run of 69 yards by Petry was called back by the officials for a rules infraction by Romney.

Gain 382 Yards

The defending Class B champions from West Virginia showed explosive power in running up 291 yards rushing and 91 via the air lanes, capitalizing on every LaSalle mistake to add to their scoring total.

Three Explorer fumbles were converted into a like number of Pioneer tallies while a blocked LaSalle kick resulted in a fourth Romney score.

Romney scored the first four times it came into possession of the ball in the initial quarters, three times counting on the very first play from scrimmage after getting possession of the pigskin.

LaSalle was unable to show a conserted drive against the Pioneers although the Explorer attack, operating from the single wing, showed power in spots.

In the fourth period, after Romney had built up a 47-0 lead, LaSalle got moving against Blue and White substitutes and tallied twice in the final six minutes of play.

Arnone Goes Over

A 51-yard drive, sparked by the 46 yard romp of Bobby Arnone brought the Phil Carolyn-coached Explorers their first score midway in the final stanza with Arnone plunging over from the one.

On the last play from scrimmage in the game Jimmy Byrnes, substitute halfback for LaSalle, tossed a 16-yard aerial to Paul Ackerman in the end zone for LaSalle's second tally. Lou Fabbri plunged the point after the second score.

In addition to Petry's excellent running, Romney scored on George Baird's 35-yard pass to Bill Long, two short plunges by Jack Heavener and another Baird to Long aerial good for 17 yards.

Petry Gains 164 Yards

Petry picked up 164 yards rushing in 10 tries for Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers, an average of 16.4 yards per try besides having his 69 yard romp called back on an illegal lateral play.

In addition to Petry, Baird, Long, Orville Payne, Ken Parker and Art Deskins were Romney's outstanding players.

Arnone, Ackerman, Jim O'Rourke, Jim Byrnes and Earl McKenzie were LaSalle's best bets.

The game last night was played under the new stadium lighting system and although only half the lights were in operation lighting was very good. The lineups:

Saddler Is Feather Champ, Pep Dislocates Shoulder

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Willie Pep, a disconsolate little figure, lost the featherweight championship of the world to Sandy Saddler at Yankee Stadium tonight as he sat on his stool between rounds with a dislocated shoulder.

Apparently on his way to a one-sided victory over the skinny-legged negro, the great little battler from Hartford, Conn., took a huge crowd of 35,000 completely by surprise when he failed to come up for the eighth round and Referee Ruby Goldstein raised Saddler's arm in token of victory.

Saddler thus regained the title he lost to Pep 19 months ago at Madison Square Garden after having previously dethroned Pep in October of 1948.

There was no hint that Pep was in difficulty when he returned to his corner after a rough seventh round. But he had no more than reached his stool when his manager, Lou Viscusi, beckoned Dr. Vincent Nardiello, official physician for the State Athletic Commission, into the ring. The doctor still was leaning over examining the stricken fighter when the bell rang for the eighth round. It will go into the record as an eight round knockout.

Up to the time of the unhappy ending, Pep had piled up a commanding margin on points. On this writer's scoreboard he had won 5 of the 7 rounds and dealt steady, stabbing punishment to the challenger.

Saddler's best round had been the third, when he dumped Pep to the floor with a hard left hook on the button. Pep stayed down for a nine count and came up to give better than he received for the remainder of the round. Saddler also earned the seventh round, but by a hair.

All the others had gone to Pep by handy margins, and it appeared to be only a question of whether his 28-year-old legs could carry him the remainder of the route at the stiff pace he was setting. He had left-jabbed Sandy into a partial state of bewilderment and had crossed a score of lusty lefts and rights to the negro's jaw.

Pep's handlers barred his dressing room to the press for some time after the fight ended, explaining that the veteran was in such intense pain he was in no condition to answer questions.

Phillies Halt Dodgers, Meyer Is 4-3 Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies halted their five-game losing streak tonight and boosted their National League lead back to 5½ games as Russ Meyer defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3.

Meyer, whose improvement could help make up for the departure of Curt Simmons to the army, allowed the Dodgers only six hits as he recorded his eighth win against 11 defeats.

The Phils gave him an early lead, jumping on Erv Palica for two first-inning runs on singles by Eddie Waitkus, Puddin'head Jones, Jack Mayo and Gran Hamner.

Meyer never lost the advantage, although Duke Snider made it close by clouting his 25th homerun after Peewee Reese had walked.

Tigers Grab 2-0 Lead In Series

Three Homers Sink Little Red Sox, 8-3

Living up to their reputation of sluggers, the Tigers scored seven of their eight runs on circuit drives last night to make it two straight over the Red Sox in the championship series of the Little Baseball League at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 8-3.

Jerry Landis and Bobby Lewis each hit four-baggers with one aboard and "Mac" McGann hammered a round-tripper with two on to feature the Tigers' nine-hit assault.

While Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's sluggers were teeing off, Bobby Lewis was turning back the Red Sox with four singles while fanning an even dozen. He issued three bases on balls. Billmeyer went the route for the Sox and fanned five and walked one.

The Tigers can wrap up the championship on Monday when they tackle the Red Sox at Penn Avenue Field at 7:45 o'clock in the third game of the best-of-five series. The Tigers took the opener on Monday, 25-7. Last night's score:

Braves Defeat Jim Hearn, 4-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Tommy Holmes' home run, his seventh of the year, was the decisive blow today as the Boston Braves defeated the New York Giants again. This time the score was 4 to 3. It was the thirteenth triumph for the Braves over the Giants in 18 games.

Holmes' blow, off Big Jim Hearn, came in the seventh and found Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon on base. Both had walked. The defeat was the second for Hearn since joining the Giants in July. He has won eight since then. Both of Hearn's defeats have been by the Braves.

The Giants were completely baffled by Warren Spahn until the eighth when they got all their runs. Two walks and three singles ruined the southpaw's shut out. It was his 18th win. Box:

KEYSER, Sept. 8 (AP)—Rallying for two touchdowns in the final half, Keyser High School came from behind to defeat the Alumpi in the 1950 football lid-lifter here today by the score of 14-8.

Keyser spotted the grads eight points on a touchdown and safety in the second period was unable to muster a scoring punch until the third stanza.

The Alumni scored a safety in the third stanza when Ralph Shoemaker was tackled in the end zone after the schoolboy eleven had gained possession of the ball deep in Alumni territory when Bob "Cowboy" Ryan intercepted Bob Broome's pass intended for William "Pickle" Jones.

Later in the same period the grads scored a touchdown when Grubbs snared Broome's pass in the end zone. A pass for the extra point failed.

With Paul Emery sparking the attack, Keyser came back with a vengeance in the third stanza to register its first td. The drive started after KHS held the Alumni for downs on Keyser's 39. Emery got loose for five nice runs during the march, one being good 15 and another for 10, which produced the six-pointer. Joe Swisher passed to Kenneth Lee for the point.

Swisher played an outstanding role in Keyser's final touchdown drive. He passed to Lee and Alkire for gains of 9 and 10 yards, and then picked up 11 yards on running plays. The winning score came midway in the 4th stanza when Shoemaker scooted over from the three. Woodworth ran the extra point.

Braves Defeat Jim Hearn, 4-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Tommy Holmes' home run, his seventh of the year, was the decisive blow today as the Boston Braves defeated the New York Giants again. This time the score was 4 to 3. It was the thirteenth triumph for the Braves over the Giants in 18 games.

Holmes' blow, off Big Jim Hearn, came in the seventh and found Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon on base. Both had walked. The defeat was the second for Hearn since joining the Giants in July. He has won eight since then. Both of Hearn's defeats have been by the Braves.

The Giants were completely baffled by Warren Spahn until the eighth when they got all their runs. Two walks and three singles ruined the southpaw's shut out. It was his 18th win. Box:

KEYSER, Sept. 8 (AP)—Rallying for two touchdowns in the final half, Keyser High School came from behind to defeat the Alumni in the 1950 football lid-lifter here today by the score of 14-8.

Keyser spotted the grads eight points on a touchdown and safety in the second period was unable to muster a scoring punch until the third stanza.

The Alumni scored a safety in the third stanza when Ralph Shoemaker was tackled in the end zone after the schoolboy eleven had gained possession of the ball deep in Alumni territory when Bob "Cowboy" Ryan intercepted Bob Broome's pass intended for William "Pickle" Jones.

Later in the same period the grads scored a touchdown when Grubbs snared Broome's pass in the end zone. A pass for the extra point ailed.

With Paul Emery sparking the attack, Keyser came back with a vengeance in the third stanza to register its first td. The drive started after KHS held the Alumni for downs on Keyser's 39. Emery got loose for five nice runs during the march, one being good 15 and another for 10, which produced the six-pointer. Joe Swisher passed to Kenneth Lee for the point.

Swisher played an outstanding role in Keyser's final touchdown drive. He passed to Lee and Alkire for gains of 9 and 10 yards, and then picked up 11 yards on running plays. The winning score came midway in the 4th stanza when Shoemaker scooted over from the three. Woodworth ran the extra point.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—(INS)—Before Deanna Durbin marries Charles David in Paris this winter, see if she doesn't take a fling on the London stage in Aleen Leslie's new play—Untitled.

Deanna Durbin

When Bert Allenberg went to Paris, he brought the play for Deanna to read and the likes the sophisticated comedy which gives her a chance to sing.

Bert reports Deanna as slimmed down, chic in her Paris clothes, and very much in love. There's little chance of her returning to Hollywood, at least as long as her husband continues an an executive producer for Paris Pathe.

Constance (so beautiful) Moore gets more than the usual opening night thrill when she debuts at the Cocoanut Grove Tuesday night.

For the first time in the history of the armed forces radio service, they are going to beam a night club opening show to our fighting men over the world.

In other words, service men in Germany, Korea, or wherever they may be, will be ringsiders at a typical Hollywood first night and will hear from all the celebrities who will be there to welcome Constance.

Hollywood in shorts: Robert Cummings nearly fainted when he went to the Egyptian to see himself in "Petty Girl" and a sidewalk fan yelled, "hey, kids—the petty boy!" . . . Betty Hutton's nails are the reddest in Chicago. She's introducing Helen Neushaefer's new nail polish, "Treasure Island red" and is it red! . . . Dan Dailey was a one-man riot at the Turf Writers Dinner at Del Mar and Lillian Roth got a new job out of it. Sanford Adler thought her so terrif he signed her right after her number for a week at his Cal-Neva Lodge . . . Betty Hutton and Esther Williams co-hostess a chuck wagon shindig for their visually handicapped children charity fund at the Beverly Hills Hotel September 24. Invited guests (only!) get in on the fun for a mere deductible $12.50 per plate. Come Hollywood—give big! . . . Lou Costello, of all things, gained weight on his gruelling European tour with Bud Abbott and looks better than he has in years.

First it was Lucille Ball, then Shirley Temple, who backed Keenan Wynn into a corner and gave him a blast royal for not visiting his "poor brother, sick and lonely in Birmingham Hospital."

Before "poor" Keenan can get out a "whatt?" Shirley and Lucille have told the same story about picking up a veteran bearing a striking resemblance to Keenan, and giving him a lift from the Valley.

The boy always tells the same story. His brother (Keenan) and his father (Ed) will have nothing to do with him, not even visit him. So widely has this story circulated that Keenan (only son of Ed, with no brothers or sisters) investigated.

There is little that can be done. The boy is perfectly normal except for this one delusion.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gladys O'Brien isn't letting Don Sylvio's presence in New York cancel her trip there with Margaret in 10 days. All's calm since the divorce.

Lew Ayres and Yvonne De Carlo dining so quietly at Saddle and Sirloin they barely spoke.

Vivien Leigh sings for the first time in "Streetcar Named Desire" when she gives with "It Was Only A Paper Moon". You expected "The Trolley Song"?

Arthur Kennedy, the blind veteran in "Lights Out", brought back a pack of braille gin rummy cards from Valley Forge Hospital in Philly.

The first and only strapless fur evening gown will be modeled by Ruth Roman for a fashion mag. Hope it's the last.

The Boston Back Bay Bachelors voted Kirk Douglas the ideal American bachelor of 1950. Bet he doesn't hold out that long as a bachelor, I mean. Not the way he's looking at Irene Wrightsman.

Joan Crawford took her kids to the ice follies and so did Jane Wyman. Agreeing that the show is more glittering than ever—Jeanne Crain and Paul Brinkman, the Van Heflins, Wald and Krasna, and Loretta Young and Tom Lewis.

That's all today. Your favorite Hollywood reporter, and mine, Louella Parsons will see you Monday.

Brethren Parsonage To Be Dedicated

The new parsonage of the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren will be dedicated Sunday at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Jesse W. Whitacre, elder, delivering the dedicatory address.

An estimated $2,000 was saved by the volunteer labor donated by the members of the church. The parsonage was begun April 5, and Rev. Vernon R. Beckman, pastor, moved into the new quarters July 8. A. E. Shanholtz was chairman of the working crews.

Located beside the church, the new parsonage is one-and-a-half stories high, with six rooms and a basement garage. It is valued at $5,000.

Open house will be observed following the dedication program and refreshments will be served by the women of the church.

Two Youths Admit Ransacking Cars

Quentin Murphy, 20, Washington, and Lloyd Hopkins, whose age was given variously as 16 and 19, Los Angeles, picked up a few days ago by New Jersey State Police, have admitted ransacking two cars on August 31 in front of Big Savage Inn on Route 40.

Approximately $1,900 worth of war bonds and clothing were taken, and Garrett County Sheriff Juniper Teats left yesterday for Pleasantville, N. J., to return the youths for a hearing in Oakland.

Series "E" Bonds of various denominations and two insurance policies were taken from the glove compartment of the car, belonging to Mrs. Irene G. Lillie, Silver Spring.

would be a suitable memorial to war heroes.

"I cannot give Mr. Peddicord credit for starting the idea," Governor Lane said. "It has long been my purpose to name in their memory the most dramatic structure, the Chesapeake bay bridge."

Introduced among the Democrats was Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, former mayor of Baltimore who is the only Republican candidate and faces no primary contest.

McKeldin said he is unable to state his position on many questions at this time because it will depend on the platform adopted by the Republican state convention after the Primary.

He referred the women to his "record of bringing things up to date" while he was mayor from 1943 to 1947.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—(INS)—Before Deanna Durbin marries Charles David in Paris this winter, see if she doesn't take a fling on the London stage in Aleen Leslie's new play—Untitled.

Deanna Durbin

When Bert Allenberg went to Paris, he brought the play for Deanna to read and the likes the sophisticated comedy which gives her a chance to sing.

Bert reports Deanna as slimmed down, chic in her Paris clothes, and very much in love. There's little chance of her returning to Hollywood, at least as long as her husband continues an an executive producer for Paris Pathe.

Constance (so beautiful) Moore gets more than the usual opening night thrill when she debuts at the Cocoanut Grove Tuesday night.

For the first time in the history of the armed forces radio service, they are going to beam a night club opening show to our fighting men over the world.

In other words, service men in Germany, Korea, or wherever they may be, will be ringsiders at a typical Hollywood first night and will hear from all the celebrities who will be there to welcome Constance.

Hollywood in shorts: Robert Cummings nearly fainted when he went to the Egyptian to see himself in "Petty Girl" and a sidewalk fan yelled, "hey, kids—the petty boy!" . . . Betty Hutton's nails are the reddest in Chicago. She's introducing Helen Neushaefer's new nail polish, "Treasure Island red" and is it red! . . . Dan Dailey was a one-man riot at the Turf Writers Dinner at Del Mar and Lillian Roth got a new job out of it. Sanford Adler thought her so terrif he signed her right after her number for a week at his Cal-Neva Lodge . . . Betty Hutton and Esther Williams co-hostess a chuck wagon shindig for their visually handicapped children charity fund at the Beverly Hills Hotel September 24. Invited guests (only!) get in on the fun for a mere deductible $12.50 per plate. Come Hollywood—give big! . . . Lou Costello, of all things, gained weight on his gruelling European tour with Bud Abbott and looks better than he has in years.

• — • — •

First it was Lucille Ball, then Shirley Temple, who backed Keenan Wynn into a corner and gave him a blast royal for not visiting his "poor brother, sick and lonely in Birmingham Hospital."

Before "poor" Keenan can get out a "whatt?" Shirley and Lucille have told the same story about picking up a veteran bearing a striking resemblance to Keenan, and giving him a lift from the Valley.

The boy always tells the same story. His brother (Keenan) and his father (Ed) will have nothing to do with him, not even visit him. So widely has this story circulated that Keenan (only son of Ed, with no brothers or sisters) investigated.

There is little that can be done. The boy is perfectly normal except for this one delusion.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gladys O'Brien isn't letting Don Sylvio's presence in New York cancel her trip there with Margaret in 10 days. All's calm since the divorce.

Lew Ayres and Yvonne De Carlo dining so quietly at Saddle and Sirloin they barely spoke.

Vivien Leigh sings for the first time in "Streetcar Named Desire" when she gives with "It Was Only A Paper Moon". You expected "The Trolley Song"?

Arthur Kennedy, the blind veteran in "Lights Out", brought back a pack of braille gin rummy cards from Valley Forge Hospital in Philly.

The first and only strapless fur evening gown will be modeled by Ruth Roman for a fashion mag. Hope it's the last.

The Boston Back Bay Bachelors voted Kirk Douglas the ideal American bachelor of 1950. Bet he doesn't hold out that long as a bachelor, I mean. Not the way he's looking at Irene Wrightsman.

Joan Crawford took her kids to the ice follies and so did Jane Wyman. Agreeing that the show is more glittering than ever—Jeanne Crain and Paul Brinkman, the Van Heflins, Wald and Krasna, and Loretta Young and Tom Lewis.

That's all today. Your favorite Hollywood reporter, and mine, Louella Parsons will see you Monday.

Brethren Parsonage To Be Dedicated

The new parsonage of the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren will be dedicated Sunday at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Jesse W. Whitacre, elder, delivering the dedicatory address.

An estimated $2,000 was saved by the volunteer labor donated by the members of the church. The parsonage was begun April 5, and Rev. Vernon R. Beckman, pastor, moved into the new quarters July 8. A. E. Shanholtz was chairman of the working crews.

Located beside the church, the new parsonage is one-and-a-half stories high, with six rooms and a basement garage. It is valued at $5,000.

Open house will be observed following the dedication program and refreshments will be served by the women of the church.

Record Student Body At Four Garrett Schools

Oakland Has Two New Classrooms

OAKLAND—Garrett County schools opened Wednesday with record enrollments in four of the five high schools. This was occasioned mainly by the fact that 8th graders had been added, making the first year of the full 12-grade system. Seventh graders still remained in the elementary schools.

Oakland High School had an enrollment of 676 with at least 37 late entrants expected within the next few days. The maximum last year was 600.

In order to take care of the increased enrollment another home room and classroom were added in the home economics building. A three-car garage has been converted into a classroom. Grayson S. Burrier, principal, said that Due to the enrollment, physical education, art and other electives will necessarily not be available for many of the students.

There are 32 members of the faculty. There were 331 boys registered in comparison to 345 girls. The classes were, seniors, 84; juniors, 103; 10th graders, 132; 9th graders, 158; 8th graders, 199, total 676.

At Oakland Elementary school there were 493 enrolled with at least 20 more expected. School lunches began there the first day. Joseph Sollars, principal, said the enrollment showed 66 in the first grade, 79 in second, 68 in third, 59 in fourth, 48 in fifth, 81 in sixth, and 82 in seventh.

Friendsville's principal, Wilbur J. Glenn reported an enrollment of 206 in high school and 304 in elementary. The school has arranged to use two additional rooms in a downtown building for the 5th and 6th grades.

Grantsville reported an enrollment of 304 in the high school with 35 more expected, and 310 in the elementary with 5 more expected. Marshall Brown, principal, said he had arranged for an additional elementary classroom in a neighboring house.

Accident's figures were not available. Kitzmiller's expected enrollment was 173 in high and 125 in elementary, but only a few had reported.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Lillian Stewart Blackstone, Silver Spring, was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, South Water Street, and other Frostburg relatives.

Mrs. Rena Mayer, 102 Maple Street, returned from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where she attended the funeral of her cousin, James Weston.

Enrolls 49 Students

LONACONING — Detmold elementary school has 28 boys and 21 girls, a total of 49 students enrolled for the first week of school.

This is 19 less than last September.

City Playground Group Unable To Hold Meetings

Can't Get Quorum; Contest Up In Air

A meeting of the City Playground Association has been called for next Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium by John H. Kington, president, "in a final effort to keep the organization from falling apart."

Kington said last night that the last six meetings have been so poorly attended it was impossible to conduct any business because a quorum was not present.

The summer months represent the busiest time for all playground groups, Kington said he realizes, and many of the people who represent their playgrounds or organizations on the association are the most active in their particular groups. However, he commented, the association task of coordination and keeping city-wide interest alive is as important in the summer months as in the winter, if not more so.

Last spring, the Playground Association, at the request of the City Recreation Department, inaugurated a play lot or home playground campaign. Kington said the contest was open to all residents interested in building play lots to help keep children off the streets, to provide wholesome activity for them and to more especially provide places for smaller children.

The contest closed August 25, Kington explained, with only three residents registered as building playlots and interested in the program.

Kington said he feels that the lack of interest in the playground association as evidenced by failure to attend meetings, the lack of greater assistance from the City Recreation Department, and the general lack of civic pride and interest in community betterment is reflected in the fact that only three residents showed enough interest to build play lots and notify the City Recreation Department.

The task of judging the lots registered has not been completed because he has not had a quorum at his meetings, Kington said, and he claims he is at a loss to know what to do about the situation until he can get enough people at a meeting to decide.

Youth Commission Considers Program

Republicans Lead In Registration

OAKLAND — Reports from nine of the 25 precincts of Garrett County indicate a heavy registration throughout the county last Tuesday with Republicans maintaining a two to one majority.

The nine places reporting showed 375 Republicans registered compared to 183 Democrats.

Unofficial figures showed: Friendsville, 71 Republicans and 54 Democrats; Sang Run, 32 and 12; Oakland districts, 34 and 14, 47 and 16, 41 and 18, 61 and 21. Crellin showed 56 and 11, while Mt. Lake Park showed 73 and 37.

There will be two more registration days following the primary election. Official figures on the entire county will be available after that time from the office of the board of supervisors of elections.

Rosh Hashanah Services Are Planned Here

Jewish New Year Observance Set

Impressive services will be held here next week to celebrate Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year.

The "10 solemn days" of the Jewish New Year will begin Monday evening, September 11, and end Thursday evening, September 21.

At Beth Jacob Congregation, 418 North Centre, the first two days, next Tuesday and Wednesday, will be observed as New Year, ushering in the year 5711.

The services will be held Monday, September 11, at 7:15 p. m. and will be continued Tuesday at 7:30 a. m., Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. and end Wednesday at 7:30 a. m.

At B'er Chayim Congregation, South Centre and Union Streets, Rosh Hashannah services will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. and Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Members of all faiths are invited to attend the services.

Dr. Jossef Kratzenstein, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation, said the New Year opens a sacred period known as the 10 days of penitence, so called from the special duty to which we are consecrated.

Tradition, he added, has clothed the two New Year days with special sanctity. It is the time of atonement, since, with the New Year, a new time and a new life begins.

The main topic of the New Year's prayers, Dr. Kratzenstein said, is "peace on earth by love to God and service to humanity.

"We pray that the coming year may be a year in which God's spirit will fill the hearts of men and this country prosper in all its worthy endeavors.

"We face the uncertainty of a hidden future and need broad vision, deeper courage and stronger faith for the days that lie ahead of us."

The promised clouds and late afternoon scattered showers did not come yesterday so the weatherman predicts the same for today. The late night reading was 63.

Lonaconing Mill Strike Continues

Members of the Lonaconing Sublocal of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night rejected a proposal of the General Textile Mill and voted to continue the strike which opened there August 30.

Earl L. Snyder, union president, said the offer rejected by the 120 workers raised the guarantee but retained the incentive plan.

He said the workers have not changed in their opposition to the incentive plan. The employes, he explained, insist that variations in yarn can adversely affect earnings.

The union said negotiations will be continued with the company in an attempt to reach a satisfactory agreement.

In a new contract signed May 7, an incentive plan was placed into effect on a 60-day trial basis.

Spring Grove Patients Moved From Old Barn

Mahoney Makes Issue Of Institution

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP) — A rickety old barn at Spring Grove State Hospital, partly burned away, became an issue today in the primary election contest between Governor Lane and George P. Mahoney.

As the result, five patients at the mental institution on the west outskirts of Baltimore, were moved out of the barn into a regular ward.

Dr. Isador Tuerke, acting superintendent at Spring Grove, indicated the five are probably going to be unhappy about it. He explained that their special quarters are much envied by other patients.

Dr. Tuerke ordered them returned to wards because there "is some possibility of a fire."

Mahoney, who seeks to wrest the Democratic gubernatorial nomination from Lane, charged yesterday that letting the patients sleep in the charred old barn endangered their health and safety.

The dairy barn was equipped with sleeping quarters for nine when it was built in 1914. The quarters have lights and plumbing. The walls and ceilings are plastered.

Five patients have lived there for 11 years now.

Their condition, Dr. Tuerke said, is such that they need not be confined. They have earned special privileges. One of the privileges is the freedom of movement they have living in the barn.

About 18 months ago one end of the barn burned. The fire did not get to the living quarters in the opposite end but they were damaged by water. The five patients had to be moved into regular wards while repairs were made.

Dr. Tuerke said they resented having to leave the barn then.

"Physical illness is rare among them," he reported.

Governor Lane did not comment immediately about the situation.

Mahoney, when told that Dr. Tuerke had ordered the patients moved, said he wanted to congradulate the superintendent for "having the courage to give the facts."

"Governor Lane will probably hit the ceiling when he finds out one of his superintendents has told the truth," Mahoney added.

"When lives are involved, we ought to steer clear of politics."

Revival Planned

A homecoming revival service will be held at Oakdale Methodist Church every night next week beginning Monday at 8 o'clock. Rev. Gordon Hall, pastor of the Union Grove charge, will be the evangelist for these meetings, according to Rev. J. B. Heavener, pastor.

Lane Proposes Bay Bridge As War Memorial

Five Candidates Address Women

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane said today he proposes to name the state's big bridge across Chesapeake Bay in honor of Maryland war heroes and veterans.

"That has long been my purpose," he told a luncheon of the League of Women Voters.

His statement came after another candidate for governor in the Sept. 18 primaries charged him with being unfair to Gold Star Mothers because he had failed to appoint a War Memorial Commission.

Five candidates for governor appeared at the luncheon to make short speeches.

George P. Mahoney, the governor's principal opponent for the Democratic nomination, charged the Lane administration is a ring of political bosses.

He cited E. Brooke Lee in Montgomery county, William C. Walsh in Western Maryland and James H. (Jack) Pollack in Baltimore as among those who "dictate to the present administration."

"If I am elected governor," declared Mahoney, "I will be a free governor. I won't have people of that sort dictating to me."

Governor Lane said his administration has been responsible for great strides in the fields of public education, highway construction and the care of the mentally and physically ill.

"If we are to preserve our way of life," he said, "we must continue to provide decent things and not lose our willingness to help those in trouble."

Herbert Larrabee, retired naval officer from Glen Burnie, declared he has spent 26 years trying to preserve the principles of Democracy. He charged the state has been derelict in the treatment of its veterans. He urged that voters "throw the political machine and the bosses overboard" and institute "a government for the people and by the people."

Stephen Peddicord, Baltimore's perennial candidate for some office or other, voiced the charge that Lane has been unfair to the mothers of Maryland's war dead. He referred to the governor's long delay in appointing a War Memorial Commission authorized by the General Assembly.

Larrabee and Peddicord also are candidates for the Democratic nomination. A fifth, Harry Kemper, Baltimore grocer, wasn't there.

Peddicord said he thought the bay bridge, now under construction and due for completion late next year,

The course is held under the sponsorship and direction of the Glenn L. Martin College of Engineering and Aeronautical Sciences.

Classes in pump operations, hose and ladder evolutions, inspection, and fire department administration were included.

A total of 210 Maryland firemen from volunteer and paid companies enrolled in this year's short course. All men completing the courses were given certificates from the University of Maryland Fire Service Extension.

The course is designed to coordinate teachings in the extension courses which have been held regularly for the past couple of years throughout the winter months in this and other counties.

Three courses are available to all fire companies including basic, advanced and specialized classes. The university provides the instructors without cost to the local fire companies.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Maryland will have to supply 1,013 men in November for the military draft, its biggest quota so far, Selective Service headquarters announced today.

Maryland's total quota for the first three months since reactivation of the draft is 2,487. This month's call is for 735 and 739 for October.

Col. H. C. Stanwood, state draft director, said no one under 23 years old has been inducted yet. But he said 21-year-olds are being called now for pre-induction physical examinations.

Zoning Permit To Be Argued Next Thursday

Court Visits Shop Near Oldtown Road

A court case involving a city occupancy permit for a sheet metal shop in the Michigan Avenue section began in Circuit Court yesterday and attorneys will argue the issues before Associate Judge George Henderson next Thursday.

The case was filed by Maurice E. Taylor, 1100 Kentucky Avenue, and others against the Board of Zoning Appeals which granted the permit. John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, who obtained the permit and operates the metal shop, is entered in the case as an intervenor. His attorney is William C. Walsh assisted by Leslie J. Clark, while Thomas Lohr Richards represents the residents of the area.

After testimony was taken yesterday, Judge Henderson called a recess and together with counsel visited the shop in question.

The background shows that in October, 1949, Twigg applied at the city engineer's office to build the structure on Michigan Avenue for use as a garage and for storage purposes and the permit was granted.

This building, it is pointed out, is located just across an alley from a structure facing Oldtown Road where Twigg operated a shop since 1944, prior to the passing of the city zoning ordinance.

However, the ordinance sets the dividing line between the business district on Oldtown Road and Michigan Avenue as the alley previously mentioned.

The residents of the area, who complained of the noise from the new shop, then protested on April 27 to the Board of Zoning Appeals to have the permit disallowed.

The board, after further study, allowed the permit on May 16 and the court case was filed later.

No Date Is Set For Kitzmiller School Meeting

Attendance Drops To 31 Yesterday

Plans have not yet been completed for a conference requested by a Kitzmiller committee on problems which led to a strike of students at the Kitzmiller School Wednesday, an official of the Garrett County Board of Education disclosed last night.

Absenteeism at the school, with an anticipated enrollment of 300, had dropped from 34 to 31 yesterday.

Parents of students of the Kitzmiller, Shallmar and Vindex areas are refusing to permit their children to attend school in protest of a proposed consolidated school problem that would require transportation of high school students to Oakland.

Shortly after the walkout Wednesday, a committee from the Kitzmiller area sent a telegram to R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools, saying children of the community would remain at home until he met with the committee.

In reply, Hardesty wired that the president of the board, Walter W. Dawson, and he would be glad to meet with the committee in the Board's office and at the committee's convenience. The wire suggested that arrangements be made by phone.

Such arrangements had not been made last night.

The consolidation program for Garrett County is set up in Chapter 575, Acts of the eGneral Assembly 1947. It is provided that all buildings are to be erected by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and an advisory committee.

These two groups decided on two high schools—one to be located in the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland area for 1050 students and the other at The Cove.

Superintendent of Schools Hardesty, in a statement yesterday said: "The groups also decided that the elementary centers at Accident, Kitzmiller, Grantsville and Friendsville be remodeled, modernized and improved. An architect is now at work on these plans."

Area Sailor Held In Assault

LEONARDTOWN, Sept. 8 (AP) — Addison Combs, 26-year-old sailor of near Cumberland, was ordered held for grand jury action today on charges he assaulted a 22-year-old waitress.

Combs, married and the father of two children, is stationed at the Navy's Patuxent River Air Station. He was arrested Tuesday at the Navy Base Veterans Club.

She said Combs came into the club about noon Tuesday when she was the only one there, followed her into a rest room, and attempted to rape her.

Combs took the stand and denied it. There was much conflicting testimony. Combs said he drank beer in the club and had a long conversation with the waitress.

William Parthe, another sailor, said he came into the club and heard a scuffle in the rest room. Miss Hill emerged in a few moments, in hysterics, he said.

Combs was ordered to the St. Mary's county jail.

X-Ray Survey Results Received

Results from the recent mass X-ray program in Allegany County are being received here, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

A number of the 8,837 who were checked in the survey are being asked to contact their physicians, or the health department if they cannot afford private treatment, in connection with the X-ray pictures taken at the survey.

Last year, some 300 persons of the over 6,000 who participated in the survey, were asked to have follow-up X-rays taken. Less than seven were found to be suffering from tuberculosis.

Some of the reasons for a check up of the results of the survey are evidence of any lung disorder, enlarged heart, shadows on the film, suspicion of TB or bad negative.

John Robert Powers Gives Diet Ideas Starting Monday

John Robert Powers, nationally famous counsellor of women, will reveal his new and unusual diet plan beginning Monday in SECRETS OF CHARM, the popular Cumberland News column for women.

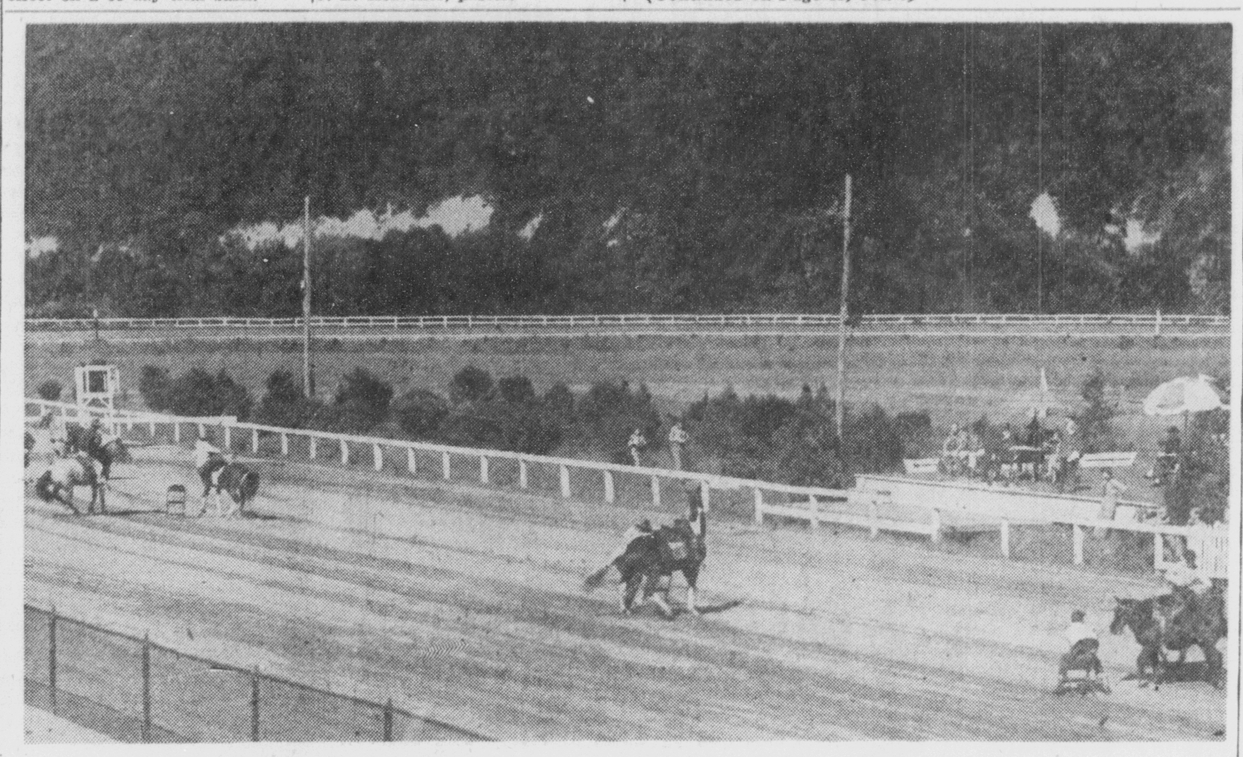
Powers

In a world full of diets and dieters, the Powers Beauty Diet is unique in its simplicity, its effectiveness and in being easy on the rest of the family. Powers makes no claim to miracle-working, but he does believe he has the answer to sensible food control in order for you to be your most attractive self.

This new diet is a way of eating, not starving, and it has been prepared to help you solve every weight problem, whether you want to lose, gain or remain the same. Further, these safe and sane laboratory-tested meals can be eaten and enjoyed by the entire family, Junior and Junior Miss included, according to each individual's needs. All you have to do is to follow the "key" in selecting food in the correct quantity.

The Powers Beauty Diet is simplicity itself! Everybody sits down to the same delicious, economical, well-planned meal. Foods marked with a plus sign (+) are added for the underweight adult and normal adolescent only; foods marked with a cross (X) must be eliminated for losing weight; foods marked with a minus sign (-) should be taken in half quantities for losing weight. The adult who wants to maintain present weight omits only between-meal snacks. That's all there is to it.

Everybody is happy, everybody eats right, and all with no extra planning, preparation or expense. So, to gain, lose or remain the same, read SECRETS OF CHARM beginning Monday.



Musical Chairs As Played By Horses

West Virginia Schools May Benefit From Federal Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The House is expected to consider next week a compromise bill to provide federal aid for school construction in districts where enrollments have been increased by federal activities.

The Senate yesterday approved the compromise worked out in Senate and House conferences on the different versions passed by the two houses.

The House has met only in brief sessions this week and has considered no legislation.

Rep. Bailey (D-WVa), who offered the House bill as chairman of a subcommittee on education, was one of the conferees.

He has estimated the bill would provide for about $149,000,000 in federal aid for school construction during a three-year period.

The compromise bill passed by the Senate provides that a school to be eligible must have a certain percentage of enrollment falling in one of these categories:

1—Children living on non-taxable federal property for which school districts receive no local taxes.

2—Children whose parents are employed on a non-taxable federal project located in the same state for which the school district receives only part of normal tax income.

3—A very large and sudden increase in school population in a district not associated directly with loss of tax revenue but which is too great for the community to absorb with its own resources.

Bailey has said a number of West Virginia counties have school districts which could get some federal aid.

These counties include Mononga-lia, Tucker, Pocahontas, Pendleton, Hardy, Hampshire, Grant, Randolph, Morgan and Preston.

Eye cosmetics should enhance, not rob the beauty of your eyes! Here are model rules for using them.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ANY woman who makes up her eyes to look like two gaping holes in her head has robbed her own beauty bank. And no matter what Paris says!

A woman's eyes are the most striking and expressive feature of her face. How could any woman be so mistaken as to want to black out so much of her natural charm and individuality?

Male Reaction

Of course, among the sensitive-to-beauty women, this defacing and screaming fad that sprang up a year ago never had a chance. And the unfavorable reaction of the male population should definitely have ended the artificiality long ago.

But even at this late date, one can see girls who still think that heavy black lines and blobs of shadow around the eyes are a secret of the come-hither look.

Now, eye-shadow, mascara and pencil were all designed to enhance the eyes—not to compete with them for attention. And if, from this period of their misuse and abuse, more and more women learn how to apply eye cosmetics so that their eyes look more beautiful, some good will have come from this regrettable fashion.

With a little experimenting and the Powers Girls' rules that follow, you can easily become an eye-cosmetic artist:

1. Remember "I" stands for the individuality and invisibility of your eye make-up.

2. Do not pluck your brows to a thin line. Keep the arch natural in width and length. If you were not endowed with enough brow in either direction, pencil in what is missing with short, light strokes. Use a pencil that is a bit lighter in color than your brows. (For very blonde brows, light brown.)

Keep It A Shadow

3. Eyeshadow should be only a shadow of color, contrasting interestingly with the color of your skin and eyes. Apply it close to your lashes from the center of your eye outward with not line of demarcation at your temple.

4. Flick mascara to the ends of your lashes with a damp brush. If your brows are very blonde, brush them with mascara in an upward and outward direction.

5. Take a good look at yourself in a strong light when you finish. Well, what's the result? It is just another paint job—or is it art?

IS IT BAREST MINIMUM?

WHEN your hand is the barest minimum which you would consider seriously as one worth opening the bidding, you have a tough problem. If it is right on the line between an original bid and a pass, with a fair share of its cards in the major suits, one on which neither your bid nor your pass could be censured, you should consider every other possible factor. Have you weak or strong opponents? Have you a good partner? How do you two as a pair rank with the others? What is the psychology of the moment, from the preceding deals? Also—and don't forget this—has one of the opponents passed?

♠ K 7 5 ♥ A 3 ♦ 8 6 5 4 ♣ 8 5 3 2	N W E S	♠ J 3 ♥ Q J 10 9 4 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ K Q 9

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

Pass	4 ♠

South on this rubber bridge deal realized that his doubtful hand was promoted slightly in relative value when one opponent had passed. That player's holding, therefore, could not be strong, but ranged from just below a minimum to very much below it. All of which slightly increased the chance that his own partner had more than average. Because of this one factor, he decided to open the deal, particularly since he had stoppers in three suits and a rebiddable major.

As it turned out, he had to get good luck at several points to make the contract he finally reached, a spade game. But he got the needed breaks, so lost only one trick in spades, one in hearts and one in clubs. In fact, he sought every break, going for every finesse in sight, and they all worked. But even if things had broken the worst they could and he had lost every finesse, he still would have scored seven tricks, so that his loss would have been only 150 points for down three, a modest price to pay for a whack at game. Game was not particularly in South's mind when he opened, but merely a chance to get the jump in the rubber with any kind of score, even a partial.

Eye cosmetics should enhance, not rob the beauty of your eyes! Here are model rules for using them.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ANY woman who makes up her eyes to look like two gaping holes in her head has robbed her own beauty bank. And no matter what Paris says!

A woman's eyes are the most striking and expressive feature of her face. How could any woman be so mistaken as to want to black out so much of her natural charm and individuality?

Male Reaction

Of course, among the sensitive-to-beauty women, this defacing and screaming fad that sprang up a year ago never had a chance. And the unfavorable reaction of the male population should definitely have ended the artificiality long ago.

But even at this late date, one can see girls who still think that heavy black lines and blobs of shadow around the eyes are a secret of the come-hither look.

Now, eye-shadow, mascara and pencil were all designed to enhance the eyes—not to compete with them for attention. And if, from this period of their misuse and abuse, more and more women learn how to apply eye cosmetics so that their eyes look more beautiful, some good will have come from this regrettable fashion.

With a little experimenting and the Powers Girls' rules that follow, you can easily become an eye-cosmetic artist:

1. Remember "I" stands for the individuality and invisibility of your eye make-up.

2. Do not pluck your brows to a thin line. Keep the arch natural in width and length. If you were not endowed with enough brow in either direction, pencil in what is missing with short, light strokes. Use a pencil that is a bit lighter in color than your brows. (For very blonde brows, light brown.)

Keep It A Shadow

3. Eyeshadow should be only a shadow of color, contrasting interestingly with the color of your skin and eyes. Apply it close to your lashes from the center of your eye outward with not line of demarcation at your temple.

4. Flick mascara to the ends of your lashes with a damp brush. If your brows are very blonde, brush them with mascara in an upward and outward direction.

5. Take a good look at yourself in a strong light when you finish. Well, what's the result? It is just another paint job—or is it art?

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, vs. Joseph H. Trimble, unmarried, Victor K. Trimble and Virginia Trimble, his wife, Ernest C. Trimble and Mary Trimble, his wife, Jesse Trimble and Suzanna Trimble, his wife, Maryland Trimble, unmarried, Mary E. Trimble, widow, Franklin B. Gillespie and Marion Gillespie, his wife, Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, Lucille T. Lammert and Victor Lammert, her husband, Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, Maud Ryan and Charles Ryan, her husband, Nellie M. Daly and Norman Daly, her husband, Edith Henry and Fred Henry, her husband, Josephine Harden, unmarried, Thomas Harden and Mabel Harden, his wife, Charles Harden and Gladys Harden, his wife, William Harden, unmarried, John Harden and Alice Harden, his wife, Elwood Harden and Mikie Harden, his wife, Bertha Spataro and Frank Spataro, her husband, Robert C. Harden and Anna Harden, his wife, Roman Harden, unmarried, Earl Harden and Beatrice Harden, his wife, and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 688 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by De-Warren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Nellie M. Daly is intermarried with Norman Daly and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

Fresh Buying Pushes Market Close To Four-Year High

By WILLIAM D. HORGAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Fresh buying pushed the stock market close to a four-year high today.

In the fastest trading in three weeks, prices advanced a few cents to an extreme of around $3 a share. Most gains were limited to about $1 a share or less.

The market was also the broadest in three weeks.

Railroad stocks powered the move in a follow-through to Thursday's show of strength. Other shares trailed after the rails for a while and some eventually outdistanced them. Several lower-priced stocks affected by special news did particularly well.

Business expanded to 1,960,000 shares, tops since Aug. 17, from 1,340,000 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .5 of one point (which matched yesterday's gain) to 79.5 . This compared with the 1950 high of 80.3 which in turn was a peak since June 1946.

William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, vs. Joseph H. Trimble, unmarried, Victor K. Trimble and Virginia Trimble, his wife, Ernest C. Trimble and Mary Trimble, his wife, Jesse Trimble and Suzanna Trimble, his wife, Maryland Trimble, unmarried, Mary E. Trimble, widow, Franklin B. Gillespie and Marion Gillespie, his wife, Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, Lucille T. Lammert and Victor Lammert, her husband, Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, Maud Ryan and Charles Ryan, her husband, Nellie M. Daly and Norman Daly, her husband, Edith Henry and Fred Henry, her husband, Josephine Harden, unmarried, Thomas Harden and Mabel Harden, his wife, Charles Harden and Gladys Harden, his wife, William Harden, unmarried, John Harden and Alice Harden, his wife, Elwood Harden and Mikie Harden, his wife, Bertha Spataro and Frank Spataro, her husband, Robert C. Harden and Anna Harden, his wife, Roman Harden, unmarried, Earl Harden and Beatrice Harden, his wife, and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by DeWarren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Nellie M. Daly is intermarried with Norman Daly and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by DeWarren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

City Playground Group Unable To Hold Meetings

Can't Get Quorum; Contest Up In Air

A meeting of the City Playground Association has been called for next Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium by John H. Kington, president, "in a final effort to keep the organization from falling apart."

Kington said last night that the last six meetings have been so poorly attended it was impossible to conduct any business because a quorum was not present.

The summer months represent the busiest time for all playground groups, Kington said he realizes, and many of the people who represent their playgrounds or organizations on the association are the most active in their particular groups. However, he commented, the association task of coordination and keeping city-wide interest alive is as important in the summer months as in the winter, if not more so.

Last spring, the Playground Association, at the request of the City Recreation Department, inaugurated a play lot or home playground campaign. Kington said the contest was open to all residents interested in building play lots to help keep children off the streets, to provide wholesome activity for them and to more especially provide places for smaller children.

The contest closed August 25, Kington explained, with only three residents registered as building playlots and interested in the program.

Kington said he feels that the lack of interest in the playground association as evidenced by failure to attend meetings, the lack of greater assistance from the City Recreation Department, and the general lack of civic pride and interest in community betterment is reflected in the fact that only three residents showed enough interest to build play lots and notify the City Recreation Department.

The task of judging the lots registered has not been completed because he has not had a quorum at his meetings, Kington said, and he claims he is at a loss to know what to do about the situation until he can get enough people at a meeting to decide.

Youth Commission Considers Program

Republicans Lead In Registration

OAKLAND — Reports from nine of the 25 precincts of Garrett County indicate a heavy registration throughout the county last Tuesday with Republicans maintaining a two to one majority.

Unofficial figures showed: Friendsville, 71 Republicans and 54 Democrats; Sang Run, 32 and 12; Oakland districts, 34 and 14, 47 and 16, 41 and 18, 61 and 21. Crellin showed 56 and 11, while Mt. Lake Park showed 73 and 37.

There will be two more registration days following the primary election. Official figures on the entire county will be available after that time from the office of the board of supervisors of elections.

Rosh Hashanah Services Are Planned Here

Jewish New Year Observance Set

Impressive services will be held here next week to celebrate Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year.

The "10 solemn days" of the Jewish New Year will begin Monday evening, September 11, and end Thursday evening, September 21.

At Beth Jacob Congregation, 418 North Centre, the first two days, next Tuesday and Wednesday, will be observed as New Year, ushering in the year 5711.

The services will be held Monday, September 11, at 7:15 p. m. and will be continued Tuesday at 7:30 a. m., Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. and end Wednesday at 7:30 a. m.

Members of all faiths are invited to attend the services.

Dr. Jossef Kratzenstein, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation, said the New Year opens a sacred period known as the 10 days of penitence, so called from the special duty to which we are consecrated.

Tradition, he added, has clothed the two New Year days with special sanctity. It is the time of atonement, since, with the New Year, a new time and a new life begins.

The main topic of the New Year's prayers, Dr. Kratzenstein said, is "peace on earth by love to God and service to humanity.

"We pray that the coming year may be a year in which God's spirit will fill the hearts of men and this country prosper in all its worthy endeavors.

"We face the uncertainty of a hidden future and need broad vision, deeper courage and stronger faith for the days that lie ahead of us."

Lonaconing Mill Strike Continues

Members of the Lonaconing Sub-local of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night rejected a proposal of the General Textile Mill and voted to continue the strike which opened there August 30.

Earl L. Snyder, union president, said the offer rejected by the 120 workers raised the guarantee but retained the incentive plan.

He said the workers have not changed in their opposition to the incentive plan. The employes, he explained, insist that variations in yarn can adversely affect earnings.

The union said negotiations will be continued with the company in an attempt to reach a satisfactory agreement.

In a new contract signed May 7, an incentive plan was placed into effect on a 60-day trial basis.

Spring Grove Patients Moved From Old Barn

Mahoney Makes Issue Of Institution

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP) — A rickety old barn at Spring Grove State Hospital, partly burned away, became an issue today in the primary election contest between Governor Lane and George P. Mahoney.

As the result, five patients at the mental institution on the west outskirts of Baltimore, were moved out of the barn into a regular ward.

Dr. Isador Tuerke, acting superintendent at Spring Grove, indicated the five are probably going to be unhappy about it. He explained that their special quarters are much envied by other patients.

Dr. Tuerke ordered them returned to wards because there "is some possibility of a fire."

Mahoney, who seeks to wrest the Democratic gubernatorial nomination from Lane, charged yesterday that letting the patients sleep in the charred old barn endangered their health and safety.

The dairy barn was equipped with sleeping quarters for nine when it was built in 1914. The quarters have lights and plumbing. The walls and ceilings are plastered.

Five patients have lived there for 11 years now.

Their condition, Dr. Tuerke said, is such that they need not be confined. They have earned special privileges. One of the privileges is the freedom of movement they have living in the barn.

About 18 months ago one end of the barn burned. The fire did not get to the living quarters in the opposite end but they were damaged by water. The five patients had to be moved into regular wards while repairs were made.

Dr. Tuerke said they resented having to leave the barn then.

"Physical illness is rare among them," he reported.

Governor Lane did not comment immediately about the situation.

Mahoney, when told that Dr. Tuerke had ordered the patients moved, said he wanted to congradulate the superintendent for "having the courage to give the facts."

"Governor Lane will probably hit the ceiling when he finds out one of his superintendents has told the truth," Mahoney added.

Revival Planned

A homecoming revival service will be held at Oakdale Methodist Church every night next week beginning Monday at 8 o'clock. Rev. Gordon Hall, pastor of the Union Grove charge, will be the evangelist for these meetings, according to Rev. J. B. Heavener, pastor.

Lane Proposes Bay Bridge As War Memorial

Five Candidates Address Women

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane said today he proposes to name the state's big bridge across Chesapeake Bay in honor of Maryland war heroes and veterans.

"That has long been my purpose," he told a luncheon of the League of Women Voters.

His statement came after another candidate for governor in the Sept. 18 primaries charged him with being unfair to Gold Star Mothers because he had failed to appoint a War Memorial Commission.

Five candidates for governor appeared at the luncheon to make short speeches.

George P. Mahoney, the governor's principal opponent for the Democratic nomination, charged the Lane administration is a ring of political bosses.

He cited E. Brooke Lee in Montgomery county, William C. Walsh in Western Maryland and James H. (Jack) Pollack in Baltimore as among those who "dictate to the present administration."

"If I am elected governor," declared Mahoney, "I will be a free governor. I won't have people of that sort dictating to me."

Governor Lane said his administration has been responsible for great strides in the fields of public education, highway construction and the care of the mentally and physically ill.

"If we are to preserve our way of life," he said, "we must continue to provide decent things and not lose our willingness to help those in trouble."

Herbert Larrabee, retired naval officer from Glen Burnie, declared he has spent 26 years trying to preserve the principles of Democracy. He charged the state has been derelict in the treatment of its veterans. He urged that voters "throw the political machine and the bosses overboard" and institute "a government for the people and by the people."

Stephen Peddicord, Baltimore's perennial candidate for some office or other, voiced the charge that Lane has been unfair to the mothers of Maryland's war dead. He referred to the governor's long delay in appointing a War Memorial Commission authorized by the General Assembly.

Larrabee and Peddicord also are candidates for the Democratic nomination. A fifth, Harry Kemper, Baltimore grocer, wasn't there.

Peddicord said he thought the bay bridge, now under construction and due for completion late next year,

Zoning Permit To Be Argued Next Thursday

Court Visits Shop Near Oldtown Road

A court case involving a city occupancy permit for a sheet metal shop in the Michigan Avenue section began in Circuit Court yesterday and attorneys will argue the issues before Associate Judge George Henderson next Thursday.

The case was filed by Maurice E. Taylor, 1100 Kentucky Avenue, and others against the Board of Zoning Appeals which granted the permit. John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, who obtained the permit and operates the metal shop, is entered in the case as an intervenor. His attorney is William C. Walsh assisted by Leslie J. Clark, while Thomas Lohr Richards represents the residents of the area.

After testimony was taken yesterday, Judge Henderson called a recess and together with counsel visited the shop in question.

The background shows that in October, 1949, Twigg applied at the city engineer's office to build the structure on Michigan Avenue for use as a garage and for storage purposes and the permit was granted.

This building, it is pointed out, is located just across an alley from a structure facing Oldtown Road where Twigg operated a shop since 1944, prior to the passing of the city zoning ordinance.

However, the ordinance sets the dividing line between the business district on Oldtown Road and Michigan Avenue as the alley previously mentioned.

The residents of the area, who complained of the noise from the new shop, then protested on April 27 to the Board of Zoning Appeals to have the permit disallowed.

The board, after further study, allowed the permit on May 16 and the court case was filed later.

No Date Is Set For Kitzmiller School Meeting

Attendance Drops To 31 Yesterday

Plans have not yet been completed for a conference requested by a Kitzmiller committee on problems which led to a strike of students at the Kitzmiller School Wednesday, an official of the Garrett County Board of Education disclosed last night.

Absenteeism at the school, with an anticipated enrollment of 300, had dropped from 34 to 31 yesterday.

Parents of students of the Kitzmiller, Shallmar and Vindex areas are refusing to permit their children to attend school in protest of a proposed consolidated school problem that would require transportation of high school students to Oakland.

Shortly after the walkout Wednesday, a committee from the Kitzmiller area sent a telegram to R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools, saying children of the community would remain at home until he met with the committee.

In reply, Hardesty wired that the president of the board, Walter W. Dawson, and he would be glad to meet with the committee in the Board's office and at the committee's convenience. The wire suggested that arrangements be made by phone.

Such arrangements had not been made last night.

The consolidation program for Garrett County is set up in Chapter 575, Acts of the eGneral Assembly 1947. It is provided that all buildings are to be erected by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and an advisory committee.

These two groups decided on two high schools—one to be located in the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland area for 1050 students and the other at The Cove.

Superintendent of Schools Hardesty, in a statement yesterday said:

"The groups also decided that the elementary centers at Accident, Kitzmiller, Grantsville and Friendsville be remodeled, modernized and improved. An architect is now at work on these plans."

Area Sailor Held In Assault

LEONARDTOWN, Sept. 8 (AP) — Addison Combs, 26-year-old sailor of near Cumberland, was ordered held for grand jury action today on charges he assaulted a 22-year-old waitress.

Combs, married and the father of two children, is stationed at the Navy's Patuxent River Air Station. He was arrested Tuesday at the Navy Base Veterans Club.

She said Combs came into the club about noon Tuesday when she was the only one there, followed her into a rest room, and attempted to rape her.

Combs took the stand and denied it. There was much conflicting testimony. Combs said he drank beer in the club and had a long conversation with the waitress.

William Parthe, another sailor, said he came into the club and heard a scuffle in the rest room. Miss Hill emerged in a few moments, in hysterics, he said.

Combs was ordered to the St. Mary's county jail.

X-Ray Survey Results Received

Results from the recent mass X-ray program in Allegany County are being received here, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

A number of the 8,837 who were checked in the survey are being asked to contact their physicians, or the health department if they cannot afford private treatment, in connection with the X-ray pictures taken at the survey.

Last year, some 300 persons of the over 6,000 who participated in the survey, were asked to have follow-up X-rays taken. Less than seven were found to be suffering from tuberculosis.

Some of the reasons for a check up of the results of the survey are evidence of any lung disorder, enlarged heart, shadows on the film, suspicion of TB or bad negative.

Musical Chairs As Played By Horses

West Virginia Schools May Benefit From Federal Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The House is expected to consider next week a compromise bill to provide federal aid for school construction in districts where enrollments have been increased by federal activities.

The Senate yesterday approved the compromise worked out in Senate and House conferences on the different versions passed by the two houses.

The House has met only in brief sessions this week and has considered no legislation.

Rep. Bailey (D-WVa), who offered the House bill as chairman of a subcommittee on education, was one of the conferees.

He has estimated the bill would provide for about $149,000,000 in federal aid for school construction during a three-year period.

The compromise bill passed by the Senate provides that a school to be eligible must have a certain percentage of enrollment falling in one of these categories:

1—Children living on non-taxable federal property for which school districts receive no local taxes.

2—Children whose parents are employed on a non-taxable federal project located in the same state for which the school district receives only part of normal tax income.

3—A very large and sudden increase in school population in a district not associated directly with loss of tax revenue but which is too great for the community to absorb with its own resources.

Bailey has said a number of West Virginia counties have school districts which could get some federal aid.

PERIL TO U. N. BATTLE LINE ENDS

Curbs Placed On Credit Buying As Truman Signs Control Bill

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Tighter credit terms on many items ranging from automobiles to home repairs were ordered today immediately after President signed a bill giving him virtually wartime powers over the nation's economy.

The new curbs on time-payment buying will go into effect September 18, the Federal Reserve Board said.

The White House announcement that Mr. Truman had signed the home-front economic mobilization bill came shortly after 3 p. m. (E.S.T.)

Less than an hour later, the reserve board ordered higher down payments and shorter time limitations for paying off than generally prevail now for a wide variety of installment purchases. Charge accounts and single-payment purchases are not affected.

On automobiles, the new order requires down payments of at least one-third and sets a 21-month limit for completing payment.

The board's control order was the first issued under the new legislation passed by Congress on September 1 giving President Truman broad powers to control prices, wages, credit and strategic materials—at his discretion.

Further belt-tightening steps are expected to be outlined by Mrs. Truman in a nationwide broadcast Saturday night at 9:30 p. m., (E.S.T.)

R. M. Evans, a member of the Federal Reserve Board, told newsmen that the initial consumer credit controls are not intended as a "knockout drop" to installment buying.

He said today's order was designed chiefly as a brake on the recent upsurge of installment purchases in which low credit terms tended to stimulate the war "scare" buying and hoarding.

Overall installment credit has soared to more than $20,000,000,000 since the outbreak of the Korean War on June 25.

Evans said the board is ready to issue even stiffer curbs "if the situation worsens—and we hope it won't."

Workers Free 128 Trapped In Cave-In

Miners Entombed In Scotland Pit

NEW COMNOCK, Scotland, Sept. 9 (Saturday) (INS)—Weary, rescue workers drilled through the last of a 30-foot thick coal seam today and opened an escape vent for 128 Scottish coal miners entombed for 24 hours.

Most of the trapped diggers passed through the breach in the barrier of coal into a neighboring shaft and waited to be brought to the surface where their families had maintained a long vigil of prayers.

The men had been kept alive only by a six-inch air hole in the sludge and slime which threatened to engulf and kill them, 720 feet below the surface.

They had sent cheering messages to the pithead every 15 minutes where their families prayed and joined in the singing of "Nearer My God To Thee."

They also took turns, in groups of five, at hacking away at the wall from the inside.

Their relatives joined in a service led by the Salvation Army at the pithead and expressed their firm faith by singing hymns.

The waiting families drew hope from the cheery messages sent by the miners especially one which said:

(The London Evening News, in a dispatch from Glasgow, said 13 men are believed trapped deeper in the mine field than the entombed 128 and that, for them, there is "less hope.")

The entombed men could hear their rescuers cutting toward the trap in which they have been held for over 24 hours deep below the surface.

Other rescue workers fought to fill a 300-foot chasm extending from the pit to the surface to prevent further sludge from seeping toward the men.

Haystacks, trees, even trucks, were thrown into the hole to halt the shifting and seepage of the sludge.

Hundreds waited in the bitter driving rain including most of the residents of Burnside Village where one of every four families has a miner among the trapped.

An official of the National Coal Board said King George and Queen Elizabeth, now at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, have asked to be kept informed of developments.

Excise Profits Levy May Kill Tax Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee today warned backers of a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits levy that their tactics might kill the $4,508,000,000 tax increase bill.

He made the statement after Rep. Eberharter (D-Pa), leading the renewed battle for a super levy on big profits, blocked a move to speed final action on the general tax measure.

Eberharter let it be known he will continue his efforts to hold up the tax bill until the House is given an opportunity to vote on a proposal for a 95 per cent excess profits tax. The tax would apply to that part of each corporation's profits which—after a $10,000 exemption—exceeded 1946-49 average earnings.

The sponsors want the levy effective as of last July 1, and Eberharter estimated it would yield about $6,000,000,000 annually at the present rate of corporate earnings. They want the profits levy pinned now to the general tax boosting bill. Eberharter objected today when Doughton sought unanimous consent of the House to send the tax bill to a Senate-House Conference Committee to smooth out the different versions passed by the two Houses.

In a statement to newsmen later, Doughton declared:

"There is no chance to get an excess profits tax in this bill until judgment day. It is just delaying the bill. They might fool around here and get no tax bill at all. The way to deal with an excess profits tax is in a separate bill, after we have had a chance to study how it shall be applied."

Truman Tells Unions Red Threat Serious

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (INS)—President Truman told CIO and AFL leaders tonight that in the fight against communism America faces a very serious situation which will require the unified support of all its citizens.

The President made this statement at a private dinner held jointly by the CIO Political Action Committee and the AFL League for Labor Education, which was the first get-together of its kind.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 8 Because there is a good chance of a settlement, hearing of Mrs. Frank Sinatra's suit for separate maintenance was postponed today for two weeks.

McCarran's Red Bill Attacked By Douglas

Hits Imaginary Enemy, He Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Senator Douglas (D-Ill) today attacked the McCarran anti-communist bill as "a blunderbuss" firing in so many directions that it might hit "only imaginary enemies."

The Illinois lawmaker spoke out on the fourth day of heated Senate debate on the controversial measure sponsored by Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The Senate is scheduled to start voting on the legislation next Tuesday.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday he would refuse to sign the McCarran Bill if Congress sends it to the White House. He has criticized it as ineffective and likely to jeopardize the rights of American citizens.

McCarran promptly retorted that Mr. Truman's implied threat of a veto was "the most colossal mistake I have ever heard of being made by the President."

The 74-year-old Navada lawmaker said a Presidential veto might lead to a republican victory in the November elections.

Although McCarran's bill has strong support in the Senate, Douglas and a small group of Democratic colleagues are seeking to put through a substitute bill by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) which would permit the government to clap communists into interment camps in time of war or national emergency.

The basic feature of McCarran's measure would require the registration of communists. It would also bar reds from federal jobs and from getting passports, stiffen laws dealing with spies and saboteurs, and enable the government to deport alien subversives.

"Burma Surgeon's" Trial Is Ordered

RANGOON, Burma, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Burma Supreme Court today ordered Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, 53-year-old American physician, to be tried on charges of aiding and abetting the crime of high treason. The maximum penalty upon conviction is death.

Vets Will Get New Dividend

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Veterans can expect a second-insurance dividend on the anniversary dates of their policies in 1951, the Veterans Administration (VA) said today.

But present plans for starting payment on Jan. 1, 1951, may be disrupted, the VA said, if the budget bureau slices away much of the $4,800,000 requested by the VA to cover the administrative expenses of the dividend.

Germany Could Field 10 Units

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Western Germany probably can supply 10 divisions of troops for the defense of Western Europe within a year if and when the Allied powers decide they want German manpower in a West European defense system.

This estimate comes from highly authoritative sources and is understood to be a factor in top level policy conferences going on here in preperation for next week's New York meeting of American, British, and French Foreign Ministers.

Use of German manpower, in the American view, depends primarily on three conditions which have yet to be met. They are:

1. Agreement among Britain, France, the United States and other Atlantic Pact allies that such limited German rearmament is desirable.

2. Creation of a unified command for the defense system of Western Europe which would automatically provide a system to which German military units could be assigned.

3. Development of an adequate supply of arms to equip not only German units but also to carry forward at a vastly increased rate the rearmament of the Atlantic Treaty powers.

The conference here in recent days have involved President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Johnson and John J. McCloy, U. S. High Commissioner in Germany. McCloy publicly gave the key to his thinking on Germany which is said to have support among other top authorities when he said earlier this week that he believes the West Germans should be enabled to defend themselves.

Teacher Writes To Stalin Asking Him To Aid Peace

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Sept. 8 (AP)—A Warrensburg school teacher—"unknown except in my own community"—sent a letter to Premier Stalin of Russia today asking him to help "restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people."

The writer, Miss I. F. Johnson, described herself as "a sincere worker for ultimate world peace through the United Nations and the UNESCO" (United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization). She said she sent a copy of the letter to President Truman.

"I have battled against the urge to write this letter for more than a year," she wrote, "but the time has come when I cannot keep silence. Your nation and mine are in the death throes of another war, whatever you may choose to call it.

"Let me plead with you, and our own President, to sit down together with a determination and faith that you can and will stop this murder of innocent people, and with the willingness to make reasonable concessions that will restore a permanent chance for peaceful living for all people.

"Let's find modern means of settling our grievances against each other, not the century old pattern of war.

"Our nations are the leaders of the world today. Let us prove to the world that we are worthy of that leadership by letting all nations of people make their own decisions as to what they believe. Let us sponsor an honest educational effort to help men and women throughout the world to know what real feedom means. Let's work together for the good of all.

Miss Johnson, a teacher in journalism at Central Missouri State College here, was reluctant to say anything about herself.

Marines Ignore Truman Plea, Vote For Ouster Of Johnson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Marine Corps League turned down a plea from President Truman today and demanded the ouster of Secretary of Defense Johnson on the ground that he has slashed America's defenses to "a dangerously low level."

The organization of ex-leathernecks, winding up its annual convention, defeated however a similar proposal that Secretary of State Acheson be fired.

Mr. Truman appealed only yesterday, in a personal appearance before the convention, for an end to attacks on government officials.

Such attacks really are against the President himself, Mr. Truman told the delegates in a face-to-face follow-up of his apology to the Marines for saying they had a propaganda machine "almost equal to Stalin's."

While the delegates cheered the President's talk they rejected his advice today by blasting Johnson's policies as "shortsighted, inefficient and dictatorial."

Urging that Johnson be replaced by "a competent and far-sighted statesman," the ex-Marines adopted with only one dissenting vote a resolution declaring:

"As a result of the blundering of the Defense Department our troops in Korea have suffered heavy casualties and reverses, and the military and political position of the U. S. has been reduced to a dangerously low level."

Brig. Gen. Robert C. Kilmartin of Washington cast the single no vote. "President Truman asked our support and we ought to give it," Kilmartin argued. He likewise opposed the anti-Acheson resolution, which was readily defeated after many "national unity" pleas from the floor.

The resolution naming Acheson charged too-great softness toward communism. Clay Nixon of Seattle, retiring national commandant, supported the resolution, declaring Acheson "has a lot to account and apologize for."

GOP, Demos Gun At Korea Fight

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Democrats and Republicans trained their campaign guns on each other on the foreign policy front today.

The Democratic National Committee said some Republicans are engaged in a "cynical attempt to gain partisan advantage out of the ordeal of our heroic troops in Korea."

The Republican National Committee, in its weekly publication, "on the political front," declared a top naval officer was court-martialed when the Battleship Missouri went aground, but nobody was court-martialed "for the absence of proper naval and air support when foreign policy boomeranged in Korea."

Democratic Chairman William Boyle, writing in his party organ, "Capital Comment," said some Republicans have tried to distort the administration's record on foreign policy and added:

"These men are not serving the interests of America or the cause of world peace. It is my firm conviction that they are not even serving their own narrow partisan political interests. x x x"

Schoeppel Will Call Witnesses To Back Charge

Promises Facts Against Chapman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Republican Senator Schoeppel of Kansas today demanded and won the right to call his own witnesses in an attempt to bolster his charges of communist influences in the Interior Department.

Under Democratic fire as a GOP "hatchet man," Schoeppel said he will present documentary evidence next week to support his contentions.

Meanwhile, the Republican National Committee disowned any connection with Schoeppel's broadsides against Secretary of the Interior Chapman and others.

GOP headquarters said in a statement:

"No one at the Republican National Committee knew about the Schoeppel speech or what it contained until the address was made and appeared on the press association wires and in the newspapers."

Schoeppel, a freshman senator, made his accusations in a speech on the Senate floor — and yesterday drew a challenge from Chapman to repeat the charges outside the halls of Congress where he would not be protected against a lawsuit.

Congress members are immune from legal action arising from remarks they make in the Senate or House.

In his testimony yesterday, Chapman told the Senate Interior Committee that Schoeppel's charges were "scandal-mongering and slander." The cabinet member heatedly denied Schoeppel's assertion that he was linked to communist-front groups and had failed to sign loyalty pledges.

Luce Takes Leave

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP) — Henry R. Luce, founder and editor-in-chief of Time, Inc., publications, has been granted a leave of absence for six months to a year, it was announced today.

Allotment Bill For Servicemen Becomes Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — A bill granting allowances of $45 to $85 a month to help care for the families of enlisted servicemen became law today with President Truman's signature.

To get such an allowance, an enlisted man will have to allot part of his regular pay to his family. The deduction from his own pay will range from $40 to $80 a month, depending on the man's pay grade.

Thus an army private, who gets $80 a month, would allot $40 to his wife and the government would grant — under the new legislation — $45 more, for a total of $85.

Malik Defeated In Move To Ban Korean Report

May Use Veto To Block Message

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 8 (AP) — Russia lost today a move to eliminate the Korean War from the Security Council's annual report to the United Nations General Assembly.

But she may try to make the demand stick by invoking the veto next week to kill the whole report.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik contended at a closed council meeting that adoption of the report is a substantive matter and, thus, subject to the veto. The other council members disagreed.

The majority was reported determined to send the report along to the assembly, veto or no veto. Diplomatic quarters said there were several ways this could be done. The simplest way, it was pointed out, would be for Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, council president, to send it along with a covering letter saying it had been approved by the majority but vetoed by Russia.

The actual proposal which Russia submitted at today's closed-door session was to eliminate all sections of the report covering decisions between Jan. 13, when the Soviet boycott began, and July 15. The annual report normally runs from mid-July to the next mid-July.

Malik said all actions of the council during the period of the Soviet boycott were illegal and hence have no place in the report. The council ordered United Nations intervention in Korea on June 27—during the Russian boycott. Malik returned to the council Aug. 1, ending the Soviet walk-out.

The vote was 10 to 1, with Malik alone supporting the Soviet proposal. The council holds another closed session next Tuesday to seek final approval of the report.

The Soviet delegate did not say definitely that he will use the veto. He could abstain. But this looked unlikely. He had already told an earlier meeting that he could not vote for any report covering the period when Russia was absent.

If Russia vetoes inclusion of Korea in the Security Council's annual report it will be the first time the veto has been used on the report and the first time, too, that the report is put to a formal vote.

GE, IUE Talks Are Recessed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Federal Mediation of the General Electric strike dispute was recessed tonight until Tuesday in a flurry of dispute and with no visible progress toward settlement.

James B. Carey, chairman of the CIO International Electrical Workers Union (IUE), told reporters he had "accepted" the company's offer as published in full-page advertisements in several cities this week.

Crete's Romantic Couple Cursed By Bride's Father

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 8 (AP) — The angry father of Crete's Juliet confronted her at security police headquarters today for the first time since she was abducted by the scion of a hostile clan and, witnesses said, spurned her plea for reconciliation.

The Juliet, blue-eyed, 20-year-old Tassoula Petracogeorgi, sought George Petracogeorgi's paternal blessing on her marriage to Mustachioed Constantine Kephaloyannis, her jailed Romeo. The two were married 11 days after Constantine carried her off to wild Mount Ida.

Police who viewed the encounter related:

Tassoula told her father: "What's happened has happened. Let bygones be bygones. I want your blessing."

The father replied: "Instead, I give you my curse."

He then stalked from the room. Tassoula fell into near hysterics.

The powerful Petracogeorgi and Kephaloyannis families have been at odds for generations, and the abduction Aug. 20 from a main street of Heraklelon, Crete, fanned the smouldering feud.

Tassoula's encounter with her father followed a magistrate's hearing for her. Constantine's brother, Manuel Kephaloyannis, a Populist (Royalist) member of Parliament and the chieftain of his clan, attended the secret proceeding.

The magistrate was to consult with other authorities about the final decision on Constantine — whether he'll be able to start a jail-delayed honeymoon or whether action will be taken on abduction charges. He has been in prison five days.

Counterdrive Halts Menace, General Says

By RELMAN MORIN

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 9 (AP)—The North Korean reds struck anew at Taegu from two directions today but the commander of the U. S. Eighth Army said the danger of the battle perimeter being smashed had ended.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker said the greatest peril was passed Sept. 3—"my own worst day"—when the reds made big gains toward Masan an Yongsan in the southwest sector. Counterattacks which relieved that situation an firmly established the Naktong River line ended the menace, the General added.

Today U. S. First Cavalry Division troops "contained" a communist attack eight miles northwest of Taegu, the midday communique of the Eighth Army reported.

But to the northeast of Taegu, where interest is focused on two vital highway junctions—Yongchon ond Kyongju—the reds were probing and infiltrating while United Nations forces strove to repair gaps in the line.

The communique said that the reds have fought to "within a few miles" of Yongchon, 20 miles northeast of Taegu. Yongchon, whose loss would make Taegu untenable, changed hands twice Thursday night and Friday.

Slipping through gaps made by a breakthrough last Monday, the reds infiltrated across the supply highway leading to Taegu from the east. They crossed between Yongchon and Kyongju, the latter 35 miles east of Taegu.

"Both towns and the connecting road are still in friendly hands," the communique said.

The rains continued today. The unfavorable weather again threatened to cut down the effectiveness of the United Nations air arm and to cover red reinforcements movements known to be taking place at both ends of the battle front.

Recapping events of the last 10 days, General Walker told Associated Press Correspondent Jack MacBeth that the communist offensive launched Sept. 1 was the biggest attack of the war.

He said the peril passed when the reds failed to hold Yongsan and to capture Masan.

Yongsan, 36 miles northwest of the lifeline port of Pusan, was entered by the reds Sept. 1 and lost the next day. The peril there was that the reds might drive 11 miles eastward and cut the main north-south highway from Pusan to Taegu. Since then the U. S. Second Division and the First Marine Brigade have rolled the reds back six miles to within two miles of the Naktong River.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth reported today that the reds have rushed reinforcements across the river.

The reds managed to infiltrate within three miles of Masan, while under orders to capture it by Sept. 3, but were forced back in bitter fighting by the U. S. 25th Division. Seizure of Masan would have opened the gate to Pusan, 27 air miles away.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said the Second Division repelled a large-scale red attack yesterday and another early today.

The U. S. 25th Division last night repulsed two attacks against the center of its lines. One was a "banzai" charge—an attack in which the enemy shows utter disregard for loss of life while rushing forward, screaming.

Food Costs Drop Slightly In Aug.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP) — Grocery store and meat market prices dropped about one per cent in the last two weeks of August. But they still remained about one per cent higher than before the Korean War.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported these findings tonight after a 13-city survey taken to measure the economic impact of the fighting.

Seasonal dips in the price of most fresh fruits and vegetables caused the decline in the food price average, BLS said. The retail food index stood at 206.4, counting the average of 1935-39 as 100.

Some commodities remained far above their pre-Korean prices. Eggs were 23.9 per cent higher, bacon 12.7 per cent, coffee 12.4 per cent and pink salmon 10.5 per cent.

Between Aug. 15 and Aug. 28 tomatoes dropped 35 per cent, potatoes 11 per cent, lettuce five per cent and oranges three per cent.

Round steak dropped two and one-half per cent and veal cutlets declined slightly, but pork chops rose five per cent.

Getting Out The Vote Is Still A Problem

If the voting booth could be hauled from door to door, enabling citizens to cast their ballots without taking both feet out of their living rooms, it might be possible to get something approaching a full vote by all qualified electors. It sometimes seems there must be no other way.

But surely not many people are kept from the polls by the difficulties of the journey. Almost every conceivable measure has been taken to make it easy and convenient to vote. The precautions against illegal voting are held at a minimum; they need not offer any slightest obstacle to the eligible voter. The distance from home to polling place is rarely greater, usually less, than the distance habitually travelled to buy supplies or seek amusement. The voting hours are substantially longer than those of the average store. Ease of voting is not the key to a bigger turnout.

It has sometimes been suggested that voting should be made compulsory. That probably would get the votes cast. But the person who went to the polls only because it was required would not give much thought to his voting, and government would not be improved by the addition of his vote.

There seems to be only one avenue open, and that is the stimulation of greater interest on the part of the individual citizen. How can it be done? The person who finds the way will do the nation one of its greatest services.

Homework No Help?

It is difficult to say whether E. C. A. Firman, headmaster of the Plymouth College Preparatory School, is right or wrong about homework for boys and girls. It is doubtful whether he has the data to support his conclusion. English children may be different from American youngsters. What he says is interesting, though.

What he says is that homework not only does not help school children but actually retards their progress in class. He also says he was a firm believer in homework and only changed his mind after abolishing it for the students in his school during a trial period. The results showed that no homework was a good idea.

"Work in school during the last month of the term improved by 100 per cent in quality and quantity," he reports. "It more than compensated for the loss of set studies at home."

So now he has ended homework entirely. In its place he is encouraging an interest in hobbies. That is quite a reversal for a man who himself did as much as three hours of homework a day as a boy, who was convinced that it did him good, and apparently expected that the experiment would confirm his prior judgment.

It is enough of a reversal to suggest that further investigation into this matter would be well warranted. Many a parent as well as most youngsters would welcome release from the daily ordeal wrapped up in the word "homework"—if it could be done without damage to the education the schools are there to provide.

Knotty Problem

Standardization has proved to be a great thing—when not overworked—but civilian airmen must be wondering about some of the hows and whyfors of a brand new ukase by the Civil Aeronautics Authority. It says, in brief, that after July 1, 1952, plane speeds will be figured in knots instead of miles. Principal reason is to provide a uniform system for measuring speeds of civilian and military aircraft.

This leaves about two years for airmen unused to figuring speed in units of 6,080.27 feet, or one nautical mile, to get used to it. Presumably all cockpit instruments will have had their dials changed over by that time, too.

Reasons advanced for the ruling are that two years hence a greatly increased number of the nation's airports will have electronic landing systems, and many civilian planes will carry one or more of the newer navigation gimmicks; in using any of these devices, a standard rate of speed of advance is highly essential; without it some of the confusion that exists today will be continued and probably augmented.

There is some precedent for adopting nautical terms all around. Port and starboard, fore and aft, are already common terminology in planes. Although people get airsick and not seasick it amounts to the same thing. But there will be, er, knotty problems to start with. Airmen will probably be wondering what "minutes of arc" have to do with getting from here to there.

They may also be asking why their speed in flight is tied inexorably to the action of letting a knotted line slip over the taffrail of some old sailing lugger that never did better than 10 knots in its whole career afloat. Well, they are entitled to all the worries they want, so long as the 10 knots has been converted from 11.5156 land miles per hour.

Courage For Courtesy

One of the frequent laments of the present day is for the courtesy standards of former days. Why, for example, is it so rare to see a man get up on a crowded bus or trolley and offer his seat to a woman? Man's usual defense is that woman has sought equality with man in politics, business and social life; let her take equality with him on the bus, too. That is bosh, rationalization which could be twisted in the other direction just as well. It makes more sense to find a seat for a woman who has worked all day in office or store than for one who has spent the afternoon at the beauty parlor. The latter, to be sure, may catch the masculine eye more quickly.

If the men sitting beside women standing in the aisle could be whisked away for a lie detector test, it might turn out that the thing which keeps them in their seats is fear. Most of them are terribly uncomfortable; watch them staring out the window to avoid seeing the feminine standees. They want to do what they know ought to be done. But they are afraid of feeling ridiculous if they get up and offer their seats. The dread of being conspicuous, probably more than anything else, curtails the social graces.

The fear is so groundless! The man who does the courteous thing on the crowded bus does not look ridiculous at all; he looks like a man who knows what he is doing, and is envied by every man who still stays in his seat. They know he has a degree of courage which they lack, a most uncomfortable thing to know.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dermatitis From Fabrics

WHEN a new material for clothing is produced, the wise manufacturer may subject it to experimentation before giving it nation-wide distribution. Under this plan, patch tests would be made on several hundred volunteers to determine whether or not sensitivity to the fabric can be expected. If the substance passes this test, it is likely to be made into undergarments (for closer contact with the skin) and sent to communities of 5 to 10 thousand for trial wear. If no untoward reactions occur, the material is then given national distribution.

But if sensitivity to the new fabric is reported, the manufacturer asks for further tests because he has found through experience that many other possibilities must be considered. This is best illustrated by a recent outbreak in which several women developed a rash which was said to be due to nylon. After a thorough investigation, the cause was traced to a resin finish rather than to the nylon itself.

Such problems are becoming common because various types of dyes, mordants, and finshes are being added to improve appearance and durability. Nowadays we have many more chemicals than starch for this purpose. There are finishes, for example, that are placed on fabrics to give them more luster, a better feel, of improved wearing qualities. Another group of compounds is utilized to prevent runs and unraveling or make the material hold creases or resist them. Chemicals also are employed to make fabrics proof against water; moths and other insects, molds, and flame. Some are permanent; others are removed by washing. The same applies to dyes, resins, and a host of other substances incorporated into our modern wearing apparel. Even glass wool has been indicted along this line.

Reactions of this nature are easy to recognize as a rule because they begin over the region that is touched by the offending fabric. Itching invariably is present but the rash varies from ordinary redness to large, angry, inflamed blisters which resemble a severe case of poison ivy. Now and then the affected areas assume the outline of the contact irritant. One man who was sensitive to leather observed a red spot over the hip the axact shape of his wallet every time he placed it in his side pocket. An eruption on the neck suggests furs and a bland of irritation about the abdomen points to a belt as the offender.

In others, dermatitis is more generalized and may be so extensive that the victim becomes toxic and develops fever. As a rule, five or more days elapse between the time the offending agent is first worn and the appearance of the rash. This interval is required for sensitivity to develop except in those who already are allergic. In these individuals, itching is noted almost immediately after contacting the agent.

Because the added dyes and other chemicals usually are at fault, the reaction is most likely to occur when the wearing apparel becomes wet with perspiration. This brings the noxious agents into solution which has a more deleterious effect on the skin. In cases where the offending substance cannot be detected easily, skin tests may be needed to reveal the culprit.

DWARF

Mrs. J. writes: A relative of mine gave birth to a child with chondrodystrophy and the doctor says the baby's arms and legs will not grow with the rest of the body. What causes such a condition?

REPLY

You probably refer to achondroplasia, a congenital defect caused by faulty development of the ends of the long bones. As a result there is marked shortening of the arms and legs, leading to a characteristic type of dwarfism. In addition, the face has a distinctive facial expression, broad forehead, pug nose, and prominent lower jaw. So far the cause has escaped detection.

NIGHT WHEEZING

K. Z. writes: When I go to bed at night my chest starts to wheeze. I do not have this condition during the day. Do you think I have asthma?

REPLY

This is possible but an inward goiter and heart trouble also must be considered. Examination is in order.

HERNIA

M. J. writes: I was informed that I have a congenital hernia. Is medical attention necessary?

REPLY

There are many forms of hernia and the only cure is surgery. Other simple measures such as a truss give temporary relief.

U. S. Prestige In Europe Reaches Low Ebb; As Result Of Korean War It's Doubtful That Western Europe Would Fight Russia

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Unpublished Intelligence reports reaching Washington from various parts of the world tell a depressing story of lowered American military prestige as a result of Korea.

Confidential reports from friendly British sources bear this out. The British embassies in France, Belgium and Holland, for instance, report that in case of war with Russia those countries probably would not fight. Our own embassies substantiate this.

Even the published reports tell a story that is bad enough. From Paris the Associated Press reports: "The crisis in Korea has brought the American position in France to a low point. . . . There has been a wave of dismay at American reverses . . . It is staggering to hear Frenchmen talk about capitulation (to Russia)."

And in Germany, where most Americans have blithely figured we could raise a German army to support us, comes the opposite note from our best friend, Chancellor Adenauer, who says that Germans need American troops to support them, rather than German troops to support the U.S.A.

"Until now," says the Chancellor, "Germany maintained its spirit against the spread of communism by faith in the American armed forces. But events in Korea have had a noticeable effect, and there is a sense of helplessness that the Russians will take over.

"American troops in Germany, therefore, should be increased by three more divisions in three months, with a total of 10 divisions later."

Military Mistakes

Precedent in the War and Navy Departments has been against prying into military mistakes. After previous wars, the files dealing with military blunders have been locked up. A dozen or so high-ranking U. S. generals were "busted" in the European Theatre during World War II, but only fragmentary facts concerning the boners ever leaked out. And in the Pacific, MacArthur exercised even tighter censorship regarding certain errors, including his own still unexplained error in letting all his planes get destroyed at Clark Field shortly after Pearl Harbor.

In the Korean crisis, however, congressional sentiment is growing for a forthright examination of our military errors and woeful lack of preparedness. Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, himself a naval commander in the Pacific, has been tentatively picked as the committee chairman to do the probing, and here are some of the things he will be asked to examine.

1. LACK OF TROOP TRAINING—MacArthur had the biggest segment of American troops under him in Japan. They were on a war footing, with plenty of time for maneuvers. Yet all reports from the battle front indicate that his troops were softer, greener, less prepared than troops trained in the U.S.A.

2. BAZOOKAS—It was known at the end of War II that Russian tanks were powerfully armed. It was also known that our 4-inch bazookas were inadequate. Yet we sent men into battle with these same almost useless bazookas. This was sheer murder. The military had five years to prepare a new type of bazooka, but none were on deck in Japan when the Korean war broke. It is reported that heavy orders placed for the smaller bazooka and not countermanded toward the end of the war is part of the answer. These factories just kept on making useless bazookas.

3. TANKS—During the most of War II U. S. tanks were inferior to German tanks, while the Russians publicly chided us regarding the lend-lease tanks we sent them. After the war we junked thousands of our own tanks, apparently without making any serious attempt to develop a tank that could meet the Russians. In brief, the Pentagon planners were woefully asleep.

4. AIR FORCE—MacArthur had the largest chunk of U. S. air power to be found anyplace in the world when the Korean war started. But for many agonizing days at the start, 70 per cent of his planes were keept on the ground. This was not due to bad weather alone, but to the fact that MacArthur feared a Russian air strike at Japan. Many military men disagreed with him on this, pointing out that planes over Korea required only an hour to get back to defend Japan, and that time in the Korean war was priceless.

5. SLOW TROOP MOVEMENTS—In the first weeks of Korean fighting, troops moved from Japan to Korea with tragic slowness. From Japan to Korea is only 120 miles—the distance to Philadelphia from Washington — but at that crucial time when we had more bases in Korea, troops moved in driblets. MacArthur's excuse was that he feared a Russian attack on Japan, though many in Washington argued that Moscow would never risk our atom bomb and a world war by attacking Japan.

6. TOP OFFICERS—The U. S. Air Force commander in Japan is Gen. George Stratemeyer, who occupied a relatively noncombat berth during the war in the China-India Theatre. He is not a skilled tactical commander but, despite this, the Air Force has kept him on in Korea—some explain because he has the knack of getting along with MacArthur.

Gen. Walton Walker, MacArthur's ground force commander, though seeing important European service under Patton, is not considered one of the Army's top men. In Japan he was noted for having the best house in the Tokyo-Yokohama area, having commandeered it from the head of Standard Oil and refused to relinquish it. Americans who lunched with him were awed by the General's luxurious surroundings, including the fact that eight geisha girls stood bowing at the door as the guests entered, not lifting their heads until the guests had passed.

The old jungle commanders who brought MacArthur's troops up from the Southwest Pacific and who are skilled in the current type of Korean fighting are not with him anymore; and at least one of them, Gen. Robert Eichelberger, hero of Buna, has made it quite clear that he would not care to serve under MacArthur again.

Inquiring senators feel that the lives of hundreds of heroic G. I.'s and combat officers could have been saved by more planning, more preparedness, and more forthrightness at the top.

"Far Eastern Munich" Appears In The Making

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — If Soviet Russia instigated the North Korean war in order to bring pressure on the United States to permit communist China to be admitted to the Security Council of the United Nations, then the whole enterprise was superfluous. For it is beginning to appear that the United States, under pressure from Great Britain and other countries which have recognized communist China, will accept a formula anyway that enables the communists to take the China seat on the Council.

This would be an appeasement move. It is being developed on the theory that the American people don't want a war with communist China. It means, in brief, that the Soviet bluff will have worked and that communist China will have her way provided she agrees to let Formosa alone so that the island may some day be disposed of on some trusteeship or international basis.

The idea is that this would not interfere with Chiang Kai-Shek's continued occupation of Formosa and at the same time might avoid a conflict between the Nationalists and the communists over possession of the island.

Want Veto Used

The plan is still in a nebulous state and members of Congress who know about it frankly don't like it. There will be decided opposition to such a step. In fact, Senators Tydings and O'Conor of Maryland, both Democrats, have just introduced a resolution asking that the Senate request the President to use the veto in the Security Council to block the admission of communist China.

The Department of State's position hitherto has been announced as one of opposition to the seating of communist China, but it has also been stated officially that the United States would abide by the view of the majority of the Council and would not use a veto.

The argument now being made here for admission of communist China is similar to the view that has governed Great Britain and other governments in extending diplomatic recognition to the Mao regime. It holds that, because the communist armies have overrun China and are in undisputed control of virtually all of that country, the rule of international law is to extend recognition on a "de facto" basis.

But the Department of State then would be in the awkward position of accepting one legalism while utterly disregarding another. The rule of international law also is to insist that any government which seeks diplomatic recognition must show itself capable of affording protection to foreigners and of honoring international obligations. It is difficult to see how America could withhold diplomatic recognition and yet sit alongside communist China in the Security Council.

Communist China drove the American consular representatives out of the country, held them as prisoners for a long time and extorted money from them before letting them go. Communist China also has been entertaining in secret agreements with Soviet Russia and there is evidence that the government of China is not independent but is a tool of Moscow.

It has been contended that recognition does not as a rule involve questioning the kind of government that is in control. That is true up to a point. It means that no questions are asked on a strictly legal basis as to whether a government is socialistic or communistic or autocratic. But there is always a questioning as to the capacity of the government to discharge international obligations and whether or not such a country has hostile intentions toward the institutions of other countries. The United States withheld recognition of Soviet Russia for 16 years because Moscow was carrying on a propaganda inside the United States designed to overthrow the American government. The Soviets had territorial control of all Russia.

Lack of Understanding

The communist government of China in a message to the U. N. has publicly accused the United States of aggression in North Korea. Clearly this doesn't show that the Chinese communist regime has the faintest understanding of what international obligations really mean.

But if the State Department wants to appease Russia by declining to block the admission of China, the American people will want to debate that issue extensively. Unfortunately, it appears that the plan will be to postpone action until after the Congressional elections so that the American people may not have a chance to express their resentment or their approval, as the case may be.

Meanwhile, the administration's argument evidently is going to be that this will avoid involvement in a war with China and might even cause the North Koreans to let American troops proceed in humilia-

Country's Economy Lies In Hands Of President

By MARK SULLIVAN

IN the radio address President Truman made to the country last week, he covered the military and foreign part of the immense problem that confronts the country, merely alluding to the domestic part. This he described as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices" and about this he said, "I intend to talk to you again."

What Mr. Truman says will be more than merely important. That he is going to have vast power over the country's economy is inevitable under the circumstances and is well understood. The scope of his power was indicated by the economic control bill that Congress passed last week, which included discretionary power to impose controls over wages and prices. Presumably Mr. Truman will have signed this bill and it will have become a law before he makes his promised address to the country. Whatever he says about the use he intends to make of the control vested in him will largely tell the story of what the country can expect.

Many persons well qualified for judgment believe it is possible for the country's economy to be so directed and managed as to get through what is ahead without the economic disaster that is the country's danger and the Kremlin's hope. But whatever the plans others may propose, the power of action, of choice and decision, will now be in the President's hands.

Truman Is Key

As Mr. Truman takes hold, inflationary wage and price rises are under way with strong momentum. During the weeks since Korea, wage raises have taken place in some major industries such as the automotive one, and demand for raises have been made in other industries. Raises in large industries lead to demands for them in small industries. It is a sign of the present condition that one of the natural checks to rising wage rates, resistance by employers, has been abandoned by some large and employing corporations, conspicuously in the automobile industry. As respects prices, the group that is basic and dynamic in the price level of goods generally, food prices, are rising and are likely to go higher. For, under the system of government price support of farm crops, the Department of Agriculture is automatically certain to fix higher support figures. This is made certain by existing law. Only President Truman can avert it, by exercise of the discretionary power he has received from Congress.

In the whole field of the objective President Truman named in his radio address last week, "to prevent inflation and runaway prices," he is himself the key. Prevention means going counter to two large groups, labor and agriculture, to both of which he has given deference. In his campaign for the Presidency, he made direct and emphatic appeals to these groups for "gratitude." His solicitation of the farm vote was conspicuously successful; the votes of five Middle Western farm states, which in recent preceding elections had gone strongly Republican, gave him the margin of victory.

No Longer Deferring

Since the impact of Korea upon President Truman he has shown a disposition to defer no longer to groups. At the time of the Korean outbreak there were under way actions by labor unions, which, if carried on, would have interfered with the country's industrial production and thereby impeded the war effort that the Korean outbreak made desperately imperative. This sort of thing Mr. Truman has recently shown a disposition to resent. On Aug. 23 a large union of railroad workers announced a strike to take place the following week. Mr. Truman, at his press conference Aug. 24, in a spirit of rebuke of the strike call, told newsmen that an hour before the call he had been assured by union spokesmen that the strike would not take place.

Consideration of labor unions as a special interest, if their demands include threat of interruption of industrial production, is made unthinkable by the war condition. It is likewise objectionable as a contribution to inflation. For the same reason that government practice of price support of farm crops, of buying immense quantities of food to take them off the market and thereby keep the prices up, is likewise made peculiarly objectionable now.

About all this, about the country's economy as a whole, President Truman is now to have personal responsibility; the economic control bill Congress passed conceded that the President should have power. He has defined the purpose of the economic powers as "to prevent inflation and runaway prices." What he will do with his power awaits his next address to the country, and, beyond that, the actual steps he takes.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Letter To Lee Pressman

My Dear Lee Pressman:

You will recall the Nye Committee and the LaFollette Committee.

You and your colleagues used the Nye Committee to get at the facts of American industry and to lessen this country's ability to defend itself. Most people do not remember the Nye Committee. It was one of the most scandalous performances in the American Congress, and Gerald Nye, a senator from North Dakota, was an innocent dupe. He could not possibly have known how he was being used by counsel and investigators for that committee, among whom was Alger Hiss.

Then there was the LaFollette Committee, which did a hatchet job on American industry. It set out to smear every defender of the American system of free enterprise. It did more than any other agency to destroy confidence, by falsehood, by half-truth, by innuendo, by distortion, in the American productive machine.

Your former friend, John Abt, was the counsel for that committee and Charles Kramer was its investigator. The data that the Nye Committee failed to get, the LaFollette Committee did get. In a word, the power and authority of Congress was employed by you and your colleagues to undermine, to malign, to break down confidence in the American industrial organization.

The National Labor Relations Act was passed by Congress. You know that you were one of its principal authors. You know that Senator Wagner did not write that act. You know who did write it.

Your former friend, Nathan Witt, was appointed counsel to the National Labor Relations Board. He ran that board. He used it to destroy whatever amicable relations existed between employers and employes in American industry.

Do you remember the strike at Republic Steel in Chicago? Is it true that Nathan Witt said to Tom Girdler: "When you take to me, you talk to the government of the United States," in so arrogant a manner that Tom Girdler correctly saw red? You recall that the Detroit strikes in the automobile industry need never have taken place; that Professor Leo Wolman of Columbia University had worked out a procedure for a peaceful correction of all the problems facing that industry. You know that that strike was organized zy the group that came into control of the Nye committee, the LaFollette Committee and the National Labor Relations Board.

You, yourself, became counsel for the CIO. Now, John L. Lewis is no communist and he has kept them out of the United Mine Workers. He did not load the CIO with communists in the administrative and organizational positions. You did.

You and Sidney Hillman used the early years of the CIO as your own private political arm. To what purpose? Sidney Hillman, as you know, was an ambitious, conniving politician with a pleasant, disarming facade.

I am reminding you of these things because when a man announces that he has had a change of heart, he must tell all. Conversion must be accompanied by confession.

I would welcome you into the company of red-baiters, if I trusted you, but I cannot trust you as long as you do not tell the whole truth of the interlocking counsel—Alger Hiss, John Abt, Nathan Witt, and Lee Pressman.

The Korean war has frightened you. Fear is no substitute for conversion. You must do better than that if you want to be believed.

Let me tell you what you ought to do:

1. Tell the entire story of the Harold Ware cell;

2. Tell the whole story of the Nye Committee and how much of the data was given to the communist party and Soviet Russia;

3. Tell the whole story of the LaFollette Committee and how it was used as a propaganda machine to stir up distrust of American industry;

4. Tell the story of how Nathan Witt and Edwin S. Smith came into control of the National Labor Relations Board;

5. Tell the story of the employment of communists in the administrative and organizational positions of the CIO.

You can do a job for your country if you tell what you know and open your files. If you do not do that kind of a job, many of us will always question the bona fides of your conversion.

Yours Sincerely,

GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY.

Board Delays Rebuildng Of Williams Road

Awarding a contract for the rebuilding of one mile of Williams Road was tabled until the next meeting yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to allow for further financial study of the road program.

Morris M. Brodsky, assistant comptroller for the State Roads Commission, informed the board by letter that two Cumberland firms bid on the project.

The Cumberland Contracting Company was low bidder with $166,799.40, while the S. T. Brotemarkle Company bid $172,273.85.

Brodsky declared the state estimated the job would cost $148,993.43, which is $17,785.97 under the low bid.

The SRC official stated the increase in the cost is slightly in excess of what might be termed as a satisfactory bid.

However, he added, the prices are received from representative Western Maryland contractors and these prices reflect a general increase in all labor and materials.

"It is our desire," he advised, "at this time for you to give concurrence to the low bidder."

Brodsky also attached a statement of fund requirements for road construction in the county. It shows the county will need $22,896.84, exclusive of rights-of-way costs on the Lower Town Creek Road and Williams Road, which have not as yet been determined, to complete three road projects.

"We would appreciate your comments as to the methods of financing the estimated amount required to complete the construction work indicated," he added.

The statement is:

Estimated costs of programmed projects—Mill Run Road, $87,787.65; Lower Town Creek Road, $47,003.38, and Williams Road, $191,819.31.

Estimated balance available for projects under the 1946-7-8 program, as per statement of July 31, $194,630.12.

Preliminary costs advanced on three projects listed above, as per July 31—$12,319.44, for a total of $206,939.57.

Estimated funds to complete the 1950-51 program,—$119,670.77.

Additional funds required—$65,818.93.

Less transfer of gasoline tax and motor vehicle revenue funds, 1950 Federal aid program—$42,922.09.

Norma Lee Davis To Become Bride Of Howard O. Hovatter

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Norma Lee Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Davis, 607 Oldtown Road, will become the bride of Howard Oswin Hovatter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ward Hovatter, 720 Hill Top Drive, today. The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at a nuptial mass at 9 o'clock, in St. Mary's Catholic Church, which is being decorated with standards of lilies, white delphenium and white gladioli, with bouquets of the same flowers on the altar and marking the family pews. Rev. Lawrence J. Landrigan will officiate.

The bridal party includes Miss Jeannine Davis as her sister's maid of honor; Mrs. Kathryn Davis, sister-in-law of the bride and Miss Anita Turner, bridesmaids. Ralph Hovatter is serving as his brother's best man and Larry David and James Clark will be the ushers. A program of nuptial music will be played by Miss Regina Britt, before and during the ceremony. She also is to play the processional from the opera Lohnegrin and Mendelssohn's recessional. The St. Mary's Girls Choir will sing during the mass.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a heavy satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves, a scalloped V neckline and pleated nylon yoke. The same scalloped motif edges the accordion pleated nylon insert of the skirt which sweeps into a court train. Her fingertip length nylon net veil cascades from a moulded headdress edged with pearls and pleated nylon. A cascade bouquet of bouvardia and philadendrian with a white orchid center completes her costume.

Mrs. Davis has chosen a pale gray pink suit with Navy accessories and a corsage of gladioli blossoms for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Hovatter is wearing a Navy costume and will have a corsage of white gladioli blossoms centered with red roses.

The bride-elect was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1945 and is employed as an operator for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. Her fiance is a graduate of LaSalle High School, class of 1949, having completed his education after serving two years in the Army Air Corps. He was employed by the government in Washington, and now is with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

A wedding breakfast will be served the bridal party and immediate families at the home of Mrs. Paul Middleton, 627 Bedford Street, sister of the bride. The bridal motif is to be caried out in the decorations with wedding bells and repeated in the wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink and white roses are being used also. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are entertaining in honor of their daughter and her bridal party with a reception at their home, beginning at 1 o'clock. Assorted flowers are being used throughout the house, and a miniature bride and bridegroom adorn the tiered wedding cake.

ommunists To egister By eptember 15

The Communist party members Cumberland must register at Po- Headquarters by September 15 face a fine or jail term under the communist registration ordi- nce passed last week by the city. ommissioner of Police and Fire n J. Long released the registra- n form yesterday. He stated that mmunists should report to Police adquarters to complete it.

The registration blank includes: ll name; residence address, busi- ss or occupation, place and date birth, personal description, ether the registrant is a natural- d citizen, his nationality and place d date of birth and includes his ce of residence during the past e years.

A notation of the registration form s: "I understand that I am re- ired to keep the Department of lice advised as to all changes in dress and occupation as long as hall remain a resident of the City Cumberland."

The registration must be sworn and notarized.

The city's ordinance as approved the council provides that any mber of the communist party ist register at Police Headquar- s within ten days of the enact- nt of the ordinance. That ordin- ce was passed September 5.

The ordinance also prohibits dis- mination of or sale of literature the communist party on all eets and makes it law for all y employes to sign the loyalty th as provided in the Ober Law.

Penalties of not less than $10 and ore than $100 fine are provided d in default of fine, not less than ten days nor more than 30 days in the City Jail for failure to regis- ter. Each day the violation continues will be considered as a separate of- fense.

Lane Group Asks Board's Views

An invitation was extended yes- teday to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners to confer on September 21 in the City Hall au- ditorium from 4 to 4:15 p. m. with Governor Lane's special commission on state unemployment and relief by Delegate Noel Speir Cook, a member of the 15-man commission.

Cook said others to be heard in- clude representatives from industry, labor, committees named for in- dustrial expansion, civic groups and municipal officials. Each group will be given 15 minutes.

The commission, he said, is study- ing unemployment and relief as re- lated problems in the state. It is examining particularly, though not exclusively, a works project pro- gram, as a condition of getting re- lief, at prevailing wage scales.

He pointed out that in the 1950 session of legislature, a bill was in- troduced to have employable appli- cants for financial assistance work for the aid. This measure proposal was referred to the Banking and Insurance Committee of the Gen- eral Assembly.

This committee, he added, killed it and instead presented a resolu- tion asking that the commission be appointed to investigate the best program for relief, especially in the Cumberland area.

This commission, when it com- pletes its work, will report at the 1951 session of legislature, he stated.

On September 20, the commis- sion will visit Garrett County to get similar information from officials there.

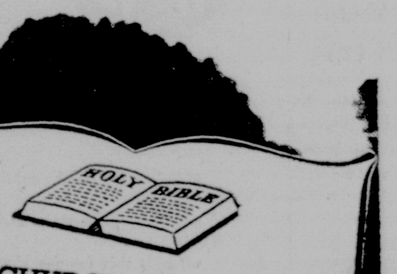
The House that CONVICTION BUILT

When many people have the same conviction about a thing, they usually get together. They become members of a party, or a society, or a congregation.

Every Sunday in the churches of our community many people get together. They have the same conviction about God — they worship together.

When they worship, they offer thanks, they ask help. They sing to express their happiness. They listen to enrich their minds with the truth that comes from God. And before they bow their heads to receive final benediction, they give such gifts as they can to their Lord's work.

All of us have need for worship—it is a part of human nature and the divine will of God. So for your greatest benefit and happiness, choose a Church in this community—attend its services and join in its work. Make it YOUR CHURCH.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Scoring four times in the first quarter and adding single touchdowns in the next three, Romney, W. Va. High School's Pioneers opened the 1950 football season in Fort Hill stadium here last night by trouncing LaSalle High School's Explorers 47-13 before approximately 2,000 opening night fans.

Bob Petry, diminutive, hard running right halfback, was practically the entire show for the visitors, exploding for three touchdowns himself, two coming on runs of 64 and 56 yards. A fourth touchdown run of 69 yards by Petry was called back by the officials for a rules infraction by Romney.

Gain 382 Yards

The defending Class B champions from West Virginia showed explosive power in running up 291 yards rushing and 91 via the air lanes, capitalizing on every LaSalle mistake to add to their scoring total.

Three Explorer fumbles were converted into a like number of Pioneer tallies while a blocked LaSalle kick resulted in a fourth Romney score.

Romney scored the first four times it came into possession of the ball in the initial quarters, three times counting on the very first play from scrimmage after getting possession of the pigskin.

LaSalle was unable to show a conserted drive against the Pioneers although the Explorer attack, operating from the single wing, showed power in spots.

In the fourth period, after Romney had built up a 47-0 lead, LaSalle got moving against Blue and White substitutes and tallied twice in the final six minutes of play.

Arnone Goes Over

A 51-yard drive, sparked by the 46 yard romp of Bobby Arnone brought the Phil Carolyn-coached Explorers their first score midway in the final stanza with Arnone plunging over from the one.

On the last play from scrimmage in the game Jimmy Byrnes, substitute halfback for LaSalle, tossed a 16-yard aerial to Paul Ackerman in the end zone for LaSalle's second tally. Lou Fabbri plunged the point after the second score.

In addition to Petry's excellent running, Romney scored on George Baird's 35-yard pass to Bill Long, two short plunges by Jack Heavener and another Baird to Long aerial good for 17 yards.

Petry Gains 164 Yards

Petry picked up 164 yards rushing in 10 tries for Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers, an average of 16.4 yards per try besides having his 69 yard romp called back on an illegal lateral play.

In addition to Petry, Baird, Long, Orville Payne, Ken Parker and Art Deskins were Romney's outstanding players.

The game last night was played under the new stadium lighting system and although only half the lights were in operation lighting was very good. The lineups:

Rule Is Explained

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—President Will Harridge of the American League explained today that league rules prohibit turning on lights to finish day games unless it is the visiting clubs final appearance of the year. Harridge referred to the Detroit - Cleveland game yesterday which was ended by darkness in a 13-13 deadlock. Cleveland makes its final appearance in Detroit Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

Saddler Is Feather Champ, Pep Dislocates Shoulder

By GAYLE TALBOT

Apparently on his way to a one-sided victory over the skinny-legged negro, the great little battler from Hartford, Conn., took a huge crowd of 35,000 completely by surprise when he failed to come up for the eighth round and Referee Ruby Goldstein raised Saddler's arm in token of victory.

Saddler thus regained the title he lost to Pep 19 months ago at Madison Square Garden after having previously dethroned Pep in October of 1948.

There was no hint that Pep was in difficulty when he returned to his corner after a rough seventh round. But he had no more than reached his stool when his manager, Lou Viscusi, beckoned Dr. Vincent Nardiello, official physician for the State Athletic Commission, into the ring. The doctor still was leaning over examining the stricken fighter when the bell rang for the eighth round. It will go into the record as an eight round knockout.

Up to the time of the unhappy ending, Pep had piled up a commanding margin on points. On this writer's scoreboard he had won 5 of the 7 rounds and dealt steady, stabbing punishment to the challenger.

Saddler's best round had been the third, when he dumped Pep to the floor with a hard left hook on the button. Pep stayed down for a nine count and came up to give better than he received for the remainder of the round. Saddler also earned the seventh round, but by a hair.

All the others had gone to Pep by handy margins, and it appeared to be only a question of whether his 28-year-old legs could carry him the remainder of the route at the stiff pace he was setting. He had left-jabbed Sandy into a partial state of bewilderment and had crossed a score of lusty lefts and rights to the negro's jaw.

Pep's handlers barred his dressing room to the press for some time after the fight ended, explaining that the veteran was in such intense pain he was in no condition to answer questions.

C., Johnstown; Jake Koelker, Cumberland lightweight, will collide with Frank Spinnati, Johnstown, and Jack Evans, Cumberland, will trade punches with Junior Flanagan, Johnstown.

In the double windup, a pair of five-rounders, Joe Martino, Johnstown, will face Billy Mann, local middleweight, and Phil Christmas, negro bantam of Johnstown, will tangle with Bobby Goss of this city.

Matchmaker Green expects to add two more three-rounders to the program.

12 Charged With Shooting Doves Over Baited Area In Maryland

State Game Official Among Those Nabbed

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 8 (AP)—A Gordon Fleet, chairman of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, and Lester N. Towner, a member of the Maryland Natural Resources Board, were free on personal bond today after a hearing on charges of shooting mourning doves over a baited area.

There were among 12 men given a hearing on the charges before U. S. Commissioner Samuel W. H. Meloy.

All were released on their own recognizance for appearance in Federal court, Baltimore. No date was set.

The men were arrested Sept. 1, first day of Maryland's dove shooting season, by two federal officers and three Maryland game wardens on a farm near Davidsonville, Anne Arundel County.

The arresting officers said they were on routine patrol when they saw about 100 doves over the area where the men were arrested. The area, they said, had been baited with wheat.

All 12 denied knowing the area had been baited.

Phillies Halt Dodgers, Meyer Is 4-3 Winner

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies halted their five-game losing streak tonight and boosted their National League lead back to 5½ games as Russ Meyer defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3.

Meyer, whose improvement could help make up for the departure of Curt Simmons to the army, allowed the Dodgers only six hits as he recorded his eighth win against 11 defeats.

The Phils gave him an early lead, jumping on Erv Palica for two first-inning runs on singles by Eddie Waitkus, Puddin'head Jones, Jack Mayo and Gran Hamner.

Meyer never lost the advantage, although Duke Snider made it close by clouting his 25th homerun after Peewee Reese had walked.

PHILADELPHIA	210 001 00x—4	9	1

Tigers Grab 2-0 Lead In Series

Three Homers Sink Little Red Sox, 8-3

Living up to their reputation of sluggers, the Tigers scored seven of their eight runs on circuit drives last night to make it two straight over the Red Sox in the championship series of the Little Baseball League at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 8-3.

Jerry Landis and Bobby Lewis each hit four-baggers with one aboard and "Mac" McGann hammered a round-tripper with two on to feature the Tigers' nine-hit assault.

While Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's sluggers were teeing off, Bobby Lewis was turning back the Red Sox with four singles while fanning an even dozen. He issued three bases on balls. Billmeyer went the route for the Sox and fanned five and walked one.

The Tigers can wrap up the championship on Monday when they tackle the Red Sox at Penn Avenue Field at 7:45 o'clock in the third game of the best-of-five series. The Tigers took the opener on Monday, 25-7. Last night's score:

RED SOX	001 020—3	4	1
TIGERS	232 01x—8	9	0

Billmeyer and G. Smith. Lewis and Landis.

Parsons Loses At Clarksburg

Panthers Drop 13-6 Thriller To Victory

Parsons High School's Panthers lost a hard-fought 13 to 6 decision to Victory High School in the opening game of the grid season on Thursday night.

Victory took a 13-0 lead in the first half and Parsons staged a sensational aerial attack in the final stanza to drive 72 yards for its touchdown.

Clarksburg drove 80 yards for its initial score in the first stanza. A Parsons' fumble recovered by Streets on the 20 started the home team rolling. The score came when Moore passed to Perri who lateraled to Anderson and the latter raced 17 yards to the end zone. Moore's placement hit the crossbar.

In the second period, Victory blocked Good's kick, Perri picked up the loose ball on the 13 and galloped to a touchdown. Moore scored the point on placement.

Parsons td drive in the final heat started on the Panthers' 27 and covered 72 yards in 13 plays and four first downs. The longest gain during the drive was a pass, Wolfe to Fullback Good, that was good for 37 yards and a first down in the Victory 22. Five plays later Loughbry bulled over for the score. Lineups:

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Paddy Young, 21, New York contender for the middleweight boxing crown, was accepted for military service today after taking his pre-induction physical examination.

Braves Defeat Jim Hearn, 4-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Tommy Holmes' home run, his seventh of the year, was the decisive blow today as the Boston Braves defeated the New York Giants again. This time the score was 4 to 3. It was the thirteenth triumph for the Braves over the Giants in 18 games.

Holmes' blow, off Big Jim Hearn, came in the seventh and found Walker Cooper and Sid Gordon on base. Both had walked. The defeat was the second for Hearn since joining the Giants in July. He has won eight since then. Both of Hearn's defeats have been by the Braves.

The Giants were completely baffled by Warren Spahn until the eighth when they got all their runs. Two walks and three singles ruined the southpaw's shut out. It was his 18th win. Box:

KEYSER, Sept. 8 (AP)—Rallying for two touchdowns in the final half, Keyser High School came from behind to defeat the Alumpi in the 1950 football lid-lifter here today by the score of 14-8.

Keyser spotted the grads eight points on a touchdown and safety in the second period was unable to muster a scoring punch until the third stanza.

The Alumni scored a safety in the third stanza when Ralph Shoemaker was tackled in the end zone after the schoolboy eleven had gained possession of the ball deep in Alumni territory when Bob "Cowboy" Ryan intercepted Bob Broome's pass intended for William "Pickie" Jones.

Later in the same period the grads scored a touchdown when Grubbs snared Broome's pass in the end zone. A pass for the extra point failed.

With Paul Emery sparking the attack, Keyser came back with a vengeance in the third stanza to register its first td. The drive started after KHS held the Alumni for downs on Keyser's 39. Emery got loose for five nice runs during the march, one being good 15 and another for 10, which produced the six-pointer. Joe Swisher passed to Kenneth Lee for the point.

Swisher played an outstanding role in Keyser's final touchdown drive. He passed to Lee and Alkire for gains of 9 and 10 yards, and then picked up 11 yards on running plays. The winning score came midway in the 4th stanza when Shoemaker scooted over from the three. Woodworth ran the extra point.

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8—(INS)—Before Deanna Durbin marries Charles David in Paris this winter, see if she doesn't take a fling on the London stage in Aleen Leslie's new play—Untitled.

Deanna Durbin

When Bert Allenberg went to Paris, he brought the play for Deanna to read and she likes the sophisticated comedy which gives her a chance to sing.

Bert reports Deanna as slimmed down, chic in her Paris clothes, and very much in love. There's little chance of her returning to Hollywood, at least as long as her husband continues an an executive producer for Paris Pathe.

Constance (so beautiful) Moore gets more than the usual opening night thrill when she debuts at the Cocoanut Grove Tuesday night.

For the first time in the history of the armed forces radio service, they are going to beam a night club opening show to our fighting men over the world.

In other words, service men in Germany, Korea, or wherever they may be, will be ringsiders at a typical Hollywood first night and will hear from all the celebrities who will be there to welcome Constance.

Hollywood in shorts: Robert Cummings nearly fainted when he went to the Egyptian to see himself in "Petty Girl" and a sidewalk fan yelled, "hey, kids—the petty boy!" . . . Betty Hutton's nails are the reddest in Chicago. She's introducing Helen Neushaefer's new nail polish, "Treasure Island red" and is it red! . . . Dan Dailey was a one-man riot at the Turf Writers Dinner at Del Mar and Lillian Roth got a new job out of it. Sanford Adler thought her so terrif he signed her right after her number for a week at his Cal-Neva Lodge . . . Betty Hutton and Esther Williams co-hostess a chuck wagon shindig for their visually handicapped children charity fund at the Beverly Hills Hotel September 24. Invited guests (only!) get in on the fun for a mere deductible $12.50 per plate. Come Hollywood—give big! . . . Lou Costello, of all things, gained weight on his gruelling European tour with Bud Abbott and looks better than he has in years.

First it was Lucille Ball, then Shirley Temple, who backed Keenan Wynn into a corner and gave him a blast royal for not visiting his "poor brother, sick and lonely in Birmingham Hospital."

Before "poor" Keenan can get out a "whatt?" Shirley and Lucille have told the same story about picking up a veteran bearing a striking resemblance to Keenan, and giving him a lift from the Valley.

The boy always tells the same story. His brother (Keenan) and his father (Ed) will have nothing to do with him, not even visit him. So widely has this story circulated that Keenan (only son of Ed, with no brothers or sisters) investigated.

There is little that can be done. The boy is perfectly normal except for this one delusion.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gladys O'Brien isn't letting Don Sylvio's presence in New York cancel her trip there with Margaret in 10 days. All's calm since the divorce.

Lew Ayres and Yvonne De Carlo dining so quietly at Saddle and Sirloin they barely spoke.

Eye cosmetics should enhance, not rob the beauty of your eyes! Here are model rules for using them.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ANY woman who makes up her eyes to look like two gaping holes in her head has robbed her own beauty bank. And no matter what Paris says!

A woman's eyes are the most striking and expressive feature of her face. How could any woman be so mistaken as to want to black out so much of her natural charm and individuality?

Male Reaction

Of course, among the sensitive-to-beauty women, this defacing and screaming fad that sprang up a year ago never had a chance. And the unfavorable reaction of the male population should definitely have ended the artificiality long ago.

But even at this late date, one can see girls who still think that heavy black lines and blobs of shadow around the eyes are a secret of the come-hither look.

Now, eye-shadow, mascara and pencil were all designed to enhance the eyes—not to compete with them for attention. And if, from this period of their misuse and abuse, more and more women learn how to apply eye cosmetics so that their eyes look more beautiful, some good will have come from this regrettable fashion.

With a little experimenting and the Powers Girls' rules that follow, you can easily become an eye-cosmetic artist:

1. Remember "I" stands for the individuality and invisibility of your eye make-up.

2. Do not pluck your brows to a thin line. Keep the arch natural in width and length. If you were not endowed with enough brow in either direction, pencil in what is missing with short, light strokes. Use a pencil that is a bit lighter in color than your brows. (For very blonde brows, light brown.)

Keep It A Shadow

3. Eyeshadow should be only a shadow of color, contrasting interestingly with the color of your skin and eyes. Apply it close to your lashes from the center of your eye outward with not line of demarcation at your temple.

4. Flick mascara to the ends of your lashes with a damp brush. If your brows are very blonde, brush them with mascara in an upward and outward direction.

5. Take a good look at yourself in a strong light when you finish. Well, what's the result? It is just another paint job—or is it art?

tion to the 38th Parallel. It's a strange plan. It is being called the "Far Eastern Munich" and, like its 1938 predecessor, may lead anyway to war. For acquiescence by the United States in the extension of communism anywhere in the Far East means the eventual sacrifice of Japan to the communists, too.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

IS IT BAREST MINIMUM?

WHEN your hand is the barest minimum which you would consider seriously as one worth opening the bidding, you have a tough problem. If it is right on the line between an original bid and a pass, with a fair share of its cards in the major suits, one on which neither your bid nor your pass could be censured, you should consider every other possible factor. Have you weak or strong opponents? Have you a good partner? How do you two as a pair rank with the others? What is the psychology of the moment, from the preceding deals? Also—and don't forget this—has one of the opponents passed?

	♠ A 4 2 ♥ K 8 6 2 ♦ Q J 3 ♣ 10 7 6
♠ K 7 5 ♥ A 3 ♦ 8 6 5 4 ♣ 8 5 3 2	N W E S	♠ J 3 ♥ Q J 10 9 4 ♦ K 7 2 ♣ K Q 9
	♠ Q 10 9 8 6 ♥ 7 5 ♦ A 10 9 ♣ A J 4

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

South on this rubber bridge deal realized that his doubtful hand was promoted slightly in relative value when one opponent had passed. That player's holding, therefore, could not be strong, but ranged from just below a minimum to very much below it. All of which slightly increased the chance that his own partner had more than average. Because of this one factor, he decided to open the deal, particularly since he had stoppers in three suits and a rebiddable major.

As it turned out, he had to get good luck at several points to make the contract he finally reached, a spade game. But he got the needed breaks, so lost only one trick in spades, one in hearts and one in clubs. In fact, he sought every break, going for every finesse in sight, and they all worked. But even if things had broken the worst they could and he had lost every finesse, he still would have scored seven tricks, so that his loss would have been only 150 points for down three, a modest price to pay for a whack at game. Game was not particularly in South's mind when he opened, but merely a chance to get the jump in the rubber with any kind of score, even a partial.

Your Weekend Question

When you know your side has a well-fitting major suit, what avoidable risk is incurred by bidding another suit?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, vs. Joseph H. Trimble, unmarried, Victor K. Trimble and Virginia Trimble, his wife, Ernest C. Trimble and Mary Trimble, his wife, Jesse Trimble and Suzanna Trimble, his wife, Maryland Trimble, unmarried, Mary E. Trimble, widow, Franklin B. Gillespie and Marion Gillespie, his wife, Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, Lucille T. Lammert and Victor Lammert, her husband, Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, Maud Ryan and Charles Ryan, her husband, Nellie M. Daly and Norman Daly, her husband, Edith Henry and Fred Henry, her husband, Josephine Harden, unmarried, Thomas Harden and Mabel Harden, his wife, Charles Harden and Gladys Harden, his wife, William Harden, unmarried, John Harden and Alice Harden, his wife, Elwood Harden and Mikle Harden, his wife, Bertha Spataro and Frank Spataro, her husband, Robert C. Harden and Anna Harden, his wife, Roman Harden, unmarried, Earl Harden and Beatrice Harden, his wife, and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by DeWarren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the parties hereto are the owners as tenants in common according to their respective interests in the mineral rights hereinbefore described; that the said mineral rights are not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as above stated; and that in order to make division of said interests it will be necessary that said mineral rights be sold and the proceeds thereof divided amongst the parties according to their several interests.

The Bill then prays for a decree for a sale of the said coal and mineral rights and a distribution of the proceeds amongst the parties according to their respective rights and interests. There is also a prayer for general relief. The Bill further states that all of the following respondents are non-residents of the State of Maryland: Ernest C. Trimble is intermarried with Mary Trimble, and both are residents of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania; Maryland Trimble, unmarried, is a resident of Washington, D. C.; Franklin B. Gillespie is intermarried with Marion Gillespie and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Sara B. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Harry C. Gillespie, unmarried, is a resident of Canonsburg, Washington County, Pennsylvania; Nellie M. Daly is intermarried with Norman Daly and both are residents of Washington, D. C.; Bertha Spataro is intermarried with Frank Spataro and both are residents of Kempton, Preston County, West Virginia; and Henry Martin and ——— Martin, his wife, are both residents of Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon this 18th day of August 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that notice be given the aforegoing non-resident respondents of the object and substance of this suit by causing a copy of this order to be published once a week for at least four successive weeks on or before the 20th day of September, 1950, in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, warning them and each of them to be and appear in this Court on or before the 7th day of October, 1950, and answer the premises and abide by and perform such decree as may be passed therein.

City Playground Group Unable To Hold Meetings

Can't Get Quorum; Contest Up In Air

A meeting of the City Playground Association has been called for next Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium by John H. Kington, president, "in a final effort to keep the organization from falling apart."

Kington said last night that the last six meetings have been so poorly attended it was impossible to conduct any business because a quorum was not present.

The summer months represent the busiest time for all playground groups, Kington said he realizes, and many of the people who represent their playgrounds or organizations on the association are the most active in their particular groups. However, he commented, the association task of coordination and keeping city-wide interest alive is as important in the summer months as in the winter, if not more so.

Last spring, the Playground Association, at the request of the City Recreation Department, inaugurated a play lot or home playground campaign. Kington said the contest was open to all residents interested in building play lots to help keep children off the streets, to provide wholesome activity for them and to more especially provide places for smaller children.

The contest closed August 25, Kington explained, with only three residents registered as building playlots and interested in the program.

Kington said he feels that the lack of interest in the playground association as evidenced by failure to attend meetings, the lack of greater assistance from the City Recreation Department, and the general lack of civic pride and interest in community betterment is reflected in the fact that only three residents showed enough interest to build play lots and notify the City Recreation Department.

The task of judging the lots registered has not been completed because he has not had a quorum at his meetings, Kington said, and he claims he is at a loss to know what to do about the situation until he can get enough people at a meeting to decide.

Republicans Lead In Registration

OAKLAND — Reports from nine of the 25 precincts of Garrett County indicate a heavy registration throughout the county last Tuesday with Republicans maintaining a two to one majority.

Rosh Hashanah Services Are Planned Here

Jewish New Year Observance Set

Impressive services will be held here next week to celebrate Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year.

The "10 solemn days" of the Jewish New Year will begin Monday evening, September 11, and end Thursday evening, September 21.

At Beth Jacob Congregation, 418 North Centre, the first two days, next Tuesday and Wednesday, will be observed as New Year, ushering in the year 5711.

The services will be held Monday, September 11, at 7:15 p. m. and will be continued Tuesday at 7:30 a. m., Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. and end Wednesday at 7:30 a. m.

Members of all faiths are invited to attend the services.

Dr. Jossef Kratzenstein, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation, said the New Year opens a sacred period known as the 10 days of penitence, so called from the special duty to which we are consecrated.

Tradition, he added, has clothed the two New Year days with special sanctity. It is the time of atonement, since, with the New Year, a new time and a new life begins.

The main topic of the New Year's prayers, Dr. Kratzenstein said, is "peace on earth by love to God and service to humanity.

"We pray that the coming year may be a year in which God's spirit will fill the hearts of men and this country prosper in all its worthy endeavors.

"We face the uncertainty of a hidden future and need broad vision, deeper courage and stronger faith for the days that lie ahead of us."

Lonaconing Mill Strike Continues

Members of the Lonaconing Sub-local of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), last night rejected a proposal of the General Textile Mill and voted to continue the strike which opened there August 30.

Earl L. Snyder, union president, said the offer rejected by the 120 workers raised the guarantee but retained the incentive plan.

He said the workers have not changed in their opposition to the incentive plan. The employes, he explained, insist that variations in yarn can adversely affect earnings.

The union said negotiations will be continued with the company in an attempt to reach a satisfactory agreement.

In a new contract signed May 7, an incentive plan was placed into effect on a 60-day trial basis.

Spring Grove Patients Moved From Old Barn

Mahoney Makes Issue Of Institution

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP) — A rickety old barn at Spring Grove State Hospital, partly burned away, became an issue today in the primary election contest between Governor Lane and George P. Mahoney.

As the result, five patients at the mental institution on the west outskirts of Baltimore, were moved out of the barn into a regular ward.

Dr. Isador Tuerke, acting superintendent at Spring Grove, indicated the five are probably going to be unhappy about it. He explained that their special quarters are much envied by other patients.

Dr. Tuerke ordered them returned to wards because there "is some possibility of a fire."

Mahoney, who seeks to wrest the Democratic gubernatorial nomination from Lane, charged yesterday that letting the patients sleep in the charred old barn endangered their health and safety.

The dairy barn was equipped with sleeping quarters for nine when it was built in 1914. The quarters have lights and plumbing. The walls and ceilings are plastered.

Five patients have lived there for 11 years now.

Their condition, Dr. Tuerke said, is such that they need not be confined. They have earned special privileges. One of the privileges is the freedom of movement they have living in the barn.

About 18 months ago one end of the barn burned. The fire did not get to the living quarters in the opposite end but they were damaged by water. The five patients had to be moved into regular wards while repairs were made.

Dr. Tuerke said they resented having to leave the barn then.

"Physical illness is rare among them," he reported.

Governor Lane did not comment immediately about the situation.

Mahoney, when told that Dr. Tuerke had ordered the patients moved, said he wanted to congradulate the superintendent for "having the courage to give the facts."

"Governor Lane will probably hit the ceiling when he finds out one of his superintendents has told the truth," Mahoney added.

Revival Planned

A homecoming revival service will be held at Oakdale Methodist Church every night next week beginning Monday at 8 o'clock. Rev. Gordon Hall, pastor of the Union Grove charge, will be the evangelist for these meetings, according to Rev. J. B. Heavener, pastor.

Lane Proposes Bay Bridge As War Memorial

Five Candidates Address Women

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Governor Lane said today he proposes to name the state's big bridge across Chesapeake Bay in honor of Maryland war heroes and veterans.

"That has long been my purpose," he told a luncheon of the League of Women Voters.

His statement came after another candidate for governor in the Sept. 18 primaries charged him with being unfair to Gold Star Mothers because he had failed to appoint a War Memorial Commission.

Five candidates for governor appeared at the luncheon to make short speeches.

George P. Mahoney, the governor's principal opponent for the Democratic nomination, charged the Lane administration is a ring of political bosses.

He cited E. Brooke Lee in Montgomery county, William C. Walsh in Western Maryland and James H. (Jack) Pollack in Baltimore as among those who "dictate to the present administration."

"If I am elected governor," declared Mahoney, "I will be a free governor. I won't have people of that sort dictating to me."

Governor Lane said his administration has been responsible for great strides in the fields of public education, highway construction and the care of the mentally and physically ill.

"If we are to preserve our way of life," he said, "we must continue to provide decent things and not lose our willingness to help those in trouble."

Herbert Larrabee, retired naval officer from Glen Burnie, declared he has spent 26 years trying to preserve the principles of Democracy. He charged the state has been derelict in the treatment of its veterans. He urged that voters "throw the political machine and the bosses overboard" and institute "a government for the people and by the people."

Stephen Peddicord, Baltimore's perennial candidate for some office or other, voiced the charge that Lane has been unfair to the mothers of Maryland's war dead. He referred to the governor's long delay in appointing a War Memorial Commission authorized by the General Assembly.

Larrabee and Peddicord also are candidates for the Democratic nomination. A fifth, Harry Kemper, Baltimore grocer, wasn't there.

Peddicord said he thought the bay bridge, now under construction and due for completion late next year,

Zoning Permit To Be Argued Next Thursday

Court Visits Shop Near Oldtown Road

A court case involving a city occupancy permit for a sheet metal shop in the Michigan Avenue section began in Circuit Court yesterday and attorneys will argue the issues before Associate Judge George Henderson next Thursday.

The case was filed by Maurice E. Taylor, 1100 Kentucky Avenue, and others against the Board of Zoning Appeals which granted the permit. John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, who obtained the permit and operates the metal shop, is entered in the case as an intervenor. His attorney is William C. Walsh assisted by Leslie J. Clark, while Thomas Lohr Richards represents the residents of the area.

After testimony was taken yesterday, Judge Henderson called a recess and together with counsel visited the shop in question.

The background shows that in October, 1949, Twigg applied at the city engineer's office to build the structure on Michigan Avenue for use as a garage and for storage purposes and the permit was granted.

This building, it is pointed out, is located just across an alley from a structure facing Oldtown Road where Twigg operated a shop since 1944, prior to the passing of the city zoning ordinance.

However, the ordinance sets the dividing line between the business district on Oldtown Road and Michigan Avenue as the alley previously mentioned.

The residents of the area, who complained of the noise from the new shop, then protested on April 27 to the Board of Zoning Appeals to have the permit disallowed.

The board, after further study, allowed the permit on May 16 and the court case was filed later.

No Date Is Set For Kitzmiller School Meeting

Attendance Drops To 31 Yesterday

Plans have not yet been completed for a conference requested by a Kitzmiller committee on problems which led to a strike of students at the Kitzmiller School Wednesday, an official of the Garrett County Board of Education disclosed last night.

Absenteeism at the school, with an anticipated enrollment of 300, had dropped from 34 to 31 yesterday.

Parents of students of the Kitzmiller, Shallmar and Vindex areas are refusing to permit their children to attend school in protest of a proposed consolidated school problem that would require transportation of high school students to Oakland.

Shortly after the walkout Wednesday, a committee from the Kitzmiller area sent a telegram to R. Bowen Hardesty, superintendent of schools, saying children of the community would remain at home until he met with the committee.

In reply, Hardesty wired that the president of the board, Walter W. Dawson, and he would be glad to meet with the committee in the Board's office and at the committee's convenience. The wire suggested that arrangements be made by phone.

Such arrangements had not been made last night.

The consolidation program for Garrett County is set up in Chapter 575, Acts of the eGneral Assembly 1947. It is provided that all buildings are to be erected by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners and an advisory committee.

These two groups decided on two high schools—one to be located in the Mt. Lake Park-Oakland area for 1050 students and the other at The Cove.

Superintendent of Schools Hardesty, in a statement yesterday said:

"The groups also decided that the elementary centers at Accident, Kitzmiller, Grantsville and Friendsville be remodeled, modernized and improved. An architect is now at work on these plans."

Area Sailor Held In Assault

LEONARDTOWN, Sept. 8 (AP) — Addison Combs, 26-year-old sailor of near Cumberland, was ordered held for grand jury action today on charges he assaulted a 22-year-old waitress.

Combs, married and the father of two children, is stationed at the Navy's Patuxent River Air Station. He was arrested Tuesday at the Navy Base Veterans Club.

She said Combs came into the club about noon Tuesday when she was the only one there, followed her into a rest room, and attempted to rape her.

Combs took the stand and denied it. There was much conflicting testimony. Combs said he drank beer in the club and had a long conversation with the waitress.

William Parthe, another sailor, said he came into the club and heard a scuffle in the rest room. Miss Hill emerged in a few moments, in hysterics, he said.

Combs was ordered to the St. Mary's county jail.

X-Ray Survey Results Received

Results from the recent mass X-ray program in Allegany County are being received here, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

A number of the 8,837 who were checked in the survey are being asked to contact their physicians, or the health department if they cannot afford private treatment, in connection with the X-ray pictures taken at the survey.

Last year, some 300 persons of the over 6,000 who participated in the survey, were asked to have follow-up X-rays taken. Less than seven were found to be suffering from tuberculosis.

Some of the reasons for a check up of the results of the survey are evidence of any lung disorder, enlarged heart, shadows on the film, suspicion of TB or bad negative.

Musical Chairs As Played By Horses

West Virginia Schools May Benefit From Federal Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The House is expected to consider next week a compromise bill to provide federal aid for school construction in districts where enrollments have been increased by federal activities.

The Senate yesterday approved the compromise worked out in Senate and House conferences on the different versions passed by the two houses.

The House has met only in brief sessions this week and has considered no legislation.

Rep. Bailey (D-WVa), who offered the House bill as chairman of a subcommittee on education, was one of the conferees.

He has estimated the bill would provide for about $149,000,000 in federal aid for school construction during a three-year period.

The compromise bill passed by the Senate provides that a school to be eligible must have a certain percentage of enrollment falling in one of these categories:

1—Children living on non-taxable federal property for which school districts receive no local taxes.

2—Children whose parents are employed on a non-taxable federal project located in the same state for which the school district receives only part of normal tax income.

3—A very large and sudden increase in school population in a district not associated directly with loss of tax revenue but which is too great for the community to absorb with its own resources.

Bailey has said a number of West Virginia counties have school districts which could get some federal aid.
